JOHN BRUSH, SON, AND CO.
Established 1840
IMPORTERS and MANUFACTURERS of every description of
SADDLERY and HARNESS, &c.,
Our Show Rooms are replete with every description of Saddlery and Harness, Portmanteaus, Trunks, Bags, and an immense variety of other travelling requisites. Besides being large importers of ENGLISH, AMERICAN, and CONTINENTAL GOODS, we employ a large number of SKILLED WORKMEN on the premises in the manufacture of goods pertaining to our business. It is freely conceded by all that the SADDLERY and HARNESS, &c., turned out by our workmen will bear favourable comparison with the BEST WORK TURNED OUT IN ANY PART OF THE WORLD—LONDON NOT EXCEPTED—which a reputation of half a century and our numerous testimonials will fully support.
WE MAY HERE state that our LONDON HARNESS is the best procurable, and all made to our own specifications—price not being so much a consideration as a FIRST-CLASS ARTICLE; while, at the same time, all unnecessary expenditure is avoided, and it is no exaggeration to say that we can supply our English harness at as low, if not less price than it can be bought for in any retail house in London, besides the advantage to the purchaser of having their horses properly fitted, and a harness supplied adapted to the style of vehicle for which it is required.
Our stock of ladies' and gentlemen's saddles is very large and extremely varied in style, including HUNTING and PARK SADDLES of the most approved shapes; also BOYS' and GIRLS' PILCHES, CHILDREN'S RIDING CHAIRS, PANNIERS &c.
STABLE REQUISITES, such as compositions, oils, brushes, chamois, sponges, axle grease, vaseline, hopplemuroma, we are supplying at LONDON PRICES, and in some cases less.

TWO PURE WHITE BULLS to be seen in the procession of the Feast of the Lupercal for the last time (and valued at £20 by William Inglis and Sons), WILL BE GIVEN AWAY,
upon the following conditions, viz.:—
Every person paying for admission to the theatre that night will receive a numbered ticket, and at the end of the performance the duplicates of each of these tickets will be placed in a barrel on the front of the stage. A person selected by the audience will then draw a ticket from a small aperture in the barrel, the number of which shall be declared the possessor of the bulls. If the equivalent value in cash be preferred, Mr. Rignold will give to the holder of the ticket the sum of £20. In which case, the bulls (being again in Mr. Rignold's possession) will be sold by public auction, the proceeds of which sale shall be devoted to the benefit of the Sydney Hospitals. Mr. Rignold's first bid will be £20.
Please note that, in order to repay the energy of those who are first at the doors on this occasion the first fifty paying for admission to any part of the house will receive TWO CHANCES IN THE ABOVE GIFT.

The Novel and Unique Event of the Time.
"An incomparable performance."—London Times.
TO-NIGHT and Every Evening, the Gifted and World-famed Mr. SNAZELLE (specially engaged in Europe by Mr. F. L. Hiscocks) will present his delightful and absolutely unexampled Entertainment, MUSIC, MIRTH, SONG, and STORY, Pictorially Illustrated. The Press of Sydney has unanimously declared this to be the most chaste, refined, and at the same time the most delightfully amusing night's entertainment that has ever been placed before a Sydney audience, while the Elite of Sydney are nightly testifying to its immense popularity in a manner that admits of no dispute.
(Each side bordered: Mr. SNAZELLE, repeated.)
"Mr. Snazelle is a distinct success."
The indescribably beautiful Illustrations of "Nazareth," "The Village Blacksmith," "The Ship at Sea," &c., &c.; "Bill Adams," "The Whistler," "Mrs. Jones's Awful Dream," &c., &c.

Public Notices.

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

ECCLESIASTICAL JURISDICTION.

Victoria, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Queen, Defender of the Faith, &c.
To the Widow and Next of Kin of JOHN THOMAS TINDALE, late of Penrith, in the colony of New South Wales, Grazier, deceased, intestate.
Greeting:
Whereas it appears by an affidavit of GEORGE NASH the younger, of Penrith, in the said colony, Storekeeper, sworn on the first day of October, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine, and filed in the Registry of the Supreme Court, that JOHN THOMAS TINDALE, late of Penrith aforesaid, Grazier deceased, died on the third day of August, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight, at Dubbo, in the said colony, intestate; and whereas it further appears by the said affidavit that the said George Nash the younger is a creditor of the said deceased,—Now this is to command you and each of you to appear personally or by your respective Proctors before our said Court at Chancery-square, King-street, Sydney, on or before the twenty-eighth day of October instant, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, then and there to accept or refuse the burden of Letters of Administration of the estate, goods, chattels, credits, and effects of the said deceased thereof, otherwise to show good and sufficient cause (if you or either of you know any) why Letters of Administration of all and singular the estate, goods, chattels, credits, and effects of the said deceased should not be granted and committed to the said George Nash the younger, the creditor aforesaid; and take notice that in default of your so appearing and accepting such Letters of Administration as aforesaid, the Judge of our said Court will proceed to grant Letters of Administration of the goods, chattels, credits, and effects of the said deceased to the said George Nash the younger, your absence notwithstanding.
Witness—the Honorable Sir FREDERICK DARLEY, Knight, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, this fifth day of October, in the fifty-third year of our reign, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine.

This Company is being formed for the purpose of carrying on at their commodious and extensive premises (under an 18 years' lease) the business of the well-known and old-established firm of Messrs. Brown Bros. and Co., situated in the centre of the busiest portion of the city, and it is proposed to transact business on the following lines:—

1. The sale of superior horses (including blood and draught stock), vehicles, and cattle by auction on special days of the week, and the conduct of private sales in selection of reliable horses for private gentlemen, medical and military men, and of milch cattle for private families and dairymen; and also the disposal of all classes of stock, vehicles, &c., favoured them by their constituents.
2. The letting out of first-class hackneys for ladies and gentlemen and the reception of horses and vehicles for livery.
3. The letting out of vehicles of all descriptions on contract or special rates.
4. The hiring out on the usual stands of Victorias, four-wheeled cabs, waggonettes, and other vehicles of the best make and style.
5. The sale of store stock and station and other properties.
6. The sale of unbroken horses at the Camperdown Saleyards.
7. The supplying of foreign markets—especially India—with horses and cattle.
8. The sale of fat stock at Homebush and the City Corporation Yards, and also for the sale of dead meat, for which extensive arrangements will be made.
9. The sale of every description of Farm Produce at Darling Harbour and on the wharves daily.

The only contract entered into is dated June 12, 1889, between H. H. Brown, N. W. Brown, and G. H. Holmes of the one part, and Arthur Hopkins, as trustee for and on behalf of the Company, of the other part.

Prospectuses may be obtained from the Acting Secretary, 39, Bligh-street; or from Brown Bros. and Co., 151, Castlereagh-street; and applications for shares, with the deposit payable on application, should be forwarded to the above address.

A large number of shares have been subscribed by the Provisional Directors and others, and it is intended to register the Company within a short time. Applications for the balance unissued should be sent in at an early date.

FOR SALE BY PRIVATE CONTRACT

THE ETTAMOGAH VINEYARD, STOCK, and PLANT.

ALBURY, NEW SOUTH WALES.

This well-known and valuable property is situated about six miles from the town of Albury, and consists of about 200 acres of rich chocolate soil, subdivided into vineyard and paddocks, and fenced throughout. About 30 acres are planted in vines, all strong and healthy and in full bearing, and the situation is one especially adapted for wine-growing, having been selected for this purpose many years ago by Mr. P. F. Adams, formerly Surveyor-General of New South Wales. The present proprietors have worked it for the last 12 years with highly successful results, there being a large sale for the wine in the immediate district, while in the Sydney market it has always commanded the first position in colonial wines.

The improvements are very complete, extensive, and substantial, consisting of press-house with truck-line running over the vats; still-room, two large cellars of pisé and granite (connected), capable of storing about 50,000 gallons, and including storage casks varying from 1500 gallons downwards; a second large cellar, excavated, capable of holding 12,000 gallons, also fitted with casks as above, with large bottling room above; cooperage, &c. Also, Overseer's Cottage, &c.

There is a large dam on the property, covering an expanse of three acres, which insures always a permanent supply of water. The Ettamogah Railway Station is within a few hundred yards, affording every facility for the despatch of wines to any part of the colony. In fact, it is as a whole one of the most compact and complete properties in the colony.

It is scarcely necessary to refer to the high repute these wines have attained in New South Wales and elsewhere. At all exhibitions they have secured first prizes, and a sample shipment recently sent to London was pronounced by the first wine judges to be the finest colonial wine yet shown, and it may be remarked here that large orders were obtainable, but could not be accepted, the different vintages being required to satisfy the local demand.

As stated above, the only reason for selling is to close partnership accounts, but, if required, arrangements could be made for retaining the Sydney cellars and the present management for a certain term.

For full particulars as to stocks, improvements, terms, &c., apply to

HARBOTTLE, ALSOP, and CO.,
Sydney.

FERNBANK ESTATE, Marrickville Heights.—Beautiful elevated Land, Oct. 26. Richardson & Wrench.

A NIGHT WITH THE SAVAGES.

BY THE ROVING AUSTRALIAN.

When the writer was young, in his teens, with a dawning interest in letters, two little volumes of fugitive prose and verse fell across his path, of which he still retains lively and pleasant recollections. For although the "Savage Club Papers," as the collection was called, were of a fugitive and ephemeral character, the various stories, sketches, and poems made remarkably good, light reading; for they were bright and witty, tender and pathetic, all by men of conspicuous talent.

That was hardly more than a score of years ago, yet of the authors who contributed to that little literary argosy nearly all have passed beyond these voices, many of them going in their intellectual prime. Among these were such well-known names as Andrew Halliday, Walter Thornbury, Henry S. Leigh, Tom Hood, Robert Brough, Mortimer Collins, H. J. Byron, Paul Gray, Morton, and Bennet—all three most charming artists—and Prowse. Few book illustrators in those days did more delightful work than the three above-mentioned artists, and by connoisseurs their work will be remembered for some little while yet. The fame of the magazine writer is more fleeting, yet more than one of the contributors to the Savage Club Papers is still recalled for some "one thing that he did"—H. S. Leigh, for instance, for that inimitable medley "The Twins," and "Jeff" Prowse for at least one quatrain, written on the hearts of all Bohemians and would-be Bohemians:

"Though the longtitude 's rather uncertain,
And the latitude 's equally vague;
I hold him in pity who knows not the city,
The beautiful city of Prague."

Of the original members of the Savage, few now remain on the members' list. The personnel of the club has changed almost as much as its habitation. For many years indeed the Savages had no fixed abode, but bivouacked, merely shifting their wigwam from place to place, as circumstances or convenience ordered, until at last they ended their nomadic habits in their present house in Savoy-place. In a little while they purpose once more moving the camp, to pitch it in ampler and more commodious quarters.

In Savoy-place, within a stone-throw of the thronging Strand, yet as much out of the midstream as though it were a score of miles away, stands the clubhouse of the Savages. The Savoy Chapel is hard by, and the dining-room windows overlook the shadowy little old garden, which, at this pleasant season of the year, is quite green, and murmurous with rippling leaves and the twitter of birds.

It is by no means a pretentious tabernacle within or without. An ancient concierge meets you at the door and takes charge of your hat and cane, and goes to seek the friend whose guest you are to be at to-night's house-dinner. Already a goodly number of members and guests are gathered in the smoking-room, and presently we sit down to dinner, which is always at an early hour. The long low room is hung about with pictures and sketches in oil and water-colours, most of them presentations to the club by its members. Spears and tomahawks and other implements of savage warfare are suspended on the walls, symbolical, in a half-humorous way, of the title of the club.

The dinner is a plain but sufficient one, the club's motto in this regard being, like that of their brethren in Edinburgh, the pen and pencil men, plain living and high thinking—not drinking. For, as a matter of fact, the members of both the above literary and artistic brotherhoods are most modest in their potations, and scarce ever hear the chimes of midnight over their innocent "noctes."

Round about the table to-night are not a few men whose names are tolerably familiar in literary and art circles. I do not say that the very biggest wigs in art and letters frequent the Savage, but its membership includes men who are not only hard-workers in the ranks of art, journalism, and the drama, but many whose work has won at least contemporary fame.

That tall, broad-shouldered man yonder, with the square brows, hay-coloured beard, and plentiful hair tinging with grey—a gentleman whose personal acquaintance Australians have, perhaps, made ere this—is Mr. David Christie Murray—not the least popular of novelists. Indeed, in the writer's humble opinion, there have not been many stories written within the last ten years that make better reading than Mr. Murray's "Rainbow Gold," wherein you shall find some excellent qualities in a work of fiction—humour, to wit, a dramatic unity, an artistic breadth in the delineation of character, and a fine literary flavour in the style. There are some, however, who prefer other of the author's works—"A Life's Atonement," or "Joseph's Coat."

Next to the novelist sits "Ginx's Baby"—not a Savage, I fancy, but a guest. A little farther along is Mr. Tegetmeier, of "pigeon" fame; and, close by a member of the Punch staff, whose little sketches week by week divert many readers by their neatness and ingenuity, especially those illustrative of the play-houses. By my side is the editor of one of the best-known of the monthly reviews, to whose hospitality I am indebted for my present introduction to the Saturday rites of the club.

Immediately dinner is over smoking begins, and, after a brief interval, the evening's entertainment.

This turns out to be a good night at the Savage, plenty of talent of all sorts being on hand. Mr. E. L. Shine, the composer, sings an Irish ditty with great brio and humour, and responds to an encore with a clever and amusing burlesque ballad descriptive of the deadly fascinations of a certain well-known young actor, himself a member of the club.

Both America and the Australian colonies are represented to-night, the Savage admitting members of the Lotus Club of New York, the Melbourne Yorick Club, the Johnsonian of Brisbane, and others, ad eundem gradum, so to speak.

The members of the Lotus Club who are here to-night are accomplished vocalists, and the manner in which they sing for us "The Spanish Students" (known, of course, in its splendid waltz form as "Estudiantina") is exhilarating in the highest degree. Such an admirable spirit and entrain! Then the same quartette render the familiar old plantation melody, little heard now, "Massa 's in de cold, cold, ground," with a curious and realistic banjo accompaniment on the voice. The Lotus men meet with an enthusiastic reception, the Savage being eminently generous in its applause to strangers.

Then we have the charming ballad "The Thorn," delightfully sung by a Scottish tenor up in town for the Richter concerts; and then Mr. Marshall Wilder, the American entertainer, who has made himself justly popular in England since he came over a year or two ago, gives two pieces—first a pathetic little poem entitled "Ever so far away," and afterwards a story which you will perhaps allow me to quote, as I fancy it will be new to many readers. I retail it, of course, as memory serves me.

An Irishman in New York found himself very hungry one Friday towards midday, and presented himself at a restaurant, when the following dialogue took place between him and the proprietor:—

"Have ye anny fish?"

"No, no fish."

"Faith, that's unlucky; no fish and this Friday. Sure, ye might just see if ye haven't a morsel of fish."

"There's no fish to-day."

"Sorra a bit of fish, and this Friday! What have ye, thin?"

"Beef and corned pork."

"Only bafe an' corned pork, and its Friday?"

"That's all."

"Well, give me the bafe and pork. God knows I asked for fish; didn't I?"

The room has been getting fuller and fuller. Men are dropping in by twos and threes—journalists with their day's work done, actors with off-nights, artists, littérateurs, of all kinds and of all degrees of reputation. It is a warm evening, but cool little wafts of wind from the trees outside prevent the room from getting unpleasantly hot. Cool drinks, however, are in great demand—you see men on all sides dipping their noses into lemon-squashes, and "long-sleevers" generally are having a great show.

There 's, of course, no formality about the procedure. All are in mufti, except those whose engagements elsewhere have made "black and white" imperative, and the club men dispose themselves about the room in any attitude that comfort or the exigencies of the somewhat limited space suggest. There is nothing in the nature of an arranged programme, the chairman calling on singer, reciter, and raconteur right and left, and none thus called upon ever disobeying the presidential "club" of office. Mr. E. Odell, a name familiar to old playgoers, supplies a droll parody of Miss Emily Rives' muse; Mr. Charles Collette his now famous "Home Rule" song; Mr. Ganthony an ingenious and mirthful burlesque lecture on the phonograph, with ventriloquial imitations of the "records;" and Mr. Christie Murray recites with appropriate effect Ingoldsby's "Lady Jane," prefacing it with the remark that Ingoldsby is not now so often read and heard as he deserves to be, in which many persons will readily agree. Pour moi, if there is any better humorous verse lying perdue anywhere in English literature than "The Bagman's Dog," "The Witches' Frolic," and the incomparable "Nell Cook," I should much like to be told where to find it.

There is breathed about these Saturday symphosia (a very grand name, to be sure, for the informal unpremeditated entertainment) a pleasant air of Bohemianism. It is not the Bohemianism of the days of Richard Savage (from whom the club does not take its name), nor yet that of even a generation back. The longitude and latitude of the delectable city of Prague are not now so vague as when Prowse wrote his famous lines. Its boundaries are more clearly defined, its laws less lax and lenient, and its citizens more prosperous. Bohemia now lies less "across the frost" and more "across the flowers."

And so there is nothing about the Savage Club and its weekly pow-wows indicative of Grub-street, or even of the vie de Bohême as reflected in the picturesque pages of Henry Murger and poor Edward Whitty. The Savage of the Savoy is a very civilised savage, who, though he is still partial to wearing tweeds in the city, wears them of the best, and who can always afford himself and his friends a decent dinner, and, on little gala occasions, a bottle of extra Curvée therewith. No; the modern savage no longer suffers banyan days, and instead of quenching his thirst (and he has frequently a generous Homeric thirst, like most heroic souls) with a vile Sabinum in obscure little caravansaries off Covent Garden, drinks an Imperial liquor with a bead in it like an effervescing jewel, it may be, or some red-blooded wine

"Whose father-grape grew fat
On Lusitanian summers."

Still, a distinct flavour of Bohemia lingers about the Savage, giving it a cachét such as belongs to no other London club. Its convivialities are sui generis, its smoking concerts have no rivals. Their variety, catholicity, unpremeditated fun, and conspicuous talent make them as good an entertainment as is to be found the world over.

While I am writing this little sketch the proprietors of the Contemporary Review kindly send me the current number, which contains an article, by Mr. E. J. Goodman, on the Savage Club. Readers interested in literary history will find here a very pleasant account of the genesis of the club, and of its various adventures since its birth in 1857, in a humble hostelry in Drury-lane, or thereabouts. Mr. Goodman tells how the club gradually grew in size and importance, until it became one of the foremost literary gatherings of London, entertaining Royalty and entertained by Mayor-Royalty, and feasting at its genial board. Princes and pashas, chancellors and ambassadors, as well as the princes in the world of literature, music, and art. And no strangers can attend a good Saturday night with the redoubtable Savages and smoke the calumet under their hospitable wigwam roof without carrying away the pleasantest memories of their weekly reunion, its light-hearted gaiety and abandon, its free-flowing and unpremeditated humours, its harmless mirth, and unostentatious camaraderie.

CONCERNING "GEEBUNGS."

BY QUASIMODO.

This is not a scientific treatise. There is a kind of botanical person now at large who is in the habit of focussing the learned glare of his ocular lenses on articles bearing scientific titles, and I would hesitate before exciting the facile frenzy of this sage by engaging his attention on false pretences. Although the present paper has a botanical title, therefore, it has nothing whatever to do with the vegetable kingdom, except in a very indirect sense indeed. No fair-minded individual, I take it, has much sympathy with those unconscionable advertisers who lure the unwary to read their inconsequent annonces under the feeble pretence of instructing them in the higher branches of mental philosophy. The miscreant who beguiles the weak and credulous into perusing an eulogium on somebody's patent nondescript by first attracting them with an announcement of the slaughter of the American Congress by Sitting Bull and his braves, or the collapse of the Papacy, has never found an apologist in me. If an advertisement begins with a burst of soaring thought and ends with something about soap, I avoid it. Holding such views, it will scarcely be considered a probable circumstance that one would wantonly go out of his way to devise a wile at the expense of those be-spectacled persons who read learned papers with unpronounceable titles to scientific bodies on sleepy afternoons.

The "geebung" is an indigenous Australian vegetable, with a humorous botanical name which for the moment I have unblushingly forgotten. It has its place in the system like any other well-conducted vegetable, and I have no doubt whatever that a monograph on the "geebung" would be very entertaining and instructive reading for those addicted to that exciting kind of literature. The shrub itself is, as I believe, peculiar to these colonies. If it is not, it ought to be. It forms a stunted bush not more than about four or five feet high. The berry—the "geebung," in fact—is hard and green, and not unfrequently aciduous to the taste. The chief purpose for which it has been thoughtfully created is, apparently, to lure into the bush the small boy who ought to be at school, and to return him therefrom to the agitated bosom of his family a prey to a complication of stomachic disorders, made up of cholera morbus and a dash of other curious complaints. For be it known that the pursuit of the festive "geebung" has, from the date of Captain Cook's arrival, been the characteristic and continual delight of all generations of Australian schoolboys. Ecstatic felicity for them is a stolen holiday divided between the delights of the "geebung" and another frivolous vegetable known as the "five-corner." Either of these in its native state, and unwarped by the sybaritic and enervating tendencies of a somewhat effeminate civilisation, possesses the signal property of being able to induce a combination of disorders which can only be compared with that engendered in the bosom of the aged ostrich after a protracted but indiscriminate debauch on door-keys, political speeches, and economic treatises. Of the two, perhaps, the unobtrusive "geebung" is the more effective. But this is a matter of opinion, and, at any rate, it is not the vital question with which we are concerned just now.

There is another kind of "geebung." It is not quite certain who discovered the one—Banks and Solander, probably: but it is said that the late D. H. Deniehy discovered the other. While that brilliant waif still lived and took an active part in public life, he was struck by the frequency with which a certain particular type of individual obtruded itself on the popular attention. The country at one time threatened to be overrun with this class of personality. It was to be met with then, as now, after its several kinds, in every walk of life, and it was distinguishable in the first place by the fact that its exemplars made more noise than anybody else in their particular walk, and very often more than all the rest put together. The prominence attained in this way gave all they said and did a certain amount of prominence also. Up to this point, perhaps, everything was all right. Without a fair share of self-assertiveness the most brilliant talents may scintillate in vain, or at best, in the dim obscure of private intercourse only. But the talents of this particular type are in no such danger. Their owners may be relied upon now as then to take every care, if they scintillate at all, to give out such a fervent glow, or at least to so soothe and hiss, that nobody can long hope to remain oblivious of their existence. Deniehy observed this type of public man, and promptly classed it as a species apart with the distinctive title "geebung." It is a name the type yet retains. The "geebung" still luxuriates in Australian public and semi-public life. There is something in the mental atmosphere, and probably also in the intellectual soil, which peculiarly fits it for the chosen garden-plot of this singular social vegetable. When the author of the term first applied it he must have had the species before his eyes very vividly indeed. Doubtless the happy epithet was chosen because of certain characteristic resemblances. For instance, the natural or schoolboy's "geebung" grows wild. So does the unnatural or social variety. Neither requires any care or cultivation. The vegetable grows in a sandy soil, arid and waterless, and it thrives there luxuriantly. The "geebung" of public life flourishes just as aggressively in an intellectual soil where the vital principle of mind is thin and weak, and he thrives best in the absence of all that savours of cultivation and taste, or whatsoever else might leave him open to the sinister suspicion of having anything in the shape of training and forming influences to recommend him. In this respect the "geebung" is twin-brother to the "philistine" of the late Matthew Arnold, but the relationship is not one of those sanctioned by legitimate convention. For, while the "philistine" does not pretend to culture in any special degree at all, the "geebung," remorselessly enterprising and adventurous as a Canadian book-agent in his degree, has no other object in public life but to claim a place of light and leading in every branch of human excellence favoured by its patronage for the moment. The vegetable product of the "bush" spreads in proportion to its worthlessness. So does the other "geebung." Neither have much excuse for their weedy luxuriance of vitality, even on the ground of ornament. Indeed, it is rather difficult to conceive of your true "geebung," in any shape under which he has yet consented to manifest itself, presenting any aspect of the picturesque at all.

This appalling product is, of course, traceable like everything else to certain peculiar social conditions. In its crudest stage it is the result of a certain intellectual activity and instinct of self-assertion operating on a base of defective education. In new countries, where practical work is waiting to be done, there is always plenty of that. It is one of the conditions of existence for new countries that rough work should go before everything else. When the hard pioneering task is done the social soil, as it were, lies fallow for a time. Then suddenly it is prolific in a luxuriant crop of "geebungs."

There is another kind, however, which may be described as the hot-house variety, and it is the class most frequently met with in public and platform life in these days. This is the "geebung" who has a smattering of culture, who may even be well educated, but who has grown up a victim not so much to defect of early training as to defective educational influences. We are devoid of that wealth of traditional association that surrounds the growing youth and public mind of older centres on every side, tacitly impressing the individual sense, and unconsciously influencing the formation of an orderly mental habit. This is what the "geebung" has missed. What used to be said of self-educated people applies to him—that he thinks he has learnt what no one ever learnt before. Such a conceit could only be destroyed by a course of formative discipline. It is only when taught by the lessons of experience that the "geebung" ever gets a chance to ripen out of this stage.

But the "geebung" who belongs to none of these classes is in the worst case of all. He is not only very decently schooled, but he has had the advantage of peculiarly favourable conditions. They only serve to make his case radically hopeless. He is a necessary evil, for he is of the pure race of "geebungs." The sample of this class would have the world revolve in equal measure; but he would like to mark the time. He has the deeply-rooted conviction that the axis of the earth projects somewhere in his immediate neighbourhood. When he enters public life, and nothing in the world can keep him out of it, he is dogmatic on all subjects involving general principles. He lectures the leader of the House with the firmness tempered by the forbearance of a judicious parent. On public platforms at times of public excitement he is found spontaneously offering an intellect that no one suspected him guilty of possessing to the service of his native land. In all departments of thought he is progressive, and even religion veils her sacred fires when the "geebung" sheds the white light of his critical mind on the riddle of the ages. Sometimes he drops into verse. There are arid rhymes, and jingling echoes of Kendall's verses—the "geebung" poetaster always parodies Kendall or Gordon—and scraps of the thought of other heads, strangely disguised. But all his tatters of old song fail to screen the "geebung" underneath, for your true "geebung" is nothing at all if not rabidly self-assertive. But, to cut this code of signals short, it may be briefly said that, whenever in your search for the ubiquitous species you discover a gentleman whose head is "bumpy," and scarcely seems to fit him, and who is always the centre of his own projects, and whose projects are always "spread-eagleish" and crude, you may suspend your quest. He is a "geebung."

There are points of difference between the "geebung" we have been considering and his botanical prototype. The artless schoolboy who issues forth on his quest after the latter is said to experience a certain fearful joy in elucidating the whereabouts of that furtive vegetable. But there is nothing furtive about the human variety. He is to be met with without going out of town—in the city itself, in fact, on lecture platforms, in the streets, in the halls of legislation, and in every walk of human enterprise. He requires no chasing. His very love of publicity and notoriety is its characteristic, and so far from wanting to be sought out, the "geebung" is self-assertive and aggressive, and prone to chase even the curious themselves over the rim of the earth. I were but a deceiver if I failed to note the fact to the credit of the vegetable variety. But this accidental difference is compensated for by one note of resemblance which may perhaps condone what may, after all, be a mere innocent flight of caprice. No "geebung," whether vegetable or otherwise, ever seems to get ripe. The ingenuous schoolboy is a good authority in the case of the former. Hard, and green, and flavourless, these berries are as dry to the taste as the human "geebung" is unpalatable to those who have to sample his quality. The social product is often raw, but never ripe. He is invariably verdant; and no amount of shower or sunshine makes any difference to him. Whatever travail he may have passed through, he is always acrid and crude. Otherwise, he is always insipid and flavourless. These features make the type just as easily distinguishable as it was when it attracted Deniehy's critical attention, to be photographed for identification in an epithet. His fastidious good taste and surprising culture, considering the conditions of his time and circumstances, made him quick to detect the "geebung" element of the public and semi-public life of 30 years ago. Some of its characteristics have changed a little since then, of course; but the type is still the same. It is always open to identification by being referred back to its original prototype. For though the social may differ from the vegetable variety in its noisy obtrusiveness and vulgar spirit of self-assertion—moral shortcomings which are not chargeable against the simple virtues and directness of the "geebung" of the bush—there always remains one striking point of resemblance. Both are invariably plucked before they are ripe.

AMONG THE FLOWER NURSERIES.

MR. JOHN G. TRESEDER'S NURSERY.

There can be no doubt that considerable attention will be given in the near future to seaside planting along our extensive and, generally, rather bare coast, especially in the vicinity of the cities and towns. What a vast difference might be effected in the appearance of the present barren-looking places—for instance, to the miserable-looking country between Botany Bay and Port Jackson—if the seashore was clothed with a dense forest of ornamental timber. And this might be effected, as we shall presently see.

Mr. J. G. Treseder is giving particular attention to the subject of suitable trees and shrubs for planting near the seashore, not only from a business point of view, but from a love of the picturesque and the beautiful. He was born and brought up in Cornwall, the narrow peninsula forming the south-westernmost county in England, which is exposed to the full blast of the heavy gales which tear over the Atlantic Ocean. In this breezy country he served his time under his father, a landscape gardener and nurseryman, and here he was engaged with his father in most extensive seaside planting, which proved to be most successful, in the face of many difficulties they had to contend against drift-sand, but which they completely conquered by planting suitable shrubs and trees; for these in time formed dense walls, as it were, against the drifts and sea-spray, and delightful sheltered spots were formed, where it was a pleasure to live, but once uninhabitable. It is worth mentioning here that sea-side planting is not only of great importance for shelter and ornamental purposes, but for many kinds of timber, which might be raised on waste places. Many valuable plantations have been formed in most unlikely and inhospitable places on the English and French coasts, especially on the coast of Gascony, and between Bayonne and Bordeaux, on miserable sand-drifts, where the inhabitants now gain their livelihood from preparing resin, tar, &c., from the forests of Pinus pinaster of varieties, where formerly there was nothing but thousands of acres of white sand. This is a lesson well worth remembering. We have in this colony at the present time about six millions acres of land set apart as timber and forest reserves; but this huge area will be gradually eaten away, although every inch should be religiously retained, by land grabbers or selectors, who complete their time on their first selection and just make sufficient improvements to comply with the requirements of the land Acts, and then kick up a hullabaloo and agitate for these reserves to be thrown open for the settlement of the "poor man." These reserves are bound to go, almost for a dead certainty, and by and bye we shall be "hauled up by a round turn," and find that we have no more timber. Magnificent timber is cut down and burnt off as a nuisance by selectors, on their own land, every year. In time it will all go.

Mr. Treseder's plant nursery is situated at Ashfield, on the Parramatta-road, about half-a-mile north of the Ashfield railway station. Some years ago the garden belonged to, and was made by, a Mr. Underwood, who was an enthusiastic amateur gardener: and here are to be seen a number of different kinds of fine old camellias, which produce great quantities of flowers, and these are of great value to Mr. Treseder, who carries on a very large flower and seed business in the Royal Arcade, Sydney, in connection with his nursery. Here also are some fine specimens of ornamental trees and shrubs which were planted many years ago. Of course at this season of the year it is rather too early to expect nurseries to look their best; but the plants that Mr. Treseder is making a special feature of are looking splendid. These plants are the Norfolk Island pine, Araucaria excelsa, Pinus insignis, Cupressus Lawsoniana, several varieties of palms, and dracænas. There thousands and thousands of Norfolk Island pines, and palms, in all stages of growth, inside the large bushhouses, and outside, in the open, under glass; and in every hole and corner imaginable these plants come popping into view. There must be hundreds of thousands of them. The Norfolk Island pine is of immense value for seaside planting, as it seems to delight in the salt sea-spray and defy the howling gales which tear round its native island, where it grows on apparently bare rocks, with its roots washed by the sea. Massed together these trees would form a magnificent breakwind. What a change in the appearance of the bare Heads at the entrance to Port Jackson a forest of these trees would effect! A row or two are growing well, exposed to the ocean, at Manly Beach, and there is a fine clump at Watson's Bay; if these could only be extended on to the hills, the landscape would be entirely changed, and the bare, hot-looking rocks hidden.

The palms grown are chiefly the beautiful Kentia Fosteriana, K. Belmoreana (now called Howeas) from Lord Howe Island, the Seaforthia elegans (which name was altered to Ptychosperma Cunninghamiana, and more recently altered to Archontophœnix Cunninghamiana, which is said to be the correct name), and Areca Baueri, from Norfolk Island (now called Kentia Baueri, but which should properly be called Rhopalostylis Baueri). Those from Lord Howe Island, known locally as the "thatch" and the "Curley" palms, are exceedingly beautiful, and are most useful for ornamental purposes, especially for indoor decoration, for they will stand knocking about better, perhaps, than any other kinds of palms. In a recent most valuable and interesting work on the geology of Lord Howe's Island, written by Mr. Robert Etheridge, jun., and published by the trustees of the Sydney Museum, that gentleman says, "a very remarkable fact in connection with the two lowland species K. Fosteriana and K. Belmoreana, and one I have not hitherto seen mentioned, is worthy of record and has a bearing on the geology of the island. Wherever the soil is derived from the decomposition of the coral-sand rock, the thatch palm (K. Fosteriana) exclusively prevails, whilst the appearance of the Curley palm at once indicates a volcanic soil. So marked and constant is the position of the two palms that it may be taken as a general way as an index to the running of geological boundaries between the two formations."

Mr. Treseder is paying considerable attention to ivies, of which there are many beautiful varieties; and ornamental-leaved plants, such as the scarlet leaved oak, of which he has a stock; the beautiful maples, the golden elder (Sambucus nigra aurea), an exceedingly ornamental shrub, a very great favourite of the late Sir James Martin, who brought it under Mr. Treseder's notice. Roses, too, are a special subject, and there are many new varieties of the useful teas and hybrid teas. The bush-houses are very large, and contain a large and varied stock of generally useful trees, shrubs, and flowering plants in pots. Here are also many varieties of ferns, one in particular, the beautiful Alsophila excelsa, is in considerable quantity. This variety Mr. Treseder considers to be the best to plant in the open garden, as it grows very fast, and stands the heat well. In the garden, seeds of all kinds are tested, samples from both bulk and packages. This is a very proper thing to do, as nothing can be more unsatisfactory to a vendor of seeds than being uncertain as to their quality.

Mr. Treseder has just concluded arrangements to enlarge his outdoor business very greatly, in anticipation of an increased demand for ornamental trees and shrubs for use, chiefly in seaside gardening.

In this issue appears the prospectus of Brown Brothers and Co., Limited. The objects of the proposed company as set forth are multifarious. The leading features which may be termed a new departure are:—1. The recognition of the well established principle of co-operation by inviting stock-breeders, in the capacity of shareholders, to participate in the profits accruing from their own as well as other business. 2. An important, long-needed, and much-desired social reform in street cabs, by the provision of more capacious and commodious vehicles under regulations, calculated to insure the comfort and convenience of the public. To buyers and sellers of stock a reliable medium is offered on co-operative principles, which, though limited in their application in the Australian colonies, are so thoroughly appreciated in Europe as to have assumed very large proportions as a sound basis for commercial undertakings of almost every description. The proposal to substitute weekly sales for daily sales will also commend itself as a step in the right direction, involving amongst other advantages a considerable saving of time. The acquisition of a "going concern" on favourable terms should, under able management, afford a highly remunerative return to the shareholders.—[ADVT.]

LAW REPORT.

SUPREME COURT.—FRIDAY, OCTOBER 11.

In Chambers.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice STEPHEN.)

MAIDES V. BUZACOTT.

This was an appeal against the decision of Mr. Fisher, S.M., by the Marine Board, respecting the following of a boatrace contrary to the regulations. The magistrate refused to fine at the Water Police Court, as he held that under the regulations a conviction could not be obtained unless the steamer followed within the 300ft. track allowed by the rules.

His HONOR held that the decision was bad, and that it was an offence to follow the race even outside the 300ft. track.

The appeal was allowed, with costs against the respondent.

In Equity.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice OWEN, the Chief Judge in Equity.)

WOOLDRIDGE V. M'CLURE.

Mr. Lingen for the plaintiff (one of the trustees), Mr. Walker for some of the claimants under the will, and Mr. C. J. Manning for the other defendants.

This was an application to settle the rights of the parties. The late John Taylor, of Mount Pleasant, by will under date November 2, 1859, bequeathed all his real estate to his wife, and appointed her sole executrix. She took out letters of administration, there being 10 children of the marriage. No settlement was made on any of the daughters. Mrs. Taylor made a disposition of the property, not having found the will. The trustees then obtained letters of administration, and a declaration of the rights of the parties was now sought.

His HONOR generally referred the matter to the Master in Equity, the appointment to stand over till after the references.

FILEWOOD V. MOUNT LIMESTONE SILVER-MINING COMPANY.

Mr. Tarleton for the plaintiff. This was an application by John Filewood for the winding-up of the company. The plaintiff got judgment against the company which they were unable to discharge.

After hearing documentary evidence, his HONOR ordered the matter to stand over, as the application did not appear to have been made under the 132nd section of the Companies Act.

RE WILL OF CHALLIS.

Mr. Simpson and Mr. Walker for the trustees; Mr. C. J. Manning for the University trustees. This was an application in the will of the late J. Challis by the trustees to obtain the directions of the Court as to the rate of commission allowed under the will to be paid to them on the collection and disposal of property under such will. The trustees wanted 4 per cent., but the University trustees thought a lesser amount would suffice.

His HONOR awarded the trustees 3 per cent. on the income received on the personal estate, and 4 per cent. on the value of the property in question, which, he said, had been enormously increased by the discretion of the trustees in not realising the property at first. Four per cent. was not too much. Costs as between solicitor and client to come out of the estate.

RE J. HAWKINS.

This matter was set down for hearing, but was allowed to go over till Friday. Mr. Ralston mentioned that it was a matter respecting the custody of an infant. The husband and wife were separated, and the former had the child.

His HONOR promised to take it on Friday.

In Bankruptcy.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice DEFFELL.)

SEQUESTRATIONS ON PETITIONS OF DEBTORS.

John Brassett, of Bingera, contractor. Mr. E. M. Stephen, official assignee.

John Henry Hanson, of Mitchell-road, Alexandria, labourer on Government railways. Mr. L. T. Lloyd, official assignee.

John White, of 15, Way's-terrace, Fyrmont, master mariner. Mr. L. T. Lloyd, official assignee.

Richard Gaddas, of Bowraville, Nambucca River, storekeeper. Mr. A. Morris, official assignee.

EXAMINATION OF WITNESSES.

Re Anderson and Muller. This was an adjourned meeting for the examination of Henry Harris. The witness, who failed to attend at the previous hearing, was still absent. It was explained that he was away in Melbourne engaged in a lawsuit, and a further adjournment of the examination was made to the 23rd October.

CERTIFICATE APPLICATION.

Re John Henry Munro. This was an adjourned application for a certificate of discharge, and at the request of the official assignee a further adjournment of three weeks was granted pending the examination of witnesses at Grafton on the 16th instant.

PUBLIC EXAMINATIONS.

Re James Fotheringham. The bankrupt attended, and as a meeting of creditors was pending, the examination was adjourned for three weeks.

Re William Ecoy. The bankrupt attended, and was examined, on behalf of a proved creditor, as to a settlement made upon his wife in 1886 of landed property at Golden Grove, which land was leased at a weekly rental of £2 10s. The bankrupt was declared to have passed his public examination, subject to his handing over to the official assignee his books of account.

Re William Robert Evans. The bankrupt attended and desired to amend his statement of affairs with regard to debts due. The bankrupt was declared to have passed his public examination, subject to any further examination which might be required.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT COURT.

FRIDAY.

(Before his Honor Mr. Judge M'FARLAND.)

PICTURESQUE ATLAS COMPANY V. ROHU.

This was a rehearing of a case which had already been before the Court. The plaintiffs claimed £10 10s. on a contract to subscribe to a publication known as the Picturesque Atlas of Australasia. Mr. Burcher for plaintiffs, Mr. Oliver for defendants. When the case was first on the list the defendant mistook the court at which it was to be heard, and attended at the District Court, King-street, instead of Darlinghurst. Defendant's case now was that he had not contracted to purchase the publication, and that the particulars had been misrepresented to him. After hearing evidence, his Honor gave a verdict for the amount claimed.

The Picturesque Atlas Company obtained verdicts in the whole of the cases heard in the District Court on Thursday.

M'NEIL V. O'BRIEN.

This was an action for £200 damages, sustained by the plaintiff in consequence of defendant's horse and cart running into his buggy, in consequence of which plaintiff was thrown out and severely injured. Dr. Sly for plaintiff, Mr. J. Gannon for defendant. The plaintiff was Frank M'Neil, residing at Hunter's Hill, and the defendants were Messrs. O'Brien and Roberts, of Glebe Island and Balmain, butchers. The plaintiff's case was that he was driving over Glebe Island bridge in his buggy when the defendants' cart, driven by Michael O'Heir, in their employment, came up behind at a great pace, and ran into the plaintiff. The buggy was knocked over, and the plaintiff thrown out, sustaining several injuries, in consequence of which he was for some time confined to his house. Defendants denied that O'Heir was their servant, and contended that the horse in their cart bolted, and that the injuries to plaintiff were caused by an accident. After hearing a good deal of evidence on both sides, his HONOR found a verdict for the plaintiff for £60 and costs.

METROPOLITAN QUARTER SESSIONS.

FRIDAY.

(Before his Honor Judge FORBES.)

Re Robert Henley. In this matter the appellant had been convicted before Mr. B. Lee, S.M., of indecent exposure, and fined £2, with the alternative of a month in gaol. Mr. J. J. Reader appeared for the appellant, and Mr. W. L. Merewether in support of the conviction. It was argued that the penalty of a month was excessive, and beyond the power of the Court to inflict. His Honor held the objection to be good, and quashed the conviction accordingly.

Re Alfred Corner. Mr. Wallace for the appellant; Mr. Hill for the respondent, H. Evans. The appellant had been convicted by Mr. Lee, S.M., of fraudulently appropriating £15, the property of H. Evans, and ordered to pay the money and £5 5s. costs, or go to gaol for three months. Corner and Evans were recent arrivals in the colony, and Evans got into trouble for stealing £10 15s., the property of W. E. Llewellyn, and was sent to gaol for six months. While incarcerated Corner went to see him, and suggested that Evans should give him (Corner) an order to draw his remittance money of £10 per month, and pay certain accounts with it. He agreed, and Corner drew two sums of £10 each, but did not pay the accounts. After hearing evidence, his Honor confirmed the conviction, with £5 5s. costs.

Re Alfred M'Donnell. On the application of Mr. Hill, this appeal was postponed to next sessions, owing to the illness and absence of a material witness.

The Court was then adjourned sine die.

PARRAMATTA DISTRICT COURT.—FRIDAY.

(Before his Honor Mr. District Court Judge WILKINSON.)

Borough of Paramatta v. M. Hagan.—Rates, £11 2s. 6d. His Honor gave a verdict for plaintiffs for £2 10s. of the amount, and entered a nonsuit as regarded the balance, with £3 3s. costs.

J. Anlezark v. Thomas Thompson.—Damages £50, claim for injury to a horse and vehicle, as the result of an attack on the horse by a dog, the property of defendant. Verdict by consent for £32 10s.

Firbank and Billier v. T. Barnett.—Claim £24 17s. 9d. for asphalting. Defendant paid £11 into court. Verdict for the amount claimed.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency of disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in ½lb. packets by grocers, labelled thus—James Epps and Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London.—[ADVT.]

POLICE.

Mr. W. Johnson, S.M., presided in the Charge Branch at the CENTRAL POLICE COURT yesterday. Henry Thompson, on remand, was charged with having a pair of winkers in his possession supposed to be stolen. Detective Keatinge said he met the prisoner in Macquarie-street on the 5th instant carrying the winkers produced; he asked him where he had got them from, and he said he had made them himself; the prisoner could not have made them, as they were undoubtedly of English manufacture. He was sent to gaol for three months' with hard labour. George West was sentenced to six months' hard labour for being a suspected person frequenting Castlereagh-street with intent to commit a felony. Detective O'Sullivan said that when he arrested the prisoner on Thursday he found nine door-keys on him. He suspected him of attempting to open house-doors in Castlereagh-street. Mr. C. Delohery, D.S.M., dealt with the business in the Summons Court. William Chapman was proceeded against by William Barnard for keeping a ferocious dog. It appeared that about a week ago Rose Barnard, 9 years of age, a daughter of complainant, was sent on a message to a grocer's shop at the Glebe. When she reached the doorway she saw a collie dog lying on the step. She tried to coax it away, but it sprang upon her and scratched and bit her, causing her to become insensible. The shopman was attracted by the girl's screams, and immediately beat the dog off and carried the girl into the house for treatment. Several witnesses were called to prove that, at the time the dog attacked the girl, it belonged to the defendant. Chapman was fined £5, with £1 8s. 4d. costs and £2 2s. damages, in default two months' imprisonment. Maurice Flynn was sentenced to six months' imprisonment with hard labour on a charge of being a suspected person frequenting Hyde Park for the purpose of committing a felony. Two young men, named Charles Edwards and Thomas Jones, were charged with assaulting and robbing one John Harty. The evidence showed that on the night of the 20th ultimo prosecutor and prisoners, with several others, were in the Criterion Hotel, Sussex-street. Harty had £30 on him, and was showing it, when prisoner Edwards caught hold of him and dragged him into a lane near by, and, it was alleged, took the money from him. Jones and a crowd of people were near, and Jones was stated to be helping Edwards. The police came up and the two prisoners ran away up a lane past an anchor yard. Ernest Watson said he found £8, in £1 notes, in the anchor yard near the Criterion Hotel. Accused were committed for trial at the next Criminal Court. A man named William Johnson was charged with stealing a horse, buggy, and harness, valued at £25, the property of Joseph Gomes, of Liverpool. Gomes said the prisoner went to his place on the 4th instant and hired a horse and buggy for the day. He never returned with them. A milkman named Blake stated that on the 4th instant he saw the accused take the horse and buggy into Brown Brothers' horse bazaar, and witness subsequently purchased the turnout for £10. Prisoner pleaded guilty, and was committed for trial at the next gaol delivery. George Grey Vitey was charged with maliciously wounding Florrie Allardice with intent to do her grievous bodily harm. Prosecutrix stated that she was a single woman, and had worked for the prisoner for about three weeks. After she left his employ he followed her continually. She obtained a girl to do his housework for him, but he afterwards complained to prosecutrix that the girl had stolen his watch. On the evening of the 23rd ultimo she met him in Liverpool-street, when he said he "wanted to die, and would go to the gallows for her." He struck her with a knife he had in his hand, causing a wound in the right shoulder. He also made several other thrusts at her, but did not again strike her with the knife. An omnibus driver interfered, and prisoner charged at him, whereupon the stranger ran away, but was pursued to Goulburn-street by prisoner, who was finally arrested by Constable Lark. Prisoner was committed for trial.

Mr. B. Lee, D.S.M., presided in the Charge Division of the WATER POLICE COURT and Mr. G. W. F. Addison, S.M., dealt with the cases in the Summons Division. A man named George Wilson, on remand, charged with having a gold watch in his possession which was reasonably suspected to have been stolen, was ordered to be imprisoned for three months, with hard labour. James Quinlan, a carpenter, was charged with being found at night in the dwelling-house of George Evans, Grafton-street, Woollahra, with intent to commit a felony. After hearing evidence and being informed that the accused bore a good character, the magistrate discharged him, stating that it was not shown that he was there for a felonious purpose. Walter Newland, 39, no occupation, charged with having no visible lawful means of support, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment, with hard labour. The accused was said to be well-known to the police as a vagrant, and a person who would not work. Henry Wilson, alias Letty or Nipper, 23, no occupation, was charged with breaking and entering a storeroom and stealing therefrom four sides of leather, value £3, the property of Elly Begg, trading as Begg and Sons, Glenmore-road, Paddington. Witnesses were called for the prosecution and it was shown that the prisoner and another man attempted to sell three sides of leather to a shoemaker named Patrick Hogan, residing at Surry Hills, on the 13th August last. Mr. Lee considered the evidence adduced was insufficient to convict prisoner, and, therefore, gave him the benefit of the doubt and discharged him. He was further charged with being concerned with another in stealing a quantity of leather, valued at 18s., from the same place. The prisoner pleaded guilty to this charge. Senior-constable Taylor, who had charge of the case, said the prisoner was a notorious thief, and a man who had been convicted of all kinds of offences. He was ordered to be imprisoned for six months, with hard labour. James Blake, 31, clerk, appeared before Mr. B. Lee, in answer to a charge of fraudulently appropriating to his own use a gold bangle, value £2 2s., the property of Dolly Solomon. Senior-sergeant Higgins had charge of the case. The prosecutrix, who resides at 304, Darlinghurst-road, said she lost the bangle (produced) in the Domain last Saturday. She inserted an advertisement in the Herald. A man, she believed to be prisoner, called on her on Tuesday and said he had found the bangle. He wanted a reward before restoring the property, and she gave him 5s.; he then left the house and did not return. The prisoner did not give her the bangle. Other evidence was given which went to show that the prisoner found the bangle in the Domain and then pledged it. He was sent to gaol for two months, with hard labour. Robert Williamson, alias Daniel Hinchey, was charged with attempting to steal the sum of £2 from a till in the shop of Nicholas Nicotti, of No. 114, Oxford-street. The wife of the prosecutor deposed that on Tuesday last, at about 11 p.m., she was sitting in an inside room, when she saw the prisoner in the act of leaning over the counter. He had the till half out, and his hand was in the box where the money was placed. The till contained about £2. He ran away, but was subsequently apprehended. She was certain the prisoner was the man who attempted to take the money. The accused received a sentence of two months' imprisonment, with hard labour. Arthur Dye was charged with attempted larceny. On Thursday night Detectives O'Sullivan and Johnson were standing at the corner of King and Elizabeth streets, watching the people coming from the theatre. They noticed the prisoner walking about in the crowd, and occasionally stopping behind several ladies. They followed him and saw him go behind a lady, and, with a pair of scissors, cut her pocket open enough to admit his hand, which he inserted. The officers then arrested him, and he threw the scissors away, but they were afterwards found. They took the prisoner to the central station and searched him and found a handkerchief marked, in one of the corners, B. 21. He was remanded for a week. John Jamieson or Thompson and Stephen Jones, seamen belonging to H.M.S. Opal, appeared on remand in answer to a charge of assaulting Constables Thomas Whalan and Robert Dimond whilst they were in the lawful execution of their duty. It was shown that the prisoners and others were creating a disturbance in Lower George-street a few nights ago, when the officers interfered, with the view of quelling the row. The sailors became very violent, and assaulted the policemen, both of whom received a somewhat severe handling. In their defence the prisoners stated that they had been beaten with batons. An officer of the Opal said the ship would be sailing from Sydney on the 22nd instant, and, further, that the men would be punished for the offence when they returned to their vessel. Under the circumstances, Mr. Lee ordered the prisoners to be kept to hard labour in Darlinghurst gaol until the 22nd instant. Inspector Seymour proceeded against a number of persons for having committed breaches of the corporation bylaws. Several Chinamen were punished for having filthy premises. Ton Chong, 50, Goulburn-street, for having allowed filth from which an offensive smell arose to remain on his premises, was fined £5, with 5s. costs, or one month in gaol. Ty Wat, 62, Goulburn-street, and Yee On, 64, Goulburn-street, similarly charged, were each fined £3, with 5s. costs, or one month in gaol. Yang Cheong, 42, Goulburn-street, was mulcted in a penalty of £2 and costs, or 14 days in gaol, for having neglected to keep an office in a proper condition. John Flanagan and Barney Flanagan, charged with having stood on the footway in Oxford-street to the inconvenience of the passers-by, were each fined £3 and costs, or in default a month's imprisonment.

Mr. G. O'Malley Clarke presided at the NEWTOWN POLICE COURT. Robert Smith, 20, labourer, charged by warrant with unlawfully assaulting Constable Scott, was fined £5, with costs 5s. 10d.; in default, three months in gaol. For using obscene language on Wharf-road, Concord, Smith was further fined 40s., with the option of 14 days in gaol. Frank Ayer, 14, appeared in answer to charges of stealing a piece of silk, a piece of ribbon, value 6s., the property of David Hogg, and a silver lever watch, value £2, the property of William Berkman. The boy went into Mr. Hogg's shop and took the silk and ribbon. He pawned them with Mr. Berkman, and then took a silver watch off the counter. On the first charge he was sentenced to 14 days in gaol, with hard labour; and, on the second charge, he received two months in addition. Patrick Kenealey, found guilty of stealing a pair of pincers and a shoe-horn, the property of F. B. Lee, was sentenced to 14 days' hard labour. John Grono, charged with stealing a pair of lamps and winkers, the property of Thomas Wilson, was sentenced to three months in gaol. Mrs. Tobin was fined £1 and costs, in default 21 days in gaol, for assaulting her daughter. The information was laid by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. George Agnew, 27, clerk; William Hesketh, 22, dealer; John Bolan, 22, dealer; and Hugh M'Hugh, 19, baker, were charged with attempting to enter the dwelling-house of David Kearney, Burren-street, Macdonaldtown, on the 21st September, with intent to commit a felony. The accused were arrested by Senior-constable Cook and Constable Ridley on 3rd instant, and were charged with the offence. The evidence of Mary Ann Kearney went to prove that on the 21st September she left her residence in Burren-street, securely fastened. When she got to the station gates she looked back and saw a man on the verandah of the house. In about 20 minutes she returned with her sister, Amy King, and saw four men near the house. The prisoner Hesketh was one of them. The men went away, and she found that the front window had been broken open. A witness (Emily Tripp) recognised Hesketh and M'Hugh as two of the four persons near the house. The accused were committed for trial at the next Criminal Court. Bail was allowed each in one surety of £80, and two sureties of £40. Annie Wells, on remand, appeared in answer to a charge of perjury. The case arose out of one tried on the 16th of September, in which Annie Wells swore that she was the wife of Alfred Wells, and that she was married five years ago. Evidence having been given as to the evidence the accused gave at the court William Wentworth Bucknell, a clerk in the Registrar-General's Office, said he had searched from 1883 to 1887 amongst the records of the office. There was no record of a marriage between Annie Wells and Alfred Wells. A copy of a certificate of marriage between Alfred Wells and Annie Cleary (Wells), on the 9th of October, 1889, was put in. Accused was committed to take her trial at the next Court of Quarter Sessions. Bail was allowed, herself in £80 and two sureties of £40 each.

Mr. Fisher, S.M., disposed of the business of the BALMAIN POLICE COURT. John O'Toole and Frederick M'Dermott, charged with having behaved in a riotous manner, were each fined 10s. and costs, with the alternative of seven days' imprisonment. Eight parents were fined small amounts, with costs, for having neglected to send their children to school.

GOVERNMENT GAZETTE.

The following official information was published in yesterday's Government Gazette.—

BARTON'S HISTORY OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I have had the pleasure of reading, in the last number of the "Centennial Magazine," an elaborate review, by Mr. W. H. Traill, M.L.A., of the first volume of the History of New South Wales, recently published by the Government Printer; and as the matter is one of some public interest, I should be glad if you will allow me space for the purpose of removing certain misconceptions on the subject which have presented themselves in this and other quarters.

Mr. Traill condemns the book because, while purporting to be a history, it is not written in the orthodox style of the great historians. Instead of being a coherent and consecutive narrative, it is all disjointed and fractured; and the reader has the trouble of piecing it together in order to follow the course of events. The result is that it is tedious, fatiguing, and disappointing; while repetitions are of frequent occurrence.

The answer to this objection may be seen on the title-page. The work is based on the records, and is published by the Government. No Government has ever undertaken to publish histories written in the style of Gibbon and Macaulay; but all Governments, from time immemorial, have recognised the benefits of presenting their records, and of publishing them for the use of historical inquirers. The method of publication usually adopted may be seen in such works as the Calendar of State Papers, the Memorials of Great Britain and Ireland, and also in the volumes published by the English Historical Society and similar institutions. The records are given textually—that is, in their original form—the editorial matter being limited to an introduction, notes, and an index.

When I undertook to write the present work the first matter I had to determine was the plan on which it was to be constructed. There were two before me, both consecrated by custom and precedent—one being the official form just described, the other the orthodox one which Mr. Traill thinks should have been adopted. I rejected both—the latter because it would not allow me to give the records as they lay before me in manuscript; the former, because a bare reproduction of them would not have had much interest for the general reader. Either form of publication would have defeated the main object in view, which, stated shortly, was to give the records in a readable shape.

The plan finally adopted may be seen in the book. The matter is distributed into three parts, the first containing a series of short original sketches, designed to prepare the reader for the events related in the records; the second giving the first two years of our history as they appear in Phillip's despatches; and the third comprising the miscellaneous records referred to in the text, with descriptive matter, which would have been too lengthy for foot notes.

In adopting this plan I was well aware that I was not following the usual methods of publication, which were as plainly visible to the mind's eye as the main roads to a traveller in the country. In choosing a new one I, of course, ran some risk of disappointing my readers; but looking at the result in the light of experience, I do not see how I could have done much better. Had more time been placed at my disposal the execution would, in many respects, have been improved by the opportunities for revision I should then have had; but so far as the plan is concerned, I think it will stand the test of an impartial examination.

Mr. Traill thinks no work is entitled to be called a history unless it is a consecutive narrative written on the approved models: that a work expressly intended to incorporate the records on which it is based is not a history but a compilation; and that it is great presumption on the part of a writer to call such work a history. This view of the matter seems to be founded on the idea that the great test of a historian is his capacity to write a consecutive narrative. As a matter of fact, it is the weakest of all tests. A thousand writers might have the faculty of writing a story out of the materials placed in their hands for one who possessed the power of analysing them, weighing their relative value, grouping them in their logical order, and finally discriminating between those portions of the mass that were fit for his purpose and those that were not. Next to that faculty comes the dramatic instinct, which enables a writer to convert his dead material into life, by representing historical personages in the shape of living beings—revealing their characters, displaying their springs of action, and bringing them bodily before the reader's eye. Then comes the power to write a consecutive narrative, implying a certain gift, usually spoken of as style. These are the chief tests by which every historical work must be judged; and of these the faculty of analysis is incomparably the most important. The mere form of composition adopted by a writer is a matter of comparatively little importance. Nothing can be more absurd than to suppose that the intrinsic value of a book depends on its form. In the present case, it would have been an easy task for me to have followed the plan insisted on by Mr. Traill, because I should then have spared myself the toughest part of my work. Instead of anxiously weighing every line of the records and hunting up every incidental question suggested by them, I should have had nothing to do but to write a historical novel, making such use of the records as might suit my fancy or convenience, relying for my vindication on Mr. Traill's dictum that "an historian should always assume the attitude of a trusted agent, whose word is sufficient without other vouchers than his general reputation." That happy thought would have saved me at least six months hard work; but the result would have been that, in the eyes of all competent critics, my "general reputation" would have been damned.

The objections taken to the repetitions are disposed of by this explanation of the plan; because it will be seen that, as the passages repeated occur in two essentially different parts of the book—once in the records, and again in the editorial comments—some repetition was unavoidable. Take, for example, the following instance:—"An anecdote illustrating Phillip's coolness with the natives is twice [? once] repeated (pp. 123, 286)." At p. 286 the anecdote is given in Phillip's own words, and at p. 123 it is referred to in the sketch of his character. How could his character be sketched unless such facts were mentioned? and why should they be omitted from his despatch merely because they were referred to in the sketch? Applying this principle to every other instance of the same kind, it will be seen that, so far from forming an objection, these repetitions serve the purpose of key-notes in a piece of music. There is always a reason for repetition in historical writing.

"Mr. Conybeare makes a criticism, in which Hallam seems to agree, that I sometimes repeat myself. I expect there is truth in this. Yet it is very hard to know what to do. If an important principle is laid down only once, it is unnoticed or forgotten by dull readers, who are the majority. If it is inculcated in several places, quick-witted persons think that the writer harps too much on one string. Probably I have erred on the side of repetition."—Macauley's Journal, quoted in Trevelyan's Life, vol. II, p. 246.

II. This statement will be sufficient to show that Mr. Traill's criticism, being founded on a misconception, is not entitled to any serious notice; nor would it have met with any from me, but for the fact that I omitted to anticipate such objections when writing the preface to the book. It was originally my intention to do so, but it seemed to me, on consideration, unnecessary to enter into explanations on so simple a matter. I assumed that the title-page was sufficiently explicit, forgetting that here and there a critic might arise who, ignoring the known character of record publications, might take advantage of this omission in order to attack the book.

No one would suppose, à priori, that any statement on the subject was needed in order to enlighten reviewers, seeing that they are presumed to be familiar with the principles on which historical works are constructed; still less, that a work of that kind would be reviewed by a writer to whom historical literature was unknown. Mr. Traill's article might be fairly described as a series of blunders from beginning to end. With that affectation of omniscience which usually springs from a consciousness of one's deficiencies, he devotes a paragraph to a catalogue of celebrated historians, hardly one of whom can be said to command the respect of scholars in the present day. No one with any knowledge of the subject would think of grouping together Goldsmith, Lecky, Froude, Martineau, and Carlyle as historians of the same rank; yet Mr. Traill does so, and that without the slightest suspicion of the absurdity.

His blunders become still more extraordinary when he deals with the history and physical features of this country. When he tells us, for instance, that "the embouchure of the Hawkesbury is confused by an intricate ramification of fiords," it is clear that he has not seen it, and is speaking of it from imagination. The embouchure—why not mouth?—is no more confused by a ramification of fiords than the entrance to Port Jackson is confused by a ramification of icebergs. There is no fiord in Broken Bay nor in any other part of Australia; and if there were as many as there are in Norway, what does Mr. Traill mean by a "ramification" of them?

If he knows nothing about the Hawkesbury he is equally at fault with respect to the Nepean, for in the same passage he asserts that Phillip "sought and found that mighty stream the Nepean." Phillip did not find it; it was found by Tench, but neither Tench nor Phillip would have been silly enough to speak of it that as "mighty stream the Nepean"—a description evidently drawn from imagination.

These passages are followed by another, in which the writer again shows how fanciful his impressions are on the simplest matter of fact. "Nothing was more inevitable than that the first voyagers should repeatedly enter the wrong channel and expend time and provisions in investigating a watery cul de sac." The first voyagers were sailors, who were quite at home on the water, and whose object was to survey as well as explore. They had no difficulty in making their way up the Hawkesbury nor any other part of Broken Bay, but passed from one branch of it to another just as nautical surveyors do now, in order to see what sort of country each branch might open up. They were not stopped by the branches as they were by the creeks when on shore, but Mr. Traill innocently confuses the two things, and imagines Phillip and his men wandering helplessly about in their boats like landsmen, among a network of unknown streams.

Mr. Traill is not much more at home on the shores of Botany Bay than he is on the Hawkesbury and the Nepean. He expresses his surprise that I should "seem inclined to endorse the enthusiasm of Cook and Banks with respect to this region" instead of endorsing the dismal views which some of Phillip's officers took of it. His remarks show that he has not yet found time to examine the bay and the country lying between Port Jackson and Port Hacking, otherwise there would not be any occasion for his surprise at my description of it, which, by the way, is not the result of any "enthusiasm," but of repeated observation, made for the purpose of realising the accounts of it given by Cook, Phillip, and Péron.

The singular recklessness of statement which characterises Mr. Traill's sketches of the interior will be found repeated in his references to our history. He makes it plain enough that he has not seen the country he undertakes to describe; yet he shows still more clearly that he has not read the books to which he refers with as much confidence as if he had made them the subject of a life-long study. He tells us, for instance, that "Phillip, Hunter, Collins, and Tench have each left descriptions of his struggles to penetrate the country." He could not have written that sentence if he had read Collins, because Collins left no description of his struggles. In another sentence he shows that he has not read Hunter, otherwise he could not have credited him with "a certain graphic picturesqueness of diction," seeing that his diction is neither graphic nor picturesque, but absurdly the reverse. In a third sentence he shows that he has not read Tench, otherwise he could not write that his narrative "anticipated the more interesting passages" in Phillip's letters. Phillip's letters are no more anticipated by Tench than Oliver Cromwell's letters were anticipated by Hume. How could they be, in either case?

It is not surprising to find that a writer who does not take the trouble to verify his statements in such matter should be still more reckless on other occasions. He disposes of the whole collection of our records as "a mass of fresh material, which contains little that was fresh and of what was new, but a minute proportion is intrinsically interesting." And he assures his readers that the old chronicles written by Collins and his contemporaries, combined with "the ordinary newspapers and a series of ephemeral magazines and other publications," have already given to the world all that was worth knowing about the foundation of the colony. It may be true that Mr. Traill personally cannot find anything to interest him in our records; but to say that they contain "little that was new" is a misrepresentation. If there was "little that was new," and still less that was "intrinsically interesting" in them, there was no reason why he should have taken the trouble to re-write the contents of my pages at such length, and with so much effort to interest his reader. His only excuse for occupying so much space was his evident belief that the matter was essentially new, and therefore interesting.

Perhaps I may be allowed to say here that, in my opinion, a more interesting collection of records has not been published in England for many years past.

I do not think it necessary to follow Mr. Traill in all the intricate ramification of his argument. It is not likely that any reader of the book which he has remorselessly hurled to perdition "amidst the Homeric laughter of the gods and the titters of obsequious mortals," will be inclined to accept the remarkable scale of measurement which would not allow more than "a dozen pages" in which to tell the story of the foundation of the colony. It would be as much a waste of time to argue that point as it would be to discuss the amusing bit of French criticism in which we are told that "un aspect enchanteur" is a significant variation from "un aspect enchantant;" or to dissect the curious jumble of "the Eastern story" about the withered leaves; or to examine the "romantic imaginings" in which the country beyond the Blue Mountains is described as "swarming with the descendants of the lost tribes of Israel;" or to consider whether a historian, however much he may be "gifted with opportunities," can properly be charged with abdicating the dignity of his functions when he seeks to illustrate the social life of the period he is treating. These things are matters on which Mr. Traill may be left to enjoy his own opinion. For the rest, I have not forgotten that, as Dr. Johnson said, "the place of books in the public estimation is fixed, not by what is written about them, but by what is written in them." I am, &c.,

A FINANCE COMMITTEE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—As a native of this colony, and having some years' experience of official life in our Colonial Government Service, I feel pleased with the suggestion made by Dr. Garran, on presentation of the Appropriation Bill from the Lower to the Upper House. The Doctor has pointed out—and very properly so—that the time has arrived when a finance committee of practical men should be appointed to inquire minutely into every item about to be placed upon the Estimates, and before going before the Cabinet. Indeed, the loose system at present is for the heads of sub-departments to put amounts down without any regard to economy, caring not two straws as it comes not out of their pockets. I have no hesitation in saying that if such a committee were appointed our expenditure would be more than brought within our income and our finances would be placed upon a sounder basis. I think it will be admitted that the wrangling we have from day to day as to the solvency of the colony, is both discreditable and damaging to our best interests, and justify the Doctor's suggestion being adopted. We have a Public Works Committee; why should we not have a committee to say whether the finances would or would not justify carrying out of such works? The doctor speaks of the expense of the Civil Service. I may direct attention to one useless and expensive department, viz., the Colonial Stores, where it takes £3000 per annum in salaries for the disbursement of £100,000. Without further comment I leave the public to judge. I am, &c.,

THE ILLAWARRA LINE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I crave permission through the columns of your great paper to ventilate a grievance which we, the residents of the Illawarra line, have at present and, in fact, have been suffering from for a long time. It is the wretched accommodation provided for second-class passengers on this line. Now, sir, I have travelled on many railway lines, both in the colonies and in England, but never on any line did I see such horrid accommodation as we get on this line. At first the long American cars ran on this line, but shortly after the new Commissioners took office they were withdrawn, and were succeeded by cars of a smaller type, the majority of which have never felt the touch of the paint-brush since they were made, and whose sides and roofs are covered with dirt that would lead anyone to think that before they came to the Illawarra line they did duty in the coal trade to Newcastle. Woe be to the lady with a white dress who travels in them; but now, to make it worse, the best of these are taken off, and what is known as the old third-class cars are trotted out to do duty—cars which have been lying at the railway yards exposed to all weathers, for how many years only the railway officials know, cars which I unhesitatingly say are a disgrace to any railway company in the world, and I doubt if there is any line where such ancient stock are doing duty. Now, perhaps as you are aware, Sir, these cars are perfectly open, no windows nor shelter of any kind at the sides; consequently the occupants are exposed to all weather, and several times during the past week have I seen ladies riding in them, with their sunshades open to protect them from the hot rays of the sun. They are entirely devoid of cushions or any other comfort, and if you have the misfortune to ride facing the engine you are literally covered with smoke and ashes, which blow in at the sides. If the department is short of rolling-stock, and these cars, which are in reality third-class cars, have to be used, then in all fairness to the travellers let the authorities charge third-class fares. Another thing residents along this line wish to know, is, why this line should have the exclusive use of these magnificent cars, as they are never seen on any other line? Why not give the people on the other lines a treat occasionally, not reserve all the good things for the Illawarra line? Hoping that the ventilation of this through the columns of your valuable paper may bring about a remedy,

I am, &c., A CONSTANT TRAVELLER.

WOOL ROBBERIES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Will you, through the medium of your columns, direct the attention of wool buyers and fellmongers to a band of ruffians who are making regular raids on woolscouring establishments around Sydney. On Friday night last three of this gang, having gained access to my woolscouring works at Rose Valley, Waterloo, were leaving with a large quantity of wool and were stopped by one of my most trustworthy employees, Edward Morris; thereupon two of the thieves who had been hiding behind some sheds sprang at Morris and attacked him with a knife, with the result that in protecting himself and his master's property the man received a serious wound across the wrist, in which it was found necessary to put six stitches by a surgeon at the hospital. The men were not recognised, and I would thank you if you will give publicity to the fact that I am willing to give a reward of fifty pounds (£50) for evidence that will convict these ruffians. Several robberies of wool and sheepskins have lately been reported, though few arrests have been made. It is evident that the thieves must have very little difficulty in disposing of the material; and I would therefore suggest that commission agents and brokers should exercise the very greatest care and discretion when accepting small or supsicious consignments. By so doing they might help to put down these robberies. I am, &c.,

FUGITIVE NOTES.

The Governor of Queensland is credited with saying that in order to be a first-class soldier it is not necessary for a man to be a first-class shot. This might have held good in the days (not so long ago) when to hit a trooper at fifty yards was a feat of which few men in a regiment could boast. Those were the times when unhesitating obedience was the one requisite in a soldier. He had no individuality, no need for intelligence. Indeed, more than once in a British regiment a petty officer might have been heard addressing the rank-and-file somewhat after this fashion:—"Oh, you thought so, did you? And who the —— authorised you to think? There are men well paid to do that for you. You thought so! What's the service coming to?" In fact, the present writer once heard a man say to the non-commissioned officer, who was censuring him: "Beg pardon, Sergeant, but a private soldier's only supposed to know when he's hungry." As the range, accuracy, and rapidity of arms have increased, intelligence had to keep in step, or efficiency suffered. And now for good shooting. What with recent developments in small arms, in projectiles, and in powder, it is not too much to say that the time is almost at hand when a few cool, courageous, and highly-trained marksmen will be able to bar the advance of ten, perhaps a hundred times, their number. This is what is rapidly coming to pass: that the true gauge of a soldier's efficiency (apart, of course, from discipline and pluck) will be his capacity for picking off a man at a mile.

And now a new terror is to be added to tram-travelling in Sydney. It was not enough that you were liable to be fined for journeying without tickets, for selling them to a fellow-passenger, or for addressing the guard without taking off your hat. To get out and shove was occasionally expected of you when the rails were slippery or the ascent steep. All this was borne with good-natured equanimity; but the last outrage promises to bring things to a climax, and show once for all whether the time-honoured boast of Britons regarding their aversion to slavery has any real foundation in fact, or is but an idle figure of speech. In a word, a contract is about to be let for advertising on the backs of tram tickets. The authorities are evidently unaware of the heart-burning to which the new scheme will inevitably lead. Two persons—A and B say—are in the same line as mercers, tailors, butchers, or what not. A secures the tram contract. Consider the feelings of B, who, as well as his family, travels constantly to and fro, on finding himself the unwilling medium by means of which his rival's business is advertised. They are tailors, for example, and take a not unnatural pride in the material and cut of the goods supplied by them. In the interest of peace and goodwill, it may be asked if anything is better calculated to stir up strife in a young community than for B to find on the tickets that bring him home to his wife and loved ones,—"N.B.—Unlike the articles supplied by dishonest tradesmen, all goods leaving this establishment are thoroughly shrunk." It is the poor wives will suffer. No man obliged to carry such a notice will be a fit companion for any woman.

In connection with the late boating accident a man writes to the papers to say that the presence of ladies in sailing boats is a distinct good "if only in preventing the exhibition of bare feet and dirty legs by gentlemen on board." Observe how the matter stands: On a windy day, in a harbour as subject as Sydney's to sudden squalls, the only method of enjoying a few hours' sailing with comfort and comparative safety is by wearing as little clothes as possible (consonant, of course, with propriety), and, above all, going barefooted. To wear boots while sailing in a small boat in squally weather is midsummer madness. If the writer of the letter referred to ever tried to swim in heavy bluchers he would understand the reason. To court danger rather than bare your ankles is prudery in excelsis. Nor is this all. For many reasons, women should never go a sailing when the weather is at all threatening. Through some unaccountable cause, few girls are taught to swim, so that the overturn which to most young men seldom means more than a sound ducking, is but too frequently death to the females. It is probable that out of 100 women picked up at random in the streets not half a dozen could save themselves if they happened to fall into six feet of water within three yards of the shore. It is this unpardonable negligence regarding an easily-acquired and valuable accomplishment that makes the presence of women in small boats a source of all-round danger to themselves and to their companions. But the presence of ladies to be desired, lest men went without shoes and stockings! It is not so long since two young women in a boat allowed a man to drown in their presence. They wouldn't save him as he was partially nude. There is surely a point beyond which prudery becomes indelicacy. The person who would let a drowning man perish because he was not presentable in a drawing-room may yet be discovered in Sydney.

In her "Recollections," in Murray's Magazine, Mrs. Kendal tells of Mr. Ira Aldridge, who, as Othello, "used to take Desdemona out of bed by her hair, and drag her round the stage before he smothered her." It has frequently been remarked that no more efficacious way exists for bringing persons up than by the hair. It is bad enough to be suffocated for a crime of which you are innocent, but to be brought before the public by the fringe, preparatory to the final catastrophe, is surely enough to make ladies reflect whether, with Mr. Aldridge as the Moor, a carefully-dressed mop would not afford him opportunities which he would look for in vain from a modern young woman. At the same time, so many reminiscences are being published at the present, especially by leading members of the theatrical profession, that there is no great uncharitableness in supposing some of the incidents to be unconsciously coloured or exaggerated. Take the case of Mr. Aldridge as detailed by Mrs. Kendal. As no mention is made of any destructive agent beyond the traditional pillow, it is to be presumed that the unhallowed work of destroying his attached wife was consummated in the customary way. But, surely, a husband who would not hesitate to drag his wife round a spacious stage by the hair would never be content with an ordinary pillow for the final act. He would certainly stand out for a bale of wool, or at least a straw mattress.

Another reminiscence of the drama—this time from China. At Foochow, the other day, a piece of more than ordinary interest was in progress. It was when excitement was at its height—when the seven days' performance was about being brought to a close by the decapitation of the leading supernumeraries—that the stage, which projected over the river, gave way, and in a moment the whole combination (prompters, actors, property-men, dragons and tumblers) were battling with the waters of the Min-Kiang, and bawling for buoys. You see, whatever we Westerns do or attempt, there is always the mortification of knowing that the Chinese were before us. It was so with the mariner's compass; it was so with paper, with printing, and with gunpowder. In poetry, too, these ingenious people had epics of a hundred volumes in length, and eclogues of pastoral simplicity epochs before Homer sang of battles, or Virgil of bullocks. In theatrical matters, too, we are simply children compared with them. With them it is not uncommon for a lad to see the first scene in a new play and return a broken-down man from Australia to find the piece but half-way through. Then look at this Foochow business. Mean to say 'twasn't a put-up job—the author of the play being anxious to terminate his piece by a general scramble? The Chinese are not such fools as to build a stage over a river for nothing. Alas! if some of the companies that have visited Australia from time to time had only happened to be in the east, and that the stream ran like a mill-race! But it's stupid to look for real happiness in this life. You're bound to be disappointed.

The death is announced of Mr. Gaston Murray, an actor who has enjoyed considerable popularity. He was born in London in 1826, and made his first appearance on the stage at Glasgow in 1854.

ART, MUSIC, AND THE DRAMA.

"Report me and my cause aright."—HAMLET.

The proprietors of the Sydney Mail present to the subscribers to the journal this year a Christmas picture, the most interesting, perhaps, that has ever gone from their office. The subject is Australian, and the colouring, fortunately, suggests Australian tints also. The picture is called "Coaching in Australia," and represents a bush public-house, with passengers grouped about waiting for the coach, which is just coming down the hill full speed. The original was painted by Messrs. A. H. Fullwood and Frank Mahony for the Sydney Mail, and is reproduced by English lithographers. Mr. Fullwood's eye for quiet effect and power of composition is observable; and Mr. Mahoney's sturdy and accurate talent for pourtraying animal life has genial play. One horse stands at a trough, from which a dog is also drinking; four others are being prepared for the coach, on one a woman sits, and there are four with the coach. The picture is thoroughly natural and unconventional. The figures of the people waiting are well drawn, and the dramatic arrangement is good. In landscape and humanity the story is told sympathetically, and the subscribers of the paper may be congratulated on having presented to them so worthy a reproduction of a pleasantly-conceived subject. It is a change from the single-figure, allegorical, and one-idea subjects so often given with the Christmas numbers of illustrated journals.

Artists are unconventional people, and are, despite general suspicion on the point, free from outward excess of sentiment. Yet one does not altogether believe in their unconventionalism or their indifference to sentiment. In both things they are inclined to go to extremes. I have known artists all my life, and I have always found them the best of fellows and the warmest of friends. But as for the unconventional, don't believe it a bit. They are only so in little things, in the accidence of life; their rebellion against society is Lilliputian, not Cromwellian. Just think of that banquet of last Saturday night. The only unconventional thing in it was the speech of the president; and, sound as it was, and able as it was, the unconventional character of it jarred a little. Only once did he become conventional, and then he was eloquent, and that was in reply to the toast to his own name. It was strange that the speeches of sentiment came from hard-headed politicians. Mr. Wise, for instance, made a clever and epigrammatic speech, filled with sentiment that caused some of the artists to run confusedly to the hiding-places of their modesty. Mr. Piguenit, the painter of that delightful picture "The Upper Nepean," bowed his head, Mr. Ashton blushed while he turned as if for protection to Mr. Christie Murray, and Mr. Hopkins hid his face in the cloud from a strong Habana. But let it be known that artists are in fact full of sentiment, and are not, in fact, nearly so conventional as they appear.

If any artist chose to deal in sentiment last Saturday night, he might have with little art produced a profound impression. There have fallen into my hands the records of the origin of the Art Society, and the account of the first exhibition. On the 20th of April, 1880, the present society was formed. Its chief founders were Arthur Collingridge and his brother George, whose work yet graces the walls of the Art Society's Rooms. Turning to the first list of members, I only recognise two familiar names—those of Charles H. Hunt and Alfred Clint (now of Her Majesty's Theatre). But looking at the catalogue of the first exhibition, held in December, 1880, at the Garden Palace, there appear a number who are faithful "working members" still—W. C. Piguenit, Mons. L. Henri, Charles E. Hern, Mrs. M. Stoddard, and William Kemp. The remaining 80 or 90 are unfamiliar to me. The old race of artists seems to have gone, and a new race come among us. Those who dug or subscribed to the digging of the foundation—all, save a few—have dropped out of the ranks. "We have the Pyrrhic dance yet, where is the Pyrrhic phalanx gone?" There is no nobler work than that of pioneering in the fine arts, and I venture to say that one who reads aright the records of the early struggles of art and artists here cannot but applaud any line such as this that would pay a tribute of respect to the first brave toilers, nor yet any that would not rejoice that the work of the old workers and the new has fallen on happier times. And two of the most honoured names are those of Arthur Collingridge and George Collingridge.

Concert-giving can hardly be looked upon now-a-days as the profitable speculation it used to be. Many cases have recently occurred of even benefit concerts, where performers, &c., gave gratuitous services, from which no substantial gains have resulted, so small was the attendance and so limited the sale of tickets. During the present week the discontinuance of the admirable promenade concerts given at the Darlinghurst Hall has been recorded, the sole cause of their abandonment being the failure of the public to support them, notwithstanding their intrinsic excellence. It is far less easy to account for the poorness of the attendance at these concerts than at some of the Santley concerts. In the latter case the cause may be ascribed with tolerable certainty to the sameness of the programmes. Between one concert and another there was at first just about the same sort and amount of difference as between tweedledum and tweedledee. In this matter, at any rate, the Sydney public cannot be blamed for not recognising and supporting a great artist, for at the former season of the Santley concerts there was plenty of enthusiasm shown, and full support was given until everybody had heard all the pieces that formed the staple musical diet provided. Attention was called to this lack of variety in the programmes in the Herald critique of last Monday. At the very next concert novelties were brought forward, and the audience at once increased. On Thursday there was a complete change of programme, and again there was a fresh response on the part of the public, the audience on that evening being larger than before.

It can hardly be questioned that variety is an essential requisite in amusement. Without change there is no recreation. It is not only necessary, if a succession of concerts is to be successful, that the concerts should differ from one another; it is equally necessary that public concerts should differ from the music of the family circle if people are to be attracted from their homes to spend their afternoons or evenings in listening to music in a public hall. It is a consideration which cannot be ignored, that, in these days of ours, musical study and cultivation is so general—so universal, indeed—that there are few persons who cannot get plenty of music among their immediate friends. This being so, concert managers ought to take good care that what they offer to the people shall be something different from that with which the people can supply themselves. It is not sufficient for public performances to be of superior quality to private performances, for genuine musical taste has not so far progressed that difference in respect of quality alone is, as yet, much regarded. Concerts must be made different in style and character from the class of music obtainable in the drawing-room if they are to secure success and support, as well as to deserve them.

In the orchestral concerts, the first of which is to take place this afternoon, ought to be found all the essentials of attractiveness. It is too risky a matter to attempt to prognosticate the fate of the venture, but it is quite safe to assert that success will be deserved. To begin with, the concerts ought to prove attractive if only for the reason that they will be unlike ordinary entertainments, and will provide something that people cannot get elsewhere. Then it is certain that the music will be of the best, and it cannot be doubted that it will be adequately performed. The orchestra will be even larger than that which Mr. Cowen brought from Melbourne at the beginning of the year, and is composed of the best artists procurable, including many who were in the Cowen Orchestra. In Signor Hazon we have an orchestral conductor of rare ability, as was fully recognised when he came here a couple of years or so ago as conductor of the Italian Opera Company. When he came, fresh from La Scala, at Milan, everybody acknowledged his merits, and it was thought to be a great thing to have so talented a maestro amongst us. Such matters ought not to be forgotten simply because he is now a resident of the city. It is surprising that there is not more excitement about the concerts than is apparent. If we have any patriotism about us, to-day's concert ought to be considered a more notable occasion than the opening of the Cowen concerts. It is a far greater thing for us to have raised a grand orchestra from our own resources than to borrow one from a neighbouring colony. Everyone hastened to the former concerts, knowing that it was a case of now or never. The same cause ought to operate in the present case, for of course the orchestra will be soon disbanded if the concerts be not supported.

Bumbledom is busy in the theatrical world of Melbourne. It is crying out against the employment of children on the stage. Why or wherefor, if not for official pomposity only, no one knows. The people who interfere in these matters are invariably ignorant on the point in question. They imagine an evil, and forthwith seek to redress that which needs no remedy. They do not stop to consider, but fly off at a tangent, and create a whirlwind of nothingness. If they were really able to grapple with the subject, they would be aware that the majority of young folks who are employed on the stage lead far healthier, brighter, lives than they otherwise would do. This fact has recently been attested in London by Henry Irving and Augustus Harris, who, surely, may be permitted to know the truth of this question. The children who appear in the Drury Lane Christmas annual have a school of their own, with competent teachers; they must, from the duties imposed upon them by their work, be clean. Most of them, but for their pantomime engagement, would remain unschooled and unkempt, sprawling in the gutter; instead of which they lead, for the time being, lives which are happy. The children enjoy their work, and they are also breadwinners. Their brains are not overtaxed by what little they have to learn for their appearance on the stage, as is often the case when they attend the Governmental schools. They are not, as a body, called upon to speak or to play individual parts. They are simply required to dance, and to sing in chorus, a form of work at which they are apt, and in which they delight. What is true of the stage-child in London is equally true of it in Australia. It is extremely well cared for here by the manager.

So far, then, of children in general on the stage. Without doubt, however, children could be dispensed with in regard to pantomimes and similar entertainments; but if a child of tender years were forbidden the stage there would be a serious injury done to art. In order to prove this we do not need to travel far. The children in "A Doll's House" were necessary to the play. Without them Melbourne play-goers could not have had an opportunity of forming their own opinion of Ibsen's "social study." For "Human Nature," recently revived in Melbourne, a child is essential. Without a child-actress it would not be possible to present to the public a stage version of Mrs. Hodgson Burnett's charming novel, "Little Lord Fauntleroy," and what would become of Mr. Rignold's promised revival of a "Midsummer Night's Dream" if he could not employ children for the fairy parts? The elfish Puck, Titania and Oberon, with their attendant sprites, lose their charm when they are enacted by matured players. This beautiful comedy formed one of the most artistic and successful of Shakespearean revivals of recent years, when it was produced by the late Edward Saker at Liverpool in 1880, when all the fairy parts were taken by children. Fairies who are described by the dramatist as capable of creeping into acorn cups and hanging dewdrops in the ears of cowslips, are much nearer the poet's ideal when played by children than when they are "embodied and portrayed by ballet-girls, more or less muscular, and as little like spiritual creatures as well can be," as was the case in Samuel Phelps' revival at the Gaiety Theatre in 1875. Instance upon instance could be multiplied where children are a necessity to plays.

Nor is this all. Abolish the stage-child, and you run the risk of barring many a good actress from the theatre. Ellen Terry, Mrs. Kendal (Madge Robertson), Mrs. Bancroft (Marie Wilton) were all acting when they were absolute children. It cannot be denied that the experience which they thus gained helped to make them the great actresses they now are. The art of acting is not easily acquired. Truly, genius will not be denied, and there occasionally arises some person who does not appear before the public until he has passed his childhood. This was the case with David Garrick, who did not act until he was twenty-six years of age. But such examples are few and far between, and almost unknown in the case of an actress. For an actress has much more to learn than the male player, be she so ever gifted. It thus falls out that early training is her surest road to success. If a woman goes on the stage comparatively late in life, she may enchant by the beauty of her face or the music of her voice, but she never reaches the level of an actress. Mrs. Langtry, for instance, drew the public by these means—and the photographer—and she has made a fortune by appearing in stage parts, but she can hardly be called an actress in the true sense of the word. One of the best actresses at the present time in Australia is a lady who spoke her first lines on Drury Lane stage at the age of four years. Nor should it be forgotten that the two clever and distinguished Australian singer-actresses—Miss Nellie Stewart and Miss Flora Graupner—have been at work almost since mere babyhood.

TRIUMVIR.

FOR THE TRUTH'S SAKE.

By Faustine.

From first to last, as we all acknowledge, there is no fairer thing than truth. It is the alpha and omega, the basis and the superstructure, the root and the flower of all that goes to make up character. It is more than faith, more than love, more than religion; or, indeed, we might say that it is the living essence of all three.

But what is truth? (Somewhat annoying that at this juncture the immortal Chadband will intrude himself upon our memory, and trip us up, with his sanctimonious whine, his rotund, greasy countenance, and his eternal iteration of the question I have just propounded—only he pronounced it "terewth"—and if the "dearly beloved brethren" he was always addressing this conundrum to had been "smart" they might have answered and exemplified the theory at the same time by designating it as "everything that wasn't Chadband." But they were evidently carried away by the vastness of the subject, and history recordeth no reply.) But to proceed. It is very apparent to an observant eye that truth with a great many people, means rather lip accuracy than heart cleansing—the symbol in place of the substance. Such individuals will strain at a gnat and swallow a camel. They are very exact as to figures—mathematically faultless as regards a definition of their neighbours' principles, which somehow they generally seem to understand better than their own, but in matters of personal conduct—large matters too, now and then—they show a distinct laxity, and a decided objection to run in any such narrow groove as the good old precept "Love your neighbour as yourself" might be supposed to mark out for them.

I know some excruciatingly truthful people who never forget to tell you that you are getting older, and losing your good looks—that your coat doesn't fit—or that they just heard somebody say that you were in certain little difficulties. "Of course, my dear fellow, it won't go any further!" "Oh, and did you see that your name was left out of the list of those who had the honour of," &c., &c., &c.? From all such truthtellers, I say emphatically, "Heaven defend us!" They don't find pleasant cheery little bits of news quite so easy to remember, I notice. They are like a little girl I knew, who, when she was told to write something in her copybook about "truth, hope, and love," commenced with finer brevity than spelling—"Trooth is always disagreeabul." What then, after all, is that shifting, rainbow-coloured, illusive thing we call truth? I should say that, at its best, it is the sincere expression, both in words and actions, of honest individual opinion, the pure and single-minded effort to be swayed by no material advantage, but to live life out straight from one's inner consciousness of what is good and worthy; the giving to the human race the best and noblest of which one is capable, unadulterated by any hidden or ulterior motives of self-seeking or self-esteem. For truth can be but comparative, after all. What is the divinist gospel to one man, is the most shallow falsehood to another. We see that fact illustrated everywhere—in our churches, in our colleges, in our political institutions, in the very discussion that has been filling the papers every day lately on the great free-trade and Sunday questions. In these, as in all such controversies, the temptation of course is to fight, not for truth pure and simple, but for victory—to distort facts, to give half-truths, to take, in a word, every advantage that a weak spot in an opponent's armour may give. The thoroughly honourable man will be watchful over himself that he may not fail in any of these particulars. He will listen calmly to his adversary's statements, weigh them carefully and judicially, acknowledge their good points, be only justly severe upon their bad. And he will beware of those before-mentioned aggravating half-truths, as ungenerous as they are difficult to bear with equanimity.

"For a lie that is all a lie, may be met and fought with outright;
But a lie that is half the truth is a harder matter to fight."

And, following the same rule, that truth is truth purely by comparison, and in proportion as it chimes in with the thoughts, tendencies, and surroundings of a given period, we find that what is accepted as absolutely sacred in one generation, is rejected by the next. A generation, nay a year, a month, a day has been found sufficient to change the entire aspect of a theory that has been regarded as immutable for centuries. What have been the deities of the past are the myths of the present. Truths that made our ancestors' hearts burn within them have passed into nursery rhymes for our children's amusement. And, in the same way, those things that to us appear fixed as Nature herself, to our descendants will be obsolete traditions. And underneath it all

"The tide of time flows sparkling,
The tide of time flows darkling,"

And will flow on until Time itself is lost in the great forever.

But because ancient truths have crystallised for us into mythologies—because the gods have descended from their Olympus and become mere men—we must not, therefore, be hard upon that past, or cease to do it grateful reverence; for it is the storehouse of all our present knowledge: all our science, our art, our civilisation, we owe to it, and it alone. "The most fatal error is to believe that one serves one's country by calumniating those who founded it," says a great French writer of modern days. "All ages of a nation are leaves of the self-same book. The true men of progress are those who profess as their starting-point a profound respect for the past. All that we do, all that we are, is the outcome of ages of labour." It seems to me that what men and women should aim at is a truth that lies deeper than adherence to theoretical rules, a subservience to certain given tenets of belief and action. There should be an attitude of continued moral uprightness, a clear eye turned towards Heaven, a pure heart fixed on worthy ideals. That carping spirit by which we measure a man by some chance speech that sounds false, when we know the whole nature of the speaker to be true, is unworthy of us as fellow-workers and fellow-sufferers in the great scheme of humanity. In this, as in everything else, the tendency is so much towards judging by the letter of a thing, rather than the spirit, and yet "the letter kills, and the spirit giveth life." To give an example—Rénan, after seceding from the Catholic Church, in which he was educated and for which he was destined, still clung to the old forms of speech, and even of worship. "His love of using the old terms that are dear to so many devout hearts," says Mr. Moncure Conway, in speaking of Rénan's Recollections, "comes of his profound compassionateness, felt most for those bereaved of their faith. A little time ago, when his friend Littre, the Positivist, was buried by the family with Catholic rites, the aspersoir passed round the grave from hand to hand, and came to Rénan, who, like the rest, sprinkled some hot water upon the coffin. There were cries of 'shame' among the freethinkers present: but that which would have been mere compliance in most people, in him was due rather to a natural inability to wound those who are parting for ever with their beloved." . . . "He speaks so low," continues the commentator, "so tenderly of the dying, and says all he can to soften the agony of the near, inevitable parting; he will even fall in a little with such illusions rather than embittar such painful moments." We can only feel, when we read of this little incident, that if Rénan's act of tender compliance on this occasion was one that left him false to his convictions, it was at least a lie like Uncle Toby's, which the recording angel, in registering, dropped a tear upon and blotted out for ever.

Bluntness and curtness may pass for truth with a certain class of people; but it is possible that even "Truthful James" himself, who can only establish his claim to that high-sounding appellation by such qualities, might have discovered that he was seriously out of his element at Arthur's "Round Table." We should hardly consider either Mark Twain's painfully frank individual, who was deputed to "break the news gently" to a lady of her husband's sudden death, a model of knightly chivalry, who, on arriving at the house of the bereaved one, bellows out, when the door is opened, "Does the Widder Bagley live here?"

"No, sir; but Mrs. Bagley does."

"Oh, she don't, don't she?" says the soft consoler. "Wall, I know she does: but it don't matter. You just go and tell her that I've got the old Judge curled up outside in this cart, and nothin' 'ull do him any good but a coroner's inquest."

"For the truth's sake!" Simple words, but twisted and tortured into how many different interpretations. To the martyrs of old they had a stern significance. They meant hard and bitter persecution, taunts and insults, imprisonment (the stake and the faggot), to the bigot isolation, coldness, darkness where there should be light, hatred where there should be love. To the ascetic they brought, and still bring, prayer and fasting, and lonely vigils—a life of sighs, founded on the belief that "the world is dross and all that it contains"—self-abnegation, for selfish, because personal ends. The pure-hearted patriot has found, often, that they signify coldness and neglect, following upon honours and caresses, while to the time-server they present a useful shibboleth, wherewith to gain power, and fame, and wordly distinction. Too frequently on the lips of such a one as this to find any abiding place within the heart. The public agitator finds them powerful in swaying the hearts and minds of his hearers to enthusiasm or to passion. At election times we know the air absolutely rings with variations on the same theme. But underneath the selfishness, and the artificiality, and the falseness, that meet the eye and ear at every turn, a still, small voice makes itself heard—the voice of those who are nobly striving, not to "talk" the truth, but to live it; not to enrich and ennoble self, but to pour out their very heart's blood for the good of the sorrowing, suffering world—that world that stands as sorely in need of such regenerators now as it did more than 18 centuries ago, when Jesus Christ, who loved the truth so well as to die for it, gave a new and glorious lustre to its sacred name.

It appears that while as lately as 1873 the imports of tea grown in Ceylon amounted to no more than 23lb., by 1885 they had reached 3,750,000lb. Last year they rose to 20,500,000lb., and it is estimated that by the close of the present year they will have reached the astonishing total of 40,000,000lb. In the production of Indian tea the advance is no less remarkable, as shown by the statistics of the last 20 years. In 1868 the imports were, in round numbers, 8,000,000lb.; in 1878 they were 36,000,000lb.; and in 1888 they were 92,000,000lb. The estimate for 1889 is 105,000,000lb. This vast increase of British production is at the expense of the Chinese tea-grower, whose part in ministering to English consumption is a vanishing quantity. The above estimates appear likely to be fulfilled, as the first seven months of the present year the total imports of Assam and Indian tea amounted to 32,557,000lb., as compared with 30,922,000lb., in the same period last year, and the total imports of Ceylon tea were 19,130,000lb., against 10,891,000lb. last year.

FROM MY WINDOW.

By Vaurien.

With fairly developed sight and hearing it is remarkable the number of interesting things that can be seen and heard from a window. A keen sense of smell, too, occasionally enhances the pleasure, especially during the present period of the year, when the voice of Spring is in the air, her footprints and handiwork on the sward. It is but right to say, however, that even in this early time there are occasions when sharpness of smell is rather a drawback than an aid to enjoyment, especially if the olfactory organ focussing it happens to be of a roomy and sensitive character. This is but another way of saying that open windows are not always the most judicious outlooks for persons with generous and sensitive noses. Thus it is that Nature, in her splendid impartiality, makes amends in one direction for the advantages she has curtailed or destroyed in another. The blind girl at her harp or piano derives, from the sounds arising from her fingers' contact with strings or keys, a pleasure far beyond that of one who reads the notes from the page in front. In like manner, the individual whom fate has treated unkindly in the matter of nose has every now and then much to be thankful for as he raises his lattice and looks out upon the world.

My window looks west, so that I can see at a glance when either morning or evening sun is approaching the horizon, or has fairly reached it. This merely shows that circumstantial evidence is often as convincing as the most direct testimony. For the tipping with light of the western mountain tops is just as strong a proof of morning's coming as the real presence of the sun himself on the same summits is of evenings. At the Winter Palace fête in Petersburg the stranger whose back was to the door by which the Sovereign entered had no difficulty in concluding from the faces before him that the Czar was approaching. Strange that the appearance of one little mite at an open door should have the effect of changing in a moment the whole bearing, demeanour, attitude, and appearance of hundreds of other wee mites, many of them, likely enough, much superior to him in all that constitutes real greatness. But of all unprofitable pursuits, there is none can compare with this habit of speculating on human eccentricities. It is dangerous, too, for wise men have been known to become morose, or even mad, in their endeavours to sound with the tiny plummets of common sense the fathomless depths of human credulity and folly. Out over the Park my window looks, and while the bulk of the citizens are cosily abed, dreaming, mayhap, of stocks and shares, of trade, bank balances, and bills, the sun having finished with one hemisphere, thinks it time to look in upon another, as if to make sure that no section of men's children should have cause to complain of his tardiness or partiality. For awhile he confines himself to the mountains, but before long tall suburban chimneys put on a coat of sunshine, much as men do who would look fair before the world while black and sooty within. In a little there is sunlight everywhere, the broad champaign intervening between coast and mountain range becoming literally swathed in brightness. Then the silence and repose give place to noise and movement, till, long before the lane at the back pours out its contingent of half-naked children to swell the voices of the morning, everybody except the incurably indolent appears to be awake and demonstrative.

A word concerning these same children at the back. Whether it is that wide thoroughfares are unpropitious to infant life it would be hard to say in the present state of our knowledge. It may be that great width of street impresses the youthful mind with a sense of awe—a feeling that breadth and uproar do not go well together. At all events, as the highway narrows fecundity seems to increase, and with it the maddening clatter that makes juvenile life one prolonged hubbub, apparently indulged in for no discoverable reason beyond a morbid determination to drive persons of mature years to distraction. At length, when the houses come so close together as to make it easy for families living on opposite sides to exchange newspapers, morning greetings, and obtrusive badinage from the upper windows, the children revel in unchecked luxuriance and restricted apparel. This connection between narrow thoroughfares, superabundant animal spirits, inordinately developed infantile existence, noisy exuberance, and extreme scantiness of attire is a subject which has never yet received the attention it deserved. Take my lane for instance, especially on Sunday morning, when one might reasonably expect decorum of a dignified and unobtrusive kind. Between 7 and 8 a procession forms, headed by an advanced Socialist of about ten. Judging by the conduct of this lad there is but too much reason to believe that by the time he reaches fifteen or so and leaves off attending the neighbouring Public school, he will have pronounced views on many subjects, particularly those bearing on the accumulation of property. On the Sabbath morning he makes his presence known by a protracted and peculiarly offensive performance on an old tea-tray. From his manner of handling this irritating instrument, it is obvious that at one period of his short life he was an ardent admirer of negro minstrelsy, and very probably attended many performances by these eccentric people. The way, indeed, in which he manipulates the bulges on the organ of his choice, and the volume of exasperating sound he extracts from them, mark him down at once as a public enemy of an exceptionally dangerous kind, for all his tender years. For people who love quiet and decency it is far from reassuring to speculate on what he may arrive at in a few years when his fists become larger and he may, perhaps, have discovered or attached a platter of greater dimensions or superior resonance. Once or twice I attempted to reason with this obnoxious child, but as he appeared a pastmaster in pungent sarcasm the attempts ended in complete failure. This failure was not wholly unaccompanied by a suspicion that just behind the door of his homely cottage, and ready to interfere in her offspring's favour should necessity arise, his mother stood with some of the implements of her calling. She appears to be a laundress by profession, and, like many ladies devoted to this industry, she possesses a physical development which goes far to prove that there might be some truth after all in the old-world legends of amazons and their exceptional prowess. The lad's solo has scarcely begun when from neighbouring streets and lanes each door appears to pour upon the highways a detachment of children, all converging on a well-remembered point. Babies of tender years clamour to be carried by the elders; but young and old seem to recognise instinctively what will be required of them when they reach the trysting-place. At length all are assembled, when, due homage having been paid to the soloist, the processions are formed, and each starts on its round of exasperation. The younger members seem to be told off for the comparatively safe duty of bawling at the doors of elderly people too feeble or too reluctant to pursue them. The elders, on the other hand, are expected to make no distinction of persons or places, but to poke their heads between palings, half-closed gates, partially-open windows, and other interstices where their whoopings may be assumed to be effective. In spite of all that Darwin, Wallace, Haeckel, and hosts of others have said regarding the oneness of nature, man's place in the scale of organised beings, and the affinity existing between the genus homo and other genera, there is at least one instance in which the human creature is significantly differentiated from all others. It is in the behaviour of the young. All other animals grow noisier as they get old. Man alone gets more silent with the years. The unceasing chatter of youth becomes gradually superseded by the sedate reticence of age. This is why it is that on Sunday mornings I so frequently lament that the terrible lad with the tea-tray was not a geological epoch old on the day he was born.

In the matutinal twilight, long before it is time to raise the blind, it is strange to lie awake and listen to the roars of the animals in the Zoological Gardens. It is the carnivora only that express longings to be up and doing. The inherited instincts of the fine time they would have about this hour in African forests and Asiatic jungles induce them to express their feelings in a succession of blood-curdling bellowings. Any Zulu or Bengalee that arrived in Sydney late at night and found lodgings near me would soon think himself at home—not it is supererogatory to add, through my proximity; but through the voices of the night that reached him from the throats of his country's cats. It must be distressing for the lions and tigers behind these cruel bars to think that about this time—allowing for the difference in longitude—their friends and relatives at home may be just crouching for a spring on a juicy camelopard whose long neck affords a good mark, or prowling round a native village for any heathen injudiciously bent on sniffing the morning air. This, perhaps, is one of the reasons why the zealous and ever-to-be-admired French missionaries of days gone by found it so hard to induce Hindoos to become Christians. To attend early mass with a tiger behind every bamboo patch to give complete absolution was too much. Mr. Inglis, the late Minister for Public Instruction, can say if there is any truth in the foregoing speculation. Certain it is that, if he cannot give an authoritative opinion on the matter, no one in broad Australia can; for from Carpentaria to Tasmania there is none who knows more of the royal tiger than the member for Armidale, who called upon the terrible creatures under every variety of circumstances—when they were at home, when they were at breakfast, when they were keeping an appointment, and when they were picking their teeth after a sirloin of buffalo. The herbivora, as a rule, are silent, which is little wonder, considering the threats of their powerful neighbours. More poignant than the reflections of a criminal, uncertain whether the morrow will bring him a reprieve or a rope, must be the thoughts of a deer or a camel at the "Zoo" when its slumbers are disturbed by the growls of the great cats. In time no doubt the harmless creatures come to know that their enemies are in safe keeping. Still, it would be pretty fair to affirm that even the most jaded cab horse, if placed for the first time in the vicinity of certain cages, would conclude long before morning that there were worse things in the world than pulling a hansom. Creatures that live on vegetables are generally mild in disposition. This, perhaps, is one reason why a certain monarch went out like a lion, and after a seven-years' trial came in like a lamb. The French, too, assert that one reason why the Englishman was so fond of war was because of his disproportionate meat diet. So far as I remember, at the present moment, there are but three herbivorous animals that are always ready and anxious for a fight—the wild boar, the gorilla, and the rhinoceros. The first devotes most of his spare time to whetting his tusks for possible contingencies, and trying them on the first creature he meets. The second is perennially prepared to have it out with a stranger, while the rhinoceros is a savage pure and simple—a desperate scoundrel that, lest his horn might get rusty, tries it on every living thing within reach. If there happened to be one of these morose animals at the Moore Park Gardens, he would probably amble down of mornings to the carnivora's cages, if only to see what the row was about, and whether there was no prospect of a scuffle. Even the lordly elephant, held in universal respect by reason of his size and strength, has, so to say, to take his life in his hands when the rhinoceros—in coarse language—in on the job.

From this window of mine, as the day breaks, it is sometimes instructive to watch the tram motors sweep along the line in their desire to be in time for the day's work. Much as animals in captivity lose many of the graceful characteristics possessed by them in a state of nature, so the motor in a crowded thoroughfare, with two or three heavily laden cars attached, is but a poor thing compared with the same engine, at daybreak, on a clear line, and having but itself to take care of. With a shriek of unalloyed delight they go by as if anxious, like a rejected suitor, to make up in pace for the slowness and steadiness imposed upon them by their previous attachment. Indeed, until I saw the Sydney motor in its wild state in the early dawn, I entertained a certain amount of contempt for this complicated piece of mechanism. Now, I have nothing but respect for it, and as the man who made a fortune in bacon felt disposed to take off his hat to every pig he met in the street, so I feel half inclined to uncover in the presence of a tram. Then there is a pond where men sail boats and watch the tiny craft with as much interest as if they were rich argosies freighted with the wealth of farthest Ind. There is a wide expanse of ground, too, where men in red and blue periodically appear to learn the noble art of killing. On the whole, with the exception of the ghastly Sabbath processions which have done much to sour a naturally amiable disposition, the daily sights and sounds that reach me as I stand by the open window are replete with interest. But the boy—the unhallowed imp with the tea-tray—yes, he must, he shall be blotted out.

WOMAN'S COLUMN.

"SWEET SEVENTEEN."

Standing some little time ago, while on a visit to a neighbouring colony, near a brilliantly-decorated stall in one of those heterogeneous entertainments of the "bazaar" or "fancy-fair" nature, the tones of a girl's voice struck upon my ear just behind me—struck not altogether pleasantly. I turned, and saw a young lady of some 17 summers, daintily dressed, and, as I happened to know, the daughter of thoroughly well-to-do parents, soliciting a young man—a stranger to her—to buy a little bouquet as a small contribution to the charity for which the whole affair was organised. "Don't you want a buttonhole?" she said, a trifle pertly, and with an affected giggle. The young man addressed smiled, hesitated, and finally seemed inclined to prolong the conversation thus abruptly begun. The girl was pretty, in a coquettish "Dolly Varden" sort of way, and on ordinary occasions he wouldn't have been able to interview a maiden of her class without the "bother" of a formal introduction. Here it could be dispensed with. The opportunity was not to be lost for a little harmless flirtation, and he committed himself to nothing, since he didn't even know her name. He was a nice, gentlemanly-looking young fellow, not at all inclined to be impertinent in any way evidently, but at the same time equally disinclined to superfluous punctiliousness where it was not demanded. So he bridled and laughed a little, and seemed not at all displeased with the situation. "Well, but don't you see," he responded, after taking a little bunch of violets from the basket she held out to him, smelling at it, and putting it back again, "Can't you see I've got an overcoat on? I can't wear flowers in an overcoat, can I? Now, if I could just pull it off and leave it, I'd ——." "My word!" interrupted this self-possessed young woman. "What a fuss about a silly old coat! You just throw it over into our stall—here it is—and I'll take care of it for you! and"—this with a very "fetching" glance—"I'll pin the flowers in for you, too." "Oh, how nice!" said her companion, with an air of admiration and serio-comic rapture. "Come, now, I can't resist that, you know. I'll take a dozen of 'em on those terms." And so these promiscuously made acquaintances bantered each other until I moved away, only that the girl, excited by the unusual liberty she was enjoying, and being but young, began to tremble on the verge of positive vulgarity as the strain was continued.

This little scene, which I saw repeated with variations more than once before I left the busy and animated crowd of people who were passing and repassing, buying, selling, and admiring on all sides of the building, set me thinking, and the result of my thoughts was, what is not always vouchsafed to us for all our meditative efforts, a distinct conclusion. That such publicity for young girls, with the indiscriminate jostling, chaffering, and idle chatter, its manifold opportunities (without extreme watchfulness on the part of guardians, which at such a busy time cannot always be afforded) for making undesirable acquaintances, its display and excitement, the gas-lighted glare and noise of the evenings following upon the fatigue of the days,—all this is calculated to detract from the reserved, modest grace that is the essential charm of young maidenhood. That first exquisite bloom on the peach is as fragile as it is fair, and won't stand many rough touches. Imagine for a moment our own Juliet—the sweetest embodiment of fresh and guileless, yet dignified, girlhood that the immortal bard conceived—imagine her, I say, running round at a "fancy fair"—if they ever had such senseless things in fair Verona—with a basket on her arm, and a vocabulary of somewhat slangy badinage on the tip of her tongue, to force the young Romeos of her day to bud—a rattle, perhaps (I suppose the Verona babies had rattles) or something equally suitable and useful! We cannot. We feel that, dress her in a nineteenth-century costume, place her in the midst of nineteenth-century surroundings and influences, Juliet—the Juliet of our dreams, our ideal maiden—is Juliet still.

In America the case is a little different. We get a new type, the outcome of different conditions. A girl who, with a wider intellectual outlook, and a clearer perception of life as it is, has a frank, bright, open manner, born rather of "self-knowledge and self-respect than of extreme inexperience and youthful naiveté." An American girl is trained from her very infancy to the habit of mixing with men, without any self-consciousness in the matter. Boys and girls go to school together, play, skate, run races, and dance together. Later on, in budding manhood and womanhood, they sit side by side at college; they enter into each other's literary, artistic, professional, or business pursuits, with an ardour that only co-education could produce; they amuse themselves at picnic, ball, or theatre in company, without that important but hard-working factor in old-world civilisation—the chaperone. In a word, they become so accustomed to each other's society that they are in little danger of undue excitement at the mere presence of the most fascinating representative of the opposite sex, unless some tender and special interest should have entwined itself into the relations between them. Consequently, on any public occasion, such as that we have been speaking of, in the shape of fair, bazaar, fête champêtre, or what not; both young men and girls are perfectly natural, they are too accustomed to liberty of action to be otherwise. I may add, however, that there is a class growing up lately in America who, in their sincere admiration for European manners and customs, are introducing a more rigid system of espionage over their young people in all such matters of social etiquette. Whether the change will be beneficial or no, is a question opening out issues too wide to be entered upon in this little paper. We must judge by results; and for myself, I am bound to confess that while a thoroughly well-bred American girl is one of the most charming products of our high civilisation, a blushing, innocent, English 17-year-old is one of the very fairest of God's creations. Perhaps, as is the case in all tropical climates, an Australian girl is more fully developed at that age than those of the more temperate regions, and, as naturally follows, has more confidence—more nonchalance and self-control; but among those who have been well and carefully brought up under the ever-watchful eye of wise and cultivated parents, I have met many who would do honour to the oldest capital in the world. This is not always the case, unfortunately. Among the prosperous middle classes I have noticed often an objectionable tone—a flippancy and forwardness in girls that might well call for very stringent measures in the way of correction. I have seen young ladies of ambitious social tendencies, for some slight breach of what they suppose to be fashionable etiquette, openly snub their estimable mothers, whose touch of genuine homeliness, accentuated by past hard struggles to give their children a better education than had fallen to their own lot,—struck a far pleasanter note in the hearts and minds of the lookers-on than did the "got up" mannerisms of the new generation. It is, "Mother, I do wish you wouldn't say 'How's your children?' It's awful bad grammar." "Mother, I think you might wear a lace cap like Mrs. ——'s, when I've asked you so often. It's so ladylike!" Or, "Ma, don't you see Captain —— raising his hat to you? Do bow; there, I declare he's gone! You never do see anyone I want you to see," &c., &c., &c. Poor badgered, stammering, repentant mother; worried by the critical fads and fancies of tiresome seventeen! And I have noticed girls sometimes, of the most superficial education, who have, perhaps, received a good deal of flattery on the score of cleverness, patronising and criticising a man of known talent in the coolest and most amusing manner,—a man whose lightest utterances carry a force beside which all their poor little accomplishments are but a feather's weight. They don't see that they are making themselves ridiculous, poor children: wisdom will come with years, and with wise and enlightened training, should they be so fortunate as to fall under the influence of such. In the meantime, they may rest assured that their flatterers are their very worst enemies; those who point out their little shortcomings kindly and with tact, their sincerest friends. For, indeed, it is not a pleasing spectacle—that of a girl not yet out of her teens, with all the airs and graces of a mature woman of the world—and it is one seen more frequently in the colonies than in older countries. It is a less agreeable form of self-content than that of the American girl; for while the confidence of the latter is rather the result of high culture, and, perhaps, a little over-training, that of the colonial maiden too often arises from a deficiency in this respect. It may be "old-fashioned" to prefer in a young girl an excess of shyness to over-confidence, but I fancy there are many who would share my taste in that matter.

We would like our Australian girls, one and all, to be so sweet and winning that we might proudly send them forth to grace the most ancient houses of the oldest lands. We would wish them to add to their youth and beauty, and their numberless good qualities, that soft and chastened grace, that reverence for the old and wise, that love for all that is pure and lovely that denote the tender heart and the mind as yet "unspotted from the world." And, in conclusion, we would repeat to every maiden now growing up under the Southern Cross the noble words of that poet who sings above all others the quiet domestic affections, the peaceful home-life, the innocence of happy childhood, the purity and grace of girlhood.—

"Bear a lily in thy hand;
Gates of brass cannot withstand
One touch of that magic wand.
* * * *
Bear through sorrow, wrong, and ruth,
In thy heart the dew of youth,
On thy lips the smile of truth."

UNIVERSITY UNION.

A meeting of the University Union was held last night in the University. Professor Scott presided. A letter was read from the School of Arts Debating Club, asking the Union to appoint two delegates to the conference of debating societies. It was referred to the general committee. Mr. H. Russell read a paper on "The Province of Law." He said he would speak of law as made by legislation; indeed, the paper might have been entitled "The Province of Legislation." The history of civilisation was the history of the growth of science. The day would come when they would be able to tell to a certainty the duration of Ministries and the proper duration of man. He who wished to form a true estimate of the science of sociology would have to revivify the dry bones of history, and at the same time examine carefully the present state of the institutions of man. The one must be used to check the other. The two processes were not independent, but interdependent. The more nearly one went into the foundations of history the more unreliable did history become. The history of the race, broadly, was a history of the individual. They should inquire into the objects that lawmakers had and the objects they ought to have before them. Law was nothing more than the enforcement of conduct of a particular kind. The first law of humanity was self-preservation, then followed preservation of the species, and lastly, preservation of the community. Mr. Russell traced the connection between these three primary laws, and showed how all other laws rose from them. He referred to the time when law would destroy itself, and conscience alone would be man's law. In the debate which followed Professor Scott, Dr. Wilson, Messrs. Windeyer, Garran, Curnow and others took part, and Mr. Russell replied. A vote of thanks to the chairman closed the proceedings.

The total number of lunatics, idiots, and persons of unsound mind in England and Wales on January 1 last was 84,340, being an increase of 1697 on the figures of the previous year. The ratio to the whole population has risen from 28·87 to 29·67 per 10,000, which is the highest point at which it has stood. The rate of recovery to the admissions is calculated at 38·71 per cent.

REVIEWS.

The Jenolan Caves: An Excursion in Australian Wonderland. By Samuel Cook. Eyre and Spottiswoode, London. 1889.

There is a certain spirit of inverted cockneyism abroad which leads those unhappy people whom it afflicts to rhapsodise freely about the blue Ægean or the Bay of Naples, while the natural beauties that lie at their own doors are contemptuously ignored. Persons of this class can talk glibly enough about foreign sights and scenes they have seen or read about, but they are dismally ignorant of those natural wonders, and views surpassingly picturesque, that may be seen without going more than a 24 hours' journey from the centre where has been spent the greater part of their lives. In this, as in many other cases, it is distance that lends enchantment, and the sense of the marvel of nature's wonders, or the beauty of her scenic charms, increases as these are more remote. It is not surprising, of course, that reams have been written about the show-places of the old world, while only here and there a fugitive line has crept into literature to remind us that Australia is not altogether devoid of something of the kind of its own. But perhaps it is just a little strange that even the children in our Public schools grow up knowing more about the Menai Bridge than the Zigzag over the Blue Mountains, and not so conversant with the characteristics of the Jenolan Caves as with those of the Mammoth Cave of Kentucky. In the way of natural wonders we have as much to claim attention as other places better known to fame, though, indeed, it would seem almost necessary to go from home to hear anything about these indigenous marvels of ours at all. Not long ago the Pink and White Terraces of New Zealand stood to witch the world with their fairyland beauty. To-day there are the Jenolan Caves, of which, as the short preface to the interesting book now before us modestly says, "well-travelled men admit that they are unrivalled in any other part of the world." Any book written with the object of popularising the scenic places and beauty-spots of our own country is valuable. This description of the Jenolan Caves, by Mr. Samuel Cook, has a special value of its own, not alone for the interest of its matter, but because of the patient care and minute attention given by the writer to every detail of his very fascinating subject. The volume consists of a reprint of a series of articles written originally for the Sydney Morning Herald, embodying the results of a visit of inspection paid by the author to these caves. They are republished in this handsome volume by consent of the Herald proprietary, and, with the illustrations that copiously accompany the letterpress, form at once a series of panoramic word-pictures and a record of the attractions presented by, perhaps, the best that New South Wales has to offer in the way of natural marvels to the old-world visitor.

Speaking of Flaubert and the tremendous labour and research he went through to collect the material for that great story of which the scene is laid in old Carthage, his biographer says the novelist went to work among the ruins and records "with the ferocious industry of the archæologist." The reader of this book who has also undertaken at any time to explore caves will understand the applicability of, at all events, the sentiment of that remark. Mr. Cook begins at the commencement of his subject, and goes conscientiously through it to the end. He leaves no known ramification of the caves unexplored and undescribed, and he speaks of wonder after wonder with a never-failing freshness of enthusiasm. The book begins with an historical sketch, in which we are told how the marvellous caves were discovered; but there is first a species of bravura prelude, in which the author sounds the keynote of his subject:—

"The Jenolan Caves contain some of the most remarkable and beautiful objects in Australian wonderland. They are formed in a limestone "dyke," surrounded by magnificent scenery, and hide in their dark recesses natural phenomena of rare interest to the geologist, as well as of pleasurable contemplation by non-scientific visitors; while in and about them the moralist may find "—— tongues in trees, books in the running brooks, Sermons in stones, and good in everything."

To see these caves is to create a life-long memory. . . . The most frequent entry in the visitors' book is that the caves are "grand beyond expectation," and in some of their principal features "indescribably lovely."

The story of the discovery of the caves is not without its appropriate element of romance. It takes us as far back as 1841, when a man named Whalan, a settler on the Fish River, near what is now Tarana station, was robbed by a bushranger called M'Ewan. Accompanied by the police, to whom he had given information, the victim succeeded in tracing the individual who paid him this polite attention. The track led to the caves, where the bushranger was subsequently captured. It is considered probable that in the old bushranging and convict days the caves sheltered more than one gang of outlaws, who found as secure hiding places here as the rather more picturesque brigands of Calabria did among their native fastnesses. Since Whalan's time the caves may properly be said to have been known to fame, sometimes as the Fish River Caves, because they were in what was then regarded as the Fish River district, and subsequently as the Binda Caves, after a station about nine miles distant to the northward. In August, 1884, the name was officially fixed as "Jenolan," after a mountain in the neighbourhood, so named by Sir Thomas Mitchell. Mr. Cook says nothing of the legend about a certain "J. E. Nolan," after whom the caves have been said to be named, from which the reader is left to conclude that the writer regards the claims put forth on behalf of that enterprising but somewhat mythical person as suspiciously apocryphal. Little notice was taken of the caves by the public generally or the authorities for a good quarter of a century after Whalan won an accidental fame; but every now and then a visitor would tell a tale of wonders he had seen, and hints of unexplored beauties he had experienced, until at last the present curator, Mr. Jeremiah Wilson, began a work of something like systematic exploration. In 1866 Mr. J. Bowie Wilson, then Minister for Lands, reserved the adjacent land from purchase. Since then the caves have been the subject of intermittent official attention; but Mr. Cook is of opinion that "the money expended and the work accomplished indicate that hitherto Government and Parliament have had but a faint idea of their obligations in regard to the Jenolan Caves."

The route to the caves is briefly described, and in the third chapter the reader enters without delay on the description of the subject proper. Different chapters deal historically and descriptively with the external features of the caves, the Devil's Coach-house, the Night Caves, the Jewel Casket, the Queen's Diamonds, the Carlotta Arch, the Flowering Column, and the long list of others of which the names are an attractive description in themselves. Looking down this list of names, with its frequent mention of jewels and crystals, and diamonds, laces and gems, one is insensibly reminded of some dazzling vision of brilliancy out of the Arabian Nights, or the panoramic glories of a transformation scene. Certainly, imagination appears to have had free play in devising names for the extraordinary manifestations of grace and delicacy, weird grotesquerie, and architectural freak that are to be met with here in such bewildering profusion. It is not necessary to recapitulate much of what Mr. Cook has said in such exhaustive detail about the Crystal Cities, the Bridal Veil, the Fairies' Bower, the Crystal Rock, the Garden Palace, the Gem of the West, and other marvels. All this is already familiar to readers of the Herald, and brief extracts would not do justice to the patient labour the author has put into this book. But it is not possible to turn these pages without acknowledging that he has brought to his task the special gifts for such a duty—the capacity for close and unremitting attention, a searching eye for detail, and an unsparing determination to be nothing if not thorough in his treatment of the subject. The book might have been lighter in character without this sedulous attention to exact detail, but it would have, correspondingly lost in its value as a truthful and precise description. And although this part of the work is so faithfully done, it is not to be supposed that the book is nothing more than a copious but bald inventory. Mr. Cook has the feeling of his subject, and an appreciation of the grace and beauty and wonder of what he has seen, as more than a few remarkable passages of description abundantly evidence. It must be confessed that such an embarras des richesses as these caves present is apt to draw rather unmercifully on any word-painter's descriptive vocabulary, but this writer appears to stand the strain very well. What he says of the "Jewel Casket" may serve as a random instance of what we mean, and the writer's style:—

"The jewel casket is at the end of a very remarkable cave. Its ceiling is marvellously beautiful. The walls and ridges on each side sparkle like gems of the first water. Some of the rocks are covered with virgin white and some are delicately coloured. . . . When the magnesium light reveals the splendour of the interior it is seen that the Casket stretches away to a considerable distance; the floor is covered with white and amber brilliants and snowy coruscating flakes of dazzling purity. Here are clusters of cave diamonds, opals, and pearls, with delicate fawn-coloured jewels scattered about promiscuously. Rich and rare are the gems this Casket contains, and exclamations of delight are evoked when their charms burst upon the view like a vision of fairyland. Neither tongue nor pen, nor photographic art nor pencil sketch, can ever do full justice to this natural treasury of beautiful things."

There are twenty-four plates and a map in this volume, the former from photographs by Messrs. Kerry and Jones. They give an excellent idea, so far as photography can, of the strange shapes of stalagmitic and stalactitic formations, veil-like traceries, and rugged rock figures with which the caves abound. Mr. Cook has done his task with thoroughness, and the book, which is well printed, is tastefully bound and presented, and worthy of its captivating subject.

We have received from the Government Printer, Melbourne, a copy of the Journal of the Board of Viticulture for Victoria, prepared by J. J. Shillinglaw, the secretary. It publishes the minutes of proceedings of the board for the information of those interested in viticulture, a long list of the vine-growers of Victoria, covering over 30 pages; some extracts of evidence given before the Royal Commission on vegetable products, statistical returns relating to viticulture in Victoria, some diagrams and illustrations, and other matter. Some of the evidence before the commission just mentioned has a special interest. One qualified witness, for instance, points out that the result of the establishment of the Italian College of Viticulture has been to raise the export of wine in ten years from four to 88 millions of gallons, "because this school has taught the people how to make good wine, and having done that, they have introduced it to other countries, and the wines found a ready sale." In a speech by Mr. Dow, reported here, it is mentioned that in framing the last Budget, a sum of £250,000 for vine-growing and other industries was set down, to be available over six years, of which £90,000 was to be expended in the employment of experts in farming, vine culture, and other branches. The witness above quoted suggested that a special department for viticulture be established at Dookie Farm, with a view to further encourage the scientific development of the industry. This report bears striking testimony to the vigour with which this important industry is being taken up in the southern colony.

From Mr. H. C. Russell, Government Astronomer, we have received a bulky volume of Results of Meteorological Observations made in New South Wales during 1887 under his direction (Charles Potter, Government Printer). The number of reporting stations for that year stood at 862, being an increase of 94 since 1886. There are two new tables, somewhat unusual in works of this kind, showing the mean maximum and minimum temperature at Sydney for each month, 1856 to 1887. There is not much change with regard to the arrangement of the rest of the work, and a full statement of the results of the rain measures has already been given in the Rain, River, and Evaporation Results for 1887. The tables given in this volume are (a) a series of general tables, giving the most important meteorological data for Sydney; (b) two short abstracts for all stations; (c) a series of tables giving the meteorological data for each station in the colony separately; (d) a series of monthly tables, giving details of daily observations at Sydney; and (e) barometer curves.

From Messrs. Joseph Cook and Co., Sydney, we have received a copy of Proceedings of the Meeting of Synod of the Diocese of Sydney, New South Wales, for the appointment of a bishop to the vacant See; and Proceedings of the First Session of the Eighth Synod of the Diocese of Sydney, 1889.

We have also received Ensilage, being No. 1 of a series of reports issued by the Victorian Commission on Vegetable Products; Threatening to Murder Mr. William Harper (Hazen, Melbourne), a pamphlet by the accused; The World's Jubilee Century, a Remarkable Discovery of the Dates of Scripture History, by D. M. Berry, M.A. (George Robertson, Melbourne); and Notes of Interest on the Workings of the Companies Act, the Mining Industry, and the Operations and Status of Brokers, by a "Critic" (Australian Mining Standard office).

We have received from the Government Statistician an advance copy of The Wealth and Progress of New South Wales, 1888-89, by T. A. Coghlan, A.M., Inst. C.E. (Charles Potter, Government Printer). This third issue appears to be bulkier than either of the preceding, and the information contained in previous issues has been revised and brought up to date. Some of the chapters have been recast and others amplified, we gather from the preface to this edition, notably those dealing with stock, food supply, employment, finance, and public wealth. With a view to illustrate the frequent references in the text to the various colonies of the group, a chart of Australasia, including Fiji and New Zealand, with British New Guinea, has been added. It is neatly printed in colours, and is useful as showing the relative positions of the colonies and their chief features, though not overweighted with detail. The volume, as usual, is well printed in clear and legible type, and the matter arranged with the order and method characteristic of publications issued from this department. We reserve a detailed notice of the new features of this edition of "The Wealth and Progress of New South Wales" for another occasion.

THE WEATHER PREDICTIONS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In reply to "Layman," I would just remark hat no doubt "our friends" the astronomers are just as well aware as he "that an all-wise God rules the universe, and that everything is in His hands"; but at the same time they know also what he ("Layman") seems either to forget or not to know, viz., that He rules it according to certain fixed laws, which are becoming so well known and understood in these modern days that there can be no question as to their truth. "Layman" instances the Scriptural account of there being no rain for three years while that wicked king Ahab reigned over Israel, and infers from this that it was because of this man's wickedness that God punished innocent Israel with a three years' drought. Can anything be more absurd? To my mind it seems quite clear that this three years' drought was only partial—that they had their small showers occasionally, just as we have, although we say there has been no rain for such a time. If this were not so, I cannot see how they could have existed in the dry East. They must have been swept from the earth. When, however, "Layman" talks of putting our shoulder to the wheel, "there is good common sense in this," and by conserving all the water we can, should Mr. Egeson's predictions turn out to be right, then we shall have displayed what your correspondent signs himself.

DEARTH OF SHIPPING AT NEWCASTLE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Mr. Forsyth essays a hard task. He advocates legislation to restrict importations, and at the same time argues that importations cannot be restricted. Naturally logic of this kind gets Mr. Forsyth into a pretty mess. Fancy an ardent advocate of the policy of restricting external trade, writing about 'the delusion that a protective tariff would decrease our imports," it is really a little too much. One illustration will show the absurdity of Mr. Forsyth's contention. Suppose in obedience to the restrictionists' demands we put a heavy duty—a prohibitive duty—on woollens. Would that not at once lessen both the export of wool and the import of woollens? Of course it would; and to affirm the contrary would prove inability to understand the simplest fact. Mr. Forsyth is quite correct in saying that if we export we must import to a corresponding extent. But he fails to see that if we put taxes on those imports we lessen the profit on the exports, and that just as the profit is taxed away so would the export trade dwindle and the corresponding import trade also. We have only to put really prohibitive duties on imports to absolutely crush out that portion of our industries, the products of which are at present exported, and in that way we could secure a lasting "dearth of shipping."

In consequence of the death of Tsen Yü-ying, Viceroy of Yunnan and Kweichow, the Emperor of China has appointed Wang Wan-shao to be Viceroy. Wang was for some years a Minister of the Pekin Foreign Office, and was lately Governor of Hunan province, in which post he is succeeded by Shao, a few months ago Minister designate to London. The new Viceroy is reported to be a moderate, liberal-minded man, and his presence in Yunnan can scarcely fail to exercise a beneficial influence on the relations between Upper Burmah and that province.

THE MAGAZINES FOR SEPTEMBER.

FIRST NOTICE.

There is great variety as usual in the contents of the Universal Review, and the number is a fairly good one considering the time of the year. There is the first of a series of "Essays on Life," which is anonymous, though all the other articles in the Review are signed. It is very readable, and in parts quite idyllic, though the episodes and the reflections on them are of unequal interest. Some of them strike us as fresh and piquant, others as familiar and commonplace; some seem like actual photographs of real experiences, others have the appearance of genuine incidents touched up to make readable "copy." But probably the author will reply to the first criticism that all men's lives are made up to a great extent of commonplaces, and that no essay on life would be complete without them. Nothing in the paper is so good or apparently so spontaneous as the description of the feelings with which Cœlebs, sitting in his lonely chambers, looks on the portraits of his dead mother. The pathos is natural and unstrained. There is a paper on "Jezebel," in which the writer sets himself to rehabilitate the character of that queen, and even to show that she was a pioneer of civilisation and refinement. The real object of the paper, however, seems to be to give a picturesque view of the times in which she is supposed to have lived; and the description of Tyre in its glory is a clever piece of word-painting, the local colour of which may have been collected in eastern travel in the present day. Among the papers of more practical interest is one by Dr. R. Greene on the "Care and Cure of the Insane," in which some interesting particulars are given as to the past and present treatment of the mentally unsound. It is worth noting that Dr. Greene gives a direct contradiction to the current belief in the prevalence of monomania. A man who is mad is, he says, mad "to his finger ends," as anyone condemned to live with him would soon find out. "An intimate acquaintance with 5000 lunatics does not supply me with a single case of undoubted monomania." It may be assumed that Dr. Greene does not question the existence of special illusions in particular cases—which is a matter of everyday experience—but would simply contend that a man who is mad on one point would be mad on any point to which circumstances directed the current of his thoughts. There is a "Gallic Study of Tennyson," written in French by an enthusiastic admirer of the English poet, who does full justice to some merits of the Laureate which many Englishmen would have thought that only Englishmen were likely to appreciate. Professor Moore writes on "Dante and Sicily," and Uma Sanka Mesra, M.A., on "Self-Government in India." There is a musical setting of one of Victor Hugo's poems by Henry Festing Jones. The illustrations are not so noteworthy as usual, though there is a frontispiece—an interesting reproduction of a drawing by Sir Frederick Burton, "La Marchesa."

Among the contents of the Leisure Hour is an article with the title, "Across Greenland on Foot," which gives an account of the Nansen expedition, and a portrait of the explorer. There is another of those amusing papers on "Marrying and Giving in Marriage," which this time deals with "Preconceived Notions and Opposite Results," showing how little the connubial fate of men or women is in fact influenced by their preconceived ideals. The first part is given of a paper on the prosaic, but by no means uninteresting subject, the "Cleansing of London." There are the usual science notes and varieties. In Sunday at Home there is an article on the late Princess Eugenie of Sweden, with a portrait—a singularly sweet and gentle face. An interesting description of a visit to an Armenian village, and instalments of the two serial stories, are among the other contents.

The Newbery House Magazine contains a number of papers of interest to churchmen, one or two of them of a controversial character. The first part is given of a paper on "Recent Discoveries in Christian Archæology in Rome," by the Rev. S. Baring-Gould. The editor contributes "Sermon Outlines for August" and "Biblical Questions for Competition." There is an instalment of the interesting serial story by Messrs. Christie Murray and H. Herman. Mrs. Molesworth tells a story of the "Abbaye de Cerisy"—a "true incident," very slight in itself, but quite fascinating in the way in which it is told, and in the fanciful theory attached to it by the narrator in whose mouth it is put. The frontispiece to the Boys' Own Paper is an illustration by A. Chasemore, "In Possession"—a couple of Royalist children looking curiously up at the grim roundhead soldier, who, sword in hand, keeps guard in one of the rooms of the paternal chateau: there is a sort of companion picture further on, which is explained by some verses of Mr. Robert Richardson, whose name will be known to many Australians. An interesting paper, called "To Cornwall with a Camera," will be read with avidity by boy-photographers.

In the Girls' Magazine there are—among much else of interest to all sensible girls—papers on "Celebrated Monuments of Eminent Women," and on that charming writer, Richard Jefferies, with a vignette portrait of Jefferies himself.

The first place in Blackwood's Magazine, this month, is given to a paper called, "Lepers at the Cape"—a story of unadulterated horror. If the author's description is not overstrained, there is in the British dominions a spot more repellant even than the terrible island on which Father Damien passed his devoted life and died his heroic death. Certainly nothing in the painful literature to which the fate of the Belgian priest gave rise had about it the air of unrelieved sadness of the story told in Blackwood. Robber Island is, it seems, a desolate isle off Capetown, reached by about three-quarters of an hour's rough journey in a dirty little tug, which is the only means of conveyance, and inaccessible except to the visitor who has the doubtful privilege of a Government permit. The island "is about three miles in diameter, low and flat, sad and sandy, with scarcely a vestige of vegetation, save patches of coarse, unlovely grass." Its population, exclusive of the officials and police, consists of lunatics, lepers, and convicts, numbering in all about 400. Among the lepers, of whom there are about 130, two forms of the terrible disease are known—tubercular and anæsthete leprosy. The account which is given of the ravages of these diseases, especially of anæsthete leprosy, is almost too terrible to quote. But here is a description of one of the wards which the Cape Government, whose parsimony the writer condemns in unmeasured terms, thinks good enough for these wretched sufferers:—

"Decrepit outside, ruinous within, deficient in the commonest furniture and fittings, 14 beds are crowded into a totally insufficient space, the miserable, rickety bedsteads mere masses of foul rags, and fouler mattresses, on which are stretched patients in the most advanced, helpless stages of the disease, unprovided, so far as I could discover, with ordinary hospital appliances. The atmosphere is only partially fetid by reason of the open door. There is a kind of gipsy fireplace in which a few sticks crackle, and over which some of the lepers are crouching—nay, the very ground is destitute of boards, and consists of bare earth trampled into hollows, over which, as the doctor stated, numbers of large loathsome snakes crawl at night in search of mice. Is this disgraceful cabin a Cape Government Hospital, or is it a lazar-house which even the pariahs of the East would scorn to inhabit?"

The sub-title of the paper is "Wanted a Father Damien," and the editor, in prefacing the account, observes that but for the unquestionable reliability of the writer, he would have refused to believe that such a state of things could have existed under British government. Among the other contents of the magazine, which are generally readable, is "A Glimpse into a Jesuit Novitiate," which gives a detailed account of the daily life of a Jesuit novice, and an interesting account of Marie Bashkirtseff, the Russian painter, and of the curious diary she left behind her.

In the Century Magazine there is a delightful entomological paper called "Winged Botanists," with many pretty illustrations. Another charmingly illustrated paper is an account of the experiences of "An American Artist in Japan"—a few pages of pleasant gossip on Japanese art and ways of life. "The Pharaoh of the Exodus and his Son," deals elaborately—and with copious illustrations—with the Egyptian monuments of the period of the Exodus. Among the lighter contents of the magazine is an amusing Dutch story called "Jufrow Van Steen." St. Nicholas, as usual, abounds in matter of interest to young people. Very funny indeed is the story of "W. Jenks's Express."

DEPUTATIONS.

HARP-STREET, CANTERBURY.

A deputation from the Municipal Council of Canterbury waited upon the Minister for Lands yesterday morning respecting the reopening of Harp-street in that borough. It was stated that the thoroughfare had been aligned, but that a local property owner had objected to this and had pulled up the posts. The street had, it was remarked, been used 14 years ago.

Mr. Brunker, in reply, said the question involved the point as to whether the Government was justified in interfering with the rights of individuals without conferring any distinct benefit on the public. The trouble was as to the reservations. On looking carefully into the matter he could see that there was some difficulty; but if they would submit him a reasonable proposition, which would be to the interest of the public, he would see what he could do for them.

CEMETERY AT CHARLESTOWN.

A number of the residents of Charlestown, introduced by Mr. Creer, M.L.A., waited upon the Minister for Lands yesterday morning, with reference to a site for a cemetery. The nearest cemetery was stated to be at Sandgate, which, being some distance away, was a source of unnecessary expense and inconvenience to the townspeople. The district was a rising one, and likely to be soon thickly populated.

Mr. Brunker, who said that he knew the locality well, replied that he would instruct the district surveyor to report to him at once as to the most favourable site, with a view to compliance with the request.

CHARLESTOWN POSTAL REQUIREMENTS.

A deputation from the residents of Charlestown, near Newcastle, was introduced to the Postmaster-General yesterday morning by Mr. Creer, M.L.A., the object of the deputation being to ask the Government to erect a post-office at Charlestown, and to provide telegraphic communication. It was pointed out that the district, which already contained a population of a thousand, was rapidly rising in importance, and increased postal facilities were greatly required. Mr. O'Connor said, in reply, that he would adopt the usual course and call for a report, and if the report received was of such a nature as to warrant his acceding to their request, he would be most happy to do so.

CHARLESTOWN ROADS.

A deputation, representing the residents of Charlestown, was received by the Under-Secretary for Works, Mr. Barling, yesterday, in the absence of the Minister. The deputation, which was introduced by Mr. Creer, M.L.A., drew attention to the bad state of the roads in the Charlestown district, and asked that the department should do something to alter this condition of affairs. Mr. Barling apologised for the absence of the Minister for Works, who was unavoidably prevented from receiving the deputation, and promised to place the representations which had been made before the Minister.

RIFLE SHOOTING.

N. A. V. Rifle Club.—The first competition for the current quarter took place on Saturday last, the weather being unfavourable to good shooting, handicap men having the best chance.

REFORM WANTED.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Your correspondent "A Redfern Ratepayer," in drawing the attention of property owners in the city of Redfern to the manner in which the funds of the borough are being expended, in to-day's Herald, has placed the whole body of the Redfern taxpayers under an obligation to him. I am not at all surprised at the idea of a new hall. It is not very long ago that additions were made to the present Town Hall, and when completed it was considered, for all purposes for years to come, to be suitable in every respect. As an old ratepayer, I protest against the council's proceedings of late. Their borrowing powers should be limited or nipped in the bud for some time to come. £50,000 was borrowed a short time back, and now £15,000 more is wanted. And what will the end of all this be? Why, having got the thin end of the wedge in, it will be driven home to some purpose in the increase of rates. If the borrowing power of the council is not curtailed the aldermen will most assuredly raise the present municipal taxation. I am quite sure the whole of the present ratepayers will agree with me when I say, what with a street-watering rate, sewerage rate, ligating and municipal rate, together with bad times, we have no need of taxation being increased. There is only one way, Sir, of bringing the present aldermanic board to their senses, and that is the formation of a vigilance committee of ratepayers, which has been mooted for some time past. I am quite sure the matter will now be taken in hand at once.

I am, &c.,
October 10. J. J. COLLINS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The last paragraph in a letter to your paper from "A Redfern Ratepayer" attacks the system of auditing municipal accounts. His asserted long experience does not seem to have made him acquainted with the fact that no system of auditing could be a check upon the present slipshod manner of bookkeeping enforce in the various municipalities. At the present, auditors for municipal accounts have not proper figures put before them for checking. Certifying to an account for receipts and expenditure without power to call for a proper business balance-sheet showing the exact position of the council is a complete farce, and no conscientious man when be signs the statement can feel assured, be he Government officer or no, that the work he has gone through is a credit to himself, the ratepayers, or the council clerk. Until the Government pass an Act requiring council clerks to keep their books in a business-like manner, our municipal accounts will continue to be open to manipulation which no system of auditing can check.

I am, &c., S. E. SQUIRE.

HOLIDAYS FOR CIVIL SERVANTS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I feel sure that, with your usual courtesy, you will allow me a small space in your valuable columns to ventilate a grievance which concerns most directly the entire business portion of this large community. Yesterday, October 10, was marked by the prorogation of Parliament, and on this auspicious occasion all the Civil servants in the various Government departments received a half-holiday, thus precluding those having business to transact with any of the State officials from doing so until the succeeding day, and entailing without doubt a great waste of time to those who can ill afford it. Now, surely this event is not of sufficient importance to our community at large to interrupt the even tenor of business, considering the fact that our Civil servants are already so favoured with respect to holidays, to say nothing of the short hours they are required to give their services to the State. Surely the large firms here should receive some consideration from the hands of the Ministry, contributing as they do so largely to the wealth and prosperity of the metropolis. Trusting that this letter will to some extent redress our grievances, and with my best thanks to you in advance,

I am, &c.,
ONE OF THOSE SERIOUSLY INCONVENIENCED.
October 11.

THE STATE OF ELIZABETH-STREET AT WATERLOO.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Will you kindly allow me space in your widely read journal to call attention to the—I am not exaggerating—disgraceful state of that portion of Elizabeth-street situated between the Waterloo Town Hall and Redfern-street. The inconvenience and discomfort which the residents of this suburb have submitted to quietly and patiently stamps them as a long-suffering portion of the community. With council-chambers and an astute body of councillors, such as our civic body claim to be, you sir may think that I should address my complaint to that body; but this would be merely wasting time and labour, as past experience has taught me. If any alderman can and will give a reason for the disgraceful neglect of this road I, as well as hundreds of other residents of the borough, will be most happy to hear it.

I write these few lines in the sincere hope that they may be the means of working a sadly-needed reformation in the condition of the street above-mentioned—a reformation which I may say has become an absolute necessity.

I am, &c., RESIDENT.

THE REV. J. E. TENISON-WOODS.
A portrait from life and biographical notice will appear in next week's issue of the Illustrated Sydney News. Order early of your news agent.—[Advt.]

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

THE TURF.

What holds forth promise of being an enjoyable reunion is to be held at Warwick Farm to-day. Special trains will leave Redfern station as advertised, and as each of the five races wears a most open appearance, the attendance should be quite up to the average. In the certain absence of Drilldool, and the probable non-appearance of Bellringer, the places for the opening event, the Hurdle Race, are likely to go to Kangaroo, Albert, and Martindale, while Willoughby and Clarionette may give some trouble. It is not likely that Glen Elgin will face the flag for the Flying Handicap, and in the event of his declining, Paddy, The Gift, and Pugilist should compose the first flight. It is not probable that either Glen Elgin or Soldier's Wind will start for the Auction Race, the places in which may be filled by Manola, Mormon, and The Felon. If started, Sorella should just about win the George's River Handicap, and if she remains in her box Nonsense and Pugilist may fight it out. Recent running points to Moscow or Killarney for the Pace Handicap, and the choice of the stable will be certain to be in great favour. The full programme appears in another part of this paper.

The Spring meeting of the V. A. T. C. will be inaugurated at Caulfield this afternoon, when several very interesting races will be run. The meeting of Carbine with the selected one of the Kirkham stable will in itself be full of interest, and the champion will, probably, lower the colours of the Hon. James White's representative. Unless Drilldrool starts, the Hurdle Race should bring about a great battle between Lottie, Sluggard, and Elfrida. The Hawkesbury battle between Rudolph and Merriment will be fought over again in "The Guineas," and this time it is likely that Rudolph will get home in front, and he may be attended by Merriment and Carrington. We are in the dark as to the merits of the youngsters engaged in the Great Foal Stakes. The other events of the first day, the Australian Hunters' Cup and the Toorak Handicap, are too open to encourage comment.

Milparinka and Wyrallah race-meetings were granted registration by the A. J. C. authorities yesterday.

Nor'easter was struck out of the V. A. T. C. Caulfield Cup, yesterday.

Owners and trainers will do well to note that on Monday next nominations close with the secretary, Mr. J. Perry, for the principal events in connection with Tattersall's Club annual meeting, as under:—Carrington Stakes, a handicap of 750 sovs., of which 600 sovs. goes to the first, 100 sovs. to the second, and 50 sovs. to the third horse, 6 furlongs; and Tattersall's Cup, a handicap of 800 sovs., second horse to receive 100 sovs., and third horse 50 sovs. from the prize, 2 miles. One sov. will secure entry for each event, and the full conditions can be seen in our business columns.

Those interested should bear in mind that the final forfeit of 10 sovs. for the V. A. T. C. Caulfield Cup is due on Tuesday next, and all horses left in after 4 p.m. on that date will be held liable for the whole stake.

On Monday next the Canterbury Park authorities invite nominations for the trotting and race meeting which has been fixed for the 22nd instant. Entries must be in the hands of Mr. M. Seale by 5 p.m. on the date named for the undermentioned events:—Maiden Trot of 50 sovs., second horse to receive 10 sovs. from the prizes, harness only, 1 mile; Handicap Pony Race of 50 sovs., second to receive 10 sovs. from the prize, for ponies 14 hands and under, 5½ furlongs; 2.55 Class Trot of 50 sovs., for all horses that have never beaten 2.55 in a public race, 1 mile; Selling Race of 40 sovs., for all horses 14.2 and under, w.f.a., winner to be sold for 45 sovs., selling allowances, 6 furlongs; Time Handicap Trot of 120 sovs., second horse to receive 20 sovs. out of the stake, 2 miles; and Galloway Handicap of 60 sovs., second horse to receive 10 sovs. from the prize, for all horses 14.2 and under, 7½ furlongs. The full conditions are announced in our business sheets, and it will be seen that the usual entrance fee of 1 sov. must accompany each nomination.

The Tibooburra sporting folk hold their annual reunion on Wednesday and Thursday next.

On Tuesday next the leading handicaps to be decided at the Tumut Spring Meeting will engage the attention of owners and trainers. The events are the Spring Handicap of 40 sov., 1 mile 3 furlongs; and the Publican's Purse of 30 sovs., 1¼ mile; and the nomination fee for each race is 1 sov.

Speculation on the Victorian Spring Handicap was almost a dead letter yesterday, and, save that Moorebank was backed to win between £2000 and £3000 at from 100 to 8 to 100 to 10, for the Caulfield Cup, there was no alteration in previous quotations. Several of the pencillers have taken their departure for Melbourne to be present at the opening of the V. A. T. C. spring meeting to-day.

The Victorian Racing Calendar for the current month is to hand, and is, as usual, replete with turf information from the sister colony.

The following scratchings were posted at the office of the Warwick Farm Racing Club yesterday in connection with their October meeting:—Hurdle Race: Drilldool, Shanks, The Artist, Old Scrubber. Flying Handicap: Hugo, Squire. Auction Race: Unnamed, Rebellion. George's River Handicap: Delegate, Touchstone. Pace Welter: Delegate, Hugo, Squire, Eyry.

Mr. T. S. Clibborn announces a sale of racing stock at Fennelly's Bazaar, on Monday, at 2 p.m., when the following horses will be brought under the hammer:—Keith, by Goldsbrough; Touchstone, by Vespasian (imp.); Belvoirina, by The Drummer; Hugo, by Derby; Albert, by Albury; Prince Hubert, by Hubert; Euclid, by Kingsborough; Puschka, by Musket; b g, own brother to Paladin; Killarney, by Verdict; and the racing pony Jenny.

The Bega district sportsmen held their Spring races on Wednesday last, when the weather was favourable, the attendance fair, and the racing interesting. Snare secured the Maiden Plate; the Spring Handicap was won by Hidden Treasure, who easily defeated Yurrammie and Fearer; and the Flying Handicap, 6 furlongs, was annexed by Yurammie.

A race meeting has been fixed for the Prince of Wales' Birthday at Nevertire.

The result of the contest for the Cesarewitch Stakes, which took place at Newmarket on Thursday, has duly arrived by cable, and will be found elsewhere in this issue. The winner, Primrose Day, is by Sir Bevys from Bonny Spec, by Speculum from Bonny May, by Newminster from Bonny Bell, by Voltigeur; and was bred by Mr. E. C. Godfrey. She did not carry silk as a two-year-old, but during the following season she started on three occasions, and her best performance was to fill third place in the Charlton Welter Handicap Plate, ¾ mile, at the Goodwood August Meeting. Ingram, who ran second, is by Isonomy from Pirate Queen, by Buccaneer from Queen of the May, by Barnton, &c.; and was bred by Mr. H. Arnold. The colt, who was not raced as a two-year-old, made his début last season, when he carried silk on two occasions, but failed to run into a place. During the current season, however, he distinguished himself by securing the Goodwood Stakes, 2½ miles, at the Goodwood Summer Meeting, and his position in the Cesarewitch goes to prove that he is a stayer. Mercy, who filled third situation, is by Barcaldine from Clemence, by Newminster from Eulogy, by Euclid, &c. She was not raced as a two-year-old, and, so far, her three-year-old career has not been successful.

On the same day the race for the Champion Stakes was decided, with the results recorded in another part of this paper. Gold, who secured the prize, is by Sterling from Lucetta, by Tibthorpe from Verona, by Orlando, from Iodine, by Ion, and was bred by his owner, Prince Soltykoff. His two-year-old career was a most creditable one, inasmuch as out of seven tries he scored four winning brackets, ran second twice, and once unplaced. He commenced by winning the Woodcote Stakes, 6 furlongs, at the Epsom Summer meeting, and his subsequent victories were the Ascot Biennial Stakes, 5 furlongs 136 yards, at the Ascot June meeting; the Chesterfield Stakes, 5 furlongs, at the Newmarket July meeting; and the Boscawen Stakes, 5 furlongs, at the Newmarket First October meeting. He ran second to Donovan in the July stakes at the same meeting, and second to Eldorado in the Prince of Wales Stakes at the Goodwood August meeting, while he ran unplaced only once—in the Middle Park Plate, won by Donovan, at the Newmarket second October meeting. During the last season he earned £3216 for Prince Soltykoff. Antibes, who ran second in the Champion Stakes, is by Isonomy from St. Marguerite, by Hermit from Devotion, by Stockwell from Alcestis, by Touchstone, and was bred by her owner the Duchess of Montrose. As a two-year-old she raced four times and scored two wins—in the Bretby Stakes, 6 furlongs, at the Newmarket second October meeting; and the Free Handicap, 6 furlongs, at the Newmarket Houghton October meeting, while she ran unplaced twice. Ayrshire, who finished third, is by Hampton from Atalanta, and his pedigree and splendid performances have been frequently given during the last couple of seasons. Among his most prominent victories may be mentioned the Eclipse Stakes at Sandown Park, the Prince of Wales Stakes at Goodwood, Doncaster Champagne Stakes, Two Thousand Guineas, Derby, and the Kempton Park Royal Park Stakes, his winnings up to the present totalling £34,500.

The sixth annual meeting of the Yerong Race Club has been fixed for November 27, and a seven-event programme has been drafted for the occasion, with nearly £200 added money to be disbursed in stakes. The principal item is the Yerong Handicap of 50 sovs.

Advices from Melbourne state that Mr. H. Beamish, who was badly injured by a fall while taking part in the race for the Melbourne Hunt Club Cup last Saturday, has taken a turn for the better, but he is not yet out of danger.

The Temora Jockey Club have drafted a nice bill of fare for their annual race meeting, which has been fixed for December 19 and 20. There are six items on the card for each day, the principal of which are the Town Plate of 30 sovs., and the J. C. Handicap of 45 sovs., supplemented by a cup presented by Mr. T. Tucker, and the added money to be distributed at the gathering totals £200.

The Spring meeting of the Candelo Turf Club took place on the 3rd instant, when the weather was most enjoyable, the attendance good, and the sport of an interesting character. For the Maiden Plate nine carried silk, and Mr. E. Bear's Lady Chester, 8st. 11lb., won easily from Snare, 9st. 1lb., and Lady May, 8st. 13lb., in 2 minutes 12 seconds. Five faced the flag for the Ladies' Bracelet, which fell to Mrs. Irwin's Lady May, 8st. 8lb., who defeated her field in 2 minutes 11 seconds. The Spring Handicap, 1 mile 3 furlongs, was a gift to Mr. P. O'Brien's Reform, who carried 7st. 2lb., and beat a field of eight in 2 minutes 30½ seconds. Mr. R. M'Paul's Sultana won the Galloway Race, 1 mile, having covered the course in 1 minute 55 seconds; and the Flying Handicap, 7 furlongs, was appropriated by Mr. Reid's Seaweed, 8st. 2lb., who came home in front of ten others, having put past the journey in 1 minute 52 seconds.

SINGLETON JOCKEY CLUB MEETING.

SINGLETON, Friday.

There was again a large attendance at the races to-day. The weather was fine, and everything went off well. The last race produced a sad accident, and a protest, as related below. The following are the results:—

Short's Handicap, 6 furlongs.—Mr. T. Cush's Killaloe, 6st. 11lb. (Pearson), 1; Mr. J. Wilson's Stewardess, 6st. 3lb., aged (Wilson), 2; Mr. J. Grisdale's Bezant, 7st. (M'Nulty), 3. Betting: 3 to 1 v. Bezant and Stewardess, 4 to 1 v. Albion and Killaloe. Won by a bare length, Stewardess just beating Bezant. Time, 1 minute 19 seconds.

Selling Race.—Mr. Davidson's Mistake (£10), 6st. 13lb., 2½lb. over (Hawke), 1; Mr. W. L. Smith's Electric (£10), 7st. 3lb. (Pearson), 2; Mr. W. Risby's Orlando (£20), 7st. 4lb., 3. Other starters: Eureka, Seagull, and The Prawn. Betting: 5 to 2 on Orlando, 4 to 1 v. Electric, 7 to 1 v. Mistake and Seagull. A splendid race all through. Won on the post by a bare head. Time, 1 minute 18½ seconds. A protest was entered against the winner for crossing, but it was dismissed. The winner was sold for £22.

Jockey Club Handicap.—Mr. James M'Memann's Handover, aged, 8st. 2lb. (Gill), 1; Mr. D. H. Houseman's Laguna, aged, 7st. 4lb. (Marsden), 2; Mr. J. Cush's Goldmaster, 3 years, 6st. 6lb. (Wilson), 3. Other starters: T. W., Killaloe, Jelliby, Guy Fawkes, You'll Do. Betting: Even on Guy Fawkes, 4 to 1 v. Handover, 6 to 1 v. Killaloe, 8 and 10 to 1 v. others. Won in good style by two lengths, a length and a half separating the next two; then came Killaloe, Guy Fawkes, T. W., Jelliby, while You'll Do was last. Time, 3 minutes 12½ seconds.

Free Handicap, 7 furlongs.—Mr. J. Wilson's Stewardess, 6st. 2lb. (Wilson), 1; Mr. H. Kenny's Celeritas, 6st. 5lb. (Gill), 2; Messrs. Murphy and M'Carthy's Proctor, 7st. (Pearson), 3. Cobweb and Little Sister, also ran. Betting: 5 to 2 v. Proctor, 3 to 1 v. Stewardess and Celeritas, 5 to 1 v. Little Sister, 7 to 1 v. Cobweb. Won by two lengths, after a good race. Time, 1 minute 3 seconds.

Forced Handicap, 1 mile.—Mr. W. L. Smith's Electric, 6st. 8lb., carried 9lb. over (Ballentyne), 1; Mr. F. William's Guy Fawkes, 7st. 4lb. (M'Nulty), 2; Mr. J. Cusick's Lady Lyon (W. Cusick), 3. Toronto, Jelliby, and Noah Beal also started. Betting: 2 to 1 v. Guy Fawkes and Toronto, 10 to 1 v. Electric and others. Within a few yards of home Electric had command with Guy Fawkes close up, when an accident occurred. Jelliby fell, and Noah Beal went sprawling over her, and great excitement arose when it was observed that the boys were lying motionless. Meanwhile, Electric finished first, Guy Fawkes second, Lady Lyon third, and Sorento fourth. The injured jockeys were carried to the stewards' room and attended by Dr. Read. Marsden, the rider of Noah Beal, soon came round. He was badly cut on the head, and received a severe shaking. Kinneard, the rider of Jelliby, was unconscious a long while. His left jaw was badly fractured and his body bruised. He is suffering greatly, and is still unconscious. A protest was laid against Electric for crossing. It was upheld, and the stakes were awarded to Guy Fawkes. The settling took place to-night.

THE V. A. T. C. AND V. R. C. SPRING MEETINGS.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

To-day's scratchings were:—Caulfield Stakes: Chetwynd, Copenhagen, The Tyler. Caulfield Hurdle Race: Dragon, King Billy. Caulfield Foal Stakes: Carbon. Caulfield Guineas: St. Mark. V. R. C. Foal Stakes: Flattery filly, Idalia filly.

There was a good attendance at the betting rooms to-night, and some lively wagering was done for the Caulfield Cup. Bravo was further supported to win about 4000 at 100 to 14. Don Giovan was backed to win several thousands at 100 to 6 and 7, the closing price being 100 to 8 offered. Moorbank was at 100 to 8 and receded to 100 to 7, freely offered, without takers. The others were about the same. For the Caulfield Guineas, Rudolph was backed at even money to win a very good stake, closing at 10 to 9 on him. Merriment was backed to win £3000 at 6 to 1, that price being on offer at the finish. 800 to 100 was taken three times over about Prince Consort for the V.R.C. Derby. 100 to 15 was taken about Dunkeld; 6 to 1 was the best offer. Even money was freely offered, without takers, against Dreadnought. For the Melbourne Cup a commission was executed in favour of Benson, who was backed to win altogether about £10,000, chiefly at 100 to 8. That price was on offer. Carbine was further supported at 10 to 1; 8 to 1 is now the best offer.

CRICKET.

The match between the Carlton and Warwick clubs is advertised to be resumed on the Association Cricket Ground to-day. A. Bannerman and Turner, the not-out men of the Carltons, will continue their innings, and if the wicket plays as well as it did last Saturday, their already heavy scores will be considerably augmented.

An interesting match was played on the North Shore Clifton's wicket on Monday last, between the coloured boys of Kirribilli and Balmain, resulting in a win for the former by 7 runs.

PEDESTRIANISM.

The Leichhardt £5 10s. handicap will be run off this afternoon.

The first round of the Carrington October Handicap will be run off to-night, commencing at 8 o'clock.

The Ninth Tempe Handicap will be run off this afternoon.

ATHLETICS.

At an adjourned general meeting of the St. Peter's Amateur Athletic Club, held in the new clubroom, Upper William-street South, Darlinghurst, on Thursday evening last, it was resolved, on the motion of Mr. A. E. Chapman, seconded by Mr. F. Don Stirling, that rule 1, naming this club the St. Peter's Amateur Athletic Club be, and the same is hereby rescinded, and that on and after the 11th day of October, 1889, this club be known as and called the Metropolitan Amateur Athletic Club.

CYCLING.

The Speedwell Bicycle Club's postponed road race from the University to Homebush takes place on Saturday next.

The Suburban Bicycle Club intend to hold their picnic and social at Bondi Aquarium to-day.

DARLINGHURST HARRIERS.

The Darlinghurst Harriers closed a very successful season last Thursday evening, the 10th instant, by holding a one-mile road race, open to all bona-fide amateurs. The course chosen was along the South Head-road, from Dover-street to the Rose Bay pier; and it would be hard to find a better one about Sydney. The following were the starters:—Messrs. A. Morgan, K. F. M'Crae, H. Furse, F. Pulsford, M. A. Leefson, A. Fraser, J. Pulsford, F. Newton, T. Kelly, J. T. Wall, F. Turner, P. J. Marks, and A. Walkemann. The race, which was a very fast one, was won by A. Morgan (Sydney Harriers), scratch; K. F. M'Crae (Darlinghurst Harriers), 25 yards, and A. Wackemann (Sydney Harriers), 115 yards, being a tie for second place; and F. Pulsford (Darlinghurst Harriers), 70 yards, fourth. The time recorded was 4 minutes 30 seconds. This was the first season of the Darlinghurst Harriers, and it was a very good one. Although the club was not formed till last June, it has nearly 80 members on its books.

LAWN TENNIS.

The second round of the single-handed competition, which is being decided on the asphalt courts of the Association Cricket Ground, has been played with the following results:—

D. Webb beat A. H. Huntley ... 4-6, 7-5, 6-0, 6-4
C. W. Cropper beat E. Fitzgerald ... 3-6, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4

Huntley played a very good game against the ex-champion, winning the first set, and being within a point of taking the second, the score being called 5-2 and 40 to 15 in his favour. He seemed to suddenly go off in his play, the heat evidently affecting him. After losing 10 games in succession he rallied a little, and led in the fourth set, eventually losing it by two games. This player has improved his game greatly, and if he continues to improve must be very soon our best player. Cropper, after losing the first set to E. Fitzgerald, rather easily secured the next three and the match. The final will be played this afternoon between Messrs. Cropper and Webb. Play will commence at 2.30, and the match will be decided by the best of five sets.

Messrs. Dr. Shewin, C. W. Cropper, and A. H. Huntley have been appointed the committee to select the team to represent this colony in the match against Victoria, to be played on the asphalt courts of the M. C. C., on 11th and 12th of November. As far as is at present known the team will be chosen from the following players:—Messrs. A. Lee, R. Wells, A. L. King, G. H. Chapman, A. Huntley, E. and R. D. Fitzgerald, H. S. Fox, and C. W. Cropper. The hon. secretary of the Sydney Lawn Tennis Club, Mr. C. W. Cropper, 37, Pitt-street, will nevertheless be glad to receive the names of any other players who desire to be included with those practising for the match.

AQUATICS.

The Neutral Bay Amateur Sailing Club will open their sailing season this afternoon with manœuvres, &c., on the harbour. The boats will assemble in Neutral Bay at 3 p.m.

The following are the weights for Dodd and Solomon's Light Skiff Handicap:—H. Messenger, 50lb.; J. Gleaves, 45lb.; W. Anderson, 45lb.; F. Couch, 40lb.; A. Cormack, 40lb.; A. Bishop, 35lb.; H. Bishop, 30lb.; J. Backhouse, 30lb.; T. Emo, 30lb.; Power, 25lb.; C. Cleaves, 20lb.; T. Struttles, 20lb.; Harrison, 15lb.; T. Carter, 15lb.; R. Green, 15lb.; D. Hickey, 15lb.; T. M'Farlane, 10lb.; J. Anderson, 10lb.; J. M'Clere, 5lb.; M. Johnston, feather. Acceptances close on Monday.

The Prince Alfred Yacht Club will celebrate the opening of its season this afternoon. The commodore (Mr. W. M. Maclardy) and the vice-commodore (Mr. H. S. Harden) will entertain the members and friends at a luncheon at Athol Gardens. The yachts will assemble in Farm Cove at 1.30 p.m., and go through a series of evolutions. The steamer Agenoria will leave No. 2 Jetty, Circular Quay, at 1.45 p.m., to convey those who may not go down in the yachts.

A meeting of the Double Bay regatta committee was held in the council chambers, Woollahra, last evening, Mr. C. H. Goddard presided. The secretary announced that he had engaged the Newcastle Company's steamship Sydney for flagship at the regatta to be held on November 2, the Midget for umpire's boat, and Pearl as steam-tender. It was decided to have a steamer in the event of the day being light to go up towards Goat Island and tow boats coming from the vicinity of Balmain down to Double Bay, and should the weather be at all tempestuous she would be used to go to the assistance of boats in difficulties. It is also probable that a steamer will follow some of the sailing races. It was decided that entries should close on the 26th instant. It was agreed to arrange the prizes and fix the times for starting the races at the next meeting.

The Balmain Sailing Club have arranged the following programme of races for the ensuing season:—October 19, Hurry Scurry Race; November 23, 14ft. to 16ft. dingies, best and best; December 7, open boats, 20ft. and upwards, best and best; January 18, 1890, half-decked boats, 20ft. and upwards, best and best (handicapped), and 14ft. dingies; January 4, 8ft. to 10ft. canvas dingies; February 15, 16ft. dingies; March 1, Hurry Scurry Race for boats 20ft. and upwards, limited crews; March 29, Hurry Scurry Race for boats under 20ft., limited crews; April 12, 16ft. dingies; April 30, closing day.

BERRY AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIATION.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our Correspondent.)

BERRY, Friday.

The spring show of the Berry Agricultural Association was held yesterday and to-day. Rain set in last night, and, continuing, seriously interfered with the attendance. Some of the classes were weak, notably vegetables. A much greater number of exhibits in flowers, which section is usually very strong, would have been on view had the show been held three weeks later. The poultry are the finest yet shown here. Mr. Mr. Hope, of Sydney, who acted as judge, and gave an address on poultry farming and breeding, spoke in enthusiastic terms of the number and quality of the exhibits, the majority being shown by local breeders and fanciers. A concert in connection with the show was held last night, and one will be given to-night.

OUR SOCIAL STATUS. DARLEY v. VARLEY: A CONTRAST.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The people of Sydney have been much astonished of late at the charges hurled against them as a community by a gentleman of the name of Varley, who recently made an evangelistic incursion to this colony from Victoria. At nearly all his meetings, but more especially at his meetings "for men only," several of which I attended, Mr. Varley did not scruple to describe Sydney as a "sin-stricken city," as "a sink of vice and crime and moral iniquity," and, in short, to picture this fair city, this centre of Christian effort and charity, as a species of "city of the plain," in which little good could be found, and from which little good could be expected to come. He seems to view himself as a sort of modern Jonah, sent on a special mission to this Australian Nineveh! To many people, however, he appeared to be a sort of Evangelistic Quixote, who went about metaphorically mounted on a denunciatory high horse, girding at all and sundry, good, bad, and indifferent, in most reckless fashion. The Parliament, the press, the pulpit, the stage, all came under the lash of his platform philippics. Parliament had gone wrong, the press had betrayed its trust, the pulpit had degenerated, and the theatre had become the ally and abettor of immorality. Against the daily press of Sydney Mr. Varley was particularly emphatic and severe, his chief ground of complaint against the Sydney morning and evening papers being that they had studiously refrained from reporting Mr. Varley at length, while whole columns were devoted to horse-racing and other popular sports. So deeply did Mr. Varley feel upon this matter that he conjured "the godly people" of Sydney to combine together for the purpose of starting a "Christian daily newspaper," which would not hesitate to denounce sin and vice fearlessly, and, above all, report Mr. Varley in full. In this way did he insinuate that the press of Sydney had winked at social evil in our midst. He went so far as to denounce the newspapers by name, and to heap unmeasured censure on the heads of those who conduct them. It never seemed to occur to Mr. Varley that all Christians and other right-minded people do not think as he does, and that a very large proportion of them decline to accept him as the supreme high pontiff of religion and morals—a position which he so confidently arrogates to himself. Had he reflected for a moment, it might have occurred to him that a good many respectable people had not taken the same pessimist view of the state of Sydney society which he has adopted. It might also have dawned upon his mind that the conductors of the respectable influential daily press of the Australian metropolis would not be likely to lend themselves to the dissemination of slanders against Australia in general, and New South Wales in particular; or to lay themselves open to actions at law for publishing certain statements made concerning the private life of persons in this and the neighbouring colonies. He might, moreover, had he reflected, have been aware that many of his utterances on matters of fact had not stood the test of scrutiny in such a way as to encourage their publication. The manner in which Mr. Varley's statements regarding the observance of the Sabbath Day in England, on the Continent, and in America, together with his still more absurd dictum respecting the London Sunday newspapers, were refuted and destroyed during the recent correspondence in the Herald, will serve to teach Mr. Varley a lesson of prudence in regard to such matters for the future. His allegations concerning the social and moral condition of the people of New South Wales prove him to be as little acquainted with the true state of affairs here as he is with that of London, where he resided so long, and to which city (which has come to be known as the Modern Babylon) his diatribes and denunciations would, perhaps, be more fittingly directed than to Sydney. A most opportune, and at the same time crushing and overwhelming, refutation to Mr. Varley's wholesale charges against the social status of this country is furnished by the remarks of Chief Justice Darley at the opening of the Circuit Court at Tamworth yesterday, and published in to-day's Herald, when his Honor was presented with a congratulatory address, in which the small number of commitments from numerous police courts, scattered over a very wide and thickly settled area, was specially referred to. According to the report of the Chief Justice's remarks which you publish to-day, his Honor said:—"He was glad to hear of the immunity from crime. It had been his happy experience in going on circuit to find everywhere a light calendar. This went far to sustain the opinion he had expressed elsewhere—that in no part of her Majesty's dominions was there found a country whose denizens were more God-fearing, more loyal to the Throne and Constitution, more law-abiding and orderly, than those whose happiness it was to inhabit New South Wales. Might this state of things long continue; might crime still further decrease, till the going on circuit by a Supreme Court Judge became that which it very nearly approached now—a pleasant holiday trip, making the Judge and his fellow countrymen whose lot was cast at a distance remote from the metropolis better acquainted with one another." I make no excuse for thus reproducing this remarkable utterance of the highest judicial authority in the country, or for emphasising, by italicising, what seem to me the portions of it most pertinent to the matter under consideration. Surely the Chief Justice of New South Wales is to be accepted before Mr. Varley, the evangelist, as a responsible authority on the moral and social condition of the country! This being so, what better justification could be had of the course adopted by the Sydney press in refraining from giving widespread publicity to Mr. Varley's irresponsible and defamatory statements concerning New South Wales? None.

I am, &c., JOHN NORTON.

BRANCH OFFICE, KING-STREET.

A BRANCH OFFICE in connection with the "SYDNEY MORNING HERALD" has been opened at No. 130, King-street, Sydney, between Elizabeth and Castlereagh streets, for the receipt of advertisements, sale of papers, and transaction of general business. Communications, letters to the Editor, answers to advertisements, &c., can be forwarded to the Branch, as well as to the Head Office, in Hunter-street. Office hours from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Attention is respectfully directed to the following rules:—

No notice can be taken of anonymous communications. Whatever is intended for insertion in this journal must be authenticated by the name and address of the writer, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. We cannot undertake to return rejected manuscripts.

All communications intended for the news or correspondence columns should be addressed to THE EDITOR.

All letters and communications on business should be addressed to JOHN FAIRFAX AND SONS.

Advertisements should reach this office not later than 9 p.m., and should indicate in the first line under what heading they are intended to appear.

While every care is exercised to secure the insertion and classification of advertisements, the proprietors do not accept any responsibility in reference thereto; and they reserve to themselves the right of withholding from publication any advertisement they may deem to be objectionable, although it may have been received in the ordinary course of business.

OUR LONDON OFFICE.

The Sydney Morning Herald office is No. 8, George-yard, Lombard-street, where all information concerning business matters connected with the paper can be obtained.

Colonists temporarily resident in England can have their letters sent to the above address.

Files of the Herald are always kept for reference.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1889.

THE Czar of Russia has arrived at Kiel, on a visit to the Emperor William. He banqueted the Admirals of the German squadron on board the Imperial yacht.

THE strike of school children in England has extended to London. The boys have ceased attendance at several schools and have provided themselves with banners, upon which are inscribed their demands. Occasional violence is reported as taking place.

IT is reported that in the case of one procession, which was 500 strong, the parents and neighbours of the youngsters interfered and drove them home.

IT is stated by M. Eugene Etienne, Under-Secretary of State for the Colonies, that the petition for the extension of French influence in the New Hebrides is merely waste paper.

ACCORDING to a report from London the wool market is unchanged.

IT has been arranged that at the farewell banquet to the Earl of Hopetoun, Lord Knutsford shall propose the health of the guest of the evening, and that Earl Rosebery shall respond to the toast of the Colonial Empire.

AT a meeting of the Board of Technical Education on Wednesday, a communication was read from Mr. Carruthers, who hoped that he would be able to secure the services of some of the members of the present board as an advising board in bringing the new scheme into operation.

IT was reported at the committee meeting of the Hospital Bazaar and Village Fair, yesterday afternoon, that the amount now in hand was £1840 15s. 6d., and that this was the sum likely to be handed over to the hospitals.

THE Wagga Land Board, on Thursday, held an inquiry, under the provisions of section 20 of the Crown Lands Act 1884, as to the fulfilment of conditions of residence and fencing in a number of cases.

THE Postmaster-General was yesterday waited upon by a deputation from Charlestown, who asked for the erection of a post-office at that place.

THE Goulburn Hospital was opened yesterday afternoon. An address, detailing the history of hospital work in Goulburn, was given by the Mayor.

A DEPUTATION from Canterbury waited upon the Minister for Lands yesterday respecting the reopening of Harp-street; and a deputation from Charlestown had an interview with reference to a site for a cemetery.

WITH regard to the escape of prisoners from the Geelong gaol, it has been reported to the police by an engine-driver that between Meredith and Lethbridge he observed two men wearing prison garments endeavouring to hide themselves behind a log.

IT is reported from Wagga that the crops have never looked so well for years as they do this season.

MR. W. C. DARLEY inspected the harbour works at the Clarence on Thursday.

MR. JOHN DEASY, M.P., has been well received at Tumut. He addressed a public meeting there on Thursday.

THE "Eight-hour Banquet" in Newcastle was held on Thursday night, and was well attended. Mr. J. Thompson, president of the Hunter River Miners' Association, proposed "The day we celebrate," and the toast was responded to by Mr. James Curley, Messrs. T. Walker and J. Garrard, M.L.A., the Mayor of Newcastle (Alderman H. Buchanan), Messrs. M'Glinchy, W. H. Cromor, and J. Batty.

A PUBLIC apology has been made at Bow-street by Brigadier-General M'Ivor for having libelled Kerry, the New Guinea explorer.

THE price of frozen mutton in London is unchanged. Beef is a farthing per pound lower.

ACCORDING to a report made to the City Coroner yesterday morning the infant named Lizzie Cohen has died while in the charge of the woman Ellen Batts at Vernon-street, Woollahra. This is the last of 12 children who have been placed under her charge.

THE appeal cases were heard yesterday, and the sittings of the Quarter Sessions finally closed.

THE English mails by the Liguria are due on Monday.

COMPETITION at the auction wool sales yesterday was more active than at earlier sales, and nearly all the fleece submitted were sold publicly and privately.

THE mining market was active yesterday, and a large number of sales were recorded. Little business was done in investment shares. In the Import markets a moderate business was transacted. Country houses purchased more freely, and there were buyers in the market from Queensland.

AT a meeting of the University Union last night Mr. H. Russell read a paper on "The Province of Law."

MR. COURTNEY SMITH delivered a lecture last night, in the Temperance Hall, upon "Profitable uses for surplus fruit and vegetables." He said that in New South Wales there was a decided lack of enterprise in the matter of fruit preservation.

IN the Bank of England the issue department stock of gold, coin, and bullion is £18,810,000. The banking department reserve in notes and coin is £10,514,000. The percentage of reserve to liabilities is 38⅞.

AT a meeting at the Town Hall last night it was resolved that the long and faithful services rendered by the late Hon. John Sutherland deserved recognition by the people of the colony. It was decided that the resolution should be carried into effect by suitable provision being made for his widow.

IT is reported that a brisk inquiry for land has sprung up around Engowra during the past 15 months. Seventeen new conditional purchases with conditional lease have been taken up within eight miles of the town.

A RETURN of publicans' licenses, issued from the 1st to the 30th September, upon certificates granted under the Licensing Acts, 1882-1883, was published in a supplement to the Government Gazette yesterday.

Writing on the subject of the decrease of crime, in Thursday's issue, our contributor "N." has something of more than ordinary interest to say about a matter to which no inconsiderable attention has already been devoted in these columns. The remarks of the CHIEF JUSTICE at Tamworth the same day, in which he congratulated the colony so cordially on its law-abiding and orderly character, add point to his observations. Those persons who are in the habit of enlarging on the degeneracy of the age and the growth of evil will find in both these things matter for some serious thought. The figures quoted show in rather a striking way that, so far from crime being on the increase amongst us, it is showing the most gratifying signs of diminution, and the fact is the more reassuring inasmuch as the process is not spasmodic and uncertain, but progressive and regular. In twenty-two years the proportion of persons committed for trial in the various courts has fallen to the extent of 15·2, or rather more than half, per ten thousand of the population. The decrease for the past ten years is spoken of as being singularly even and regular. Lest this might be attributed to greater care in committing offenders on the part of the magistrates in the lower courts, our contributor points out that a corresponding decline is also noticeable in the number of persons ultimately convicted. On every 100 committals in 1888 an average of 58·8 convictions has followed, and this ratio has been practically the same for the preceding twelve years. Our contributor dwells upon the influence of the spread of education and the settlement of the floating elements of the population in securing this desirable state of things, and he goes on to suggest rather than define a course by which the average of crime may be still further reduced. He hints at a more scientific and philosophic treatment of offenders, with the ultimate view of arriving at "not so much vengeance on the culprit as an earnest endeavour to reach the root of the whole matter by the prevention of the commission of crime." It is a subject worthy of the best thought and effort of all workers in the direction of social progress.

It is a common thing to hear in this connection that the public mind is made up on the subject of crime and its punishment. We build gaols, pay judges, and maintain at great cost from year to year a gigantic penal system. We aim at making punishment follow the offence as the night follows the day, and with the directness and unerring precision of a natural law. An elaborate but not too complex criminal code embodies the wisdom of centuries on the subject, and we are accustomed to say, and even believe, that we cannot improve on the example of the past in these matters. To speak of minimising crime is regarded as impracticable, and the theorist on the subject is put aside as a well-meaning but somewhat tedious visionary. Yet we find that the humane and liberalising spirit of the age is all the time making headway, and figures like those quoted by our correspondent seem to show that our social state is making comparative progress towards something like righteousness after all. Although that caution which is the proper characteristic of the official mind is always averse to experiments in the reform of penal legislation, the mind of the age has been tacitly exerting its influence in this as in every other direction, and by progressive degrees a more humane spirit has crept into our gaols and houses of correction, as well as into every other department of modern life. The remarkable fact is, that with this amelioration of penal conditions, the decrease of crime has gone on step by step, until there is as much difference between the returns in England or the colonies now and fifty years ago as there is in the treatment of criminals and the discipline of gaols within the same time. The moral is, that the criminal problem is as open to treatment as any other, and though the criminally disposed, like the poor, may be always with us in the nature of things, as they must continue to exist, yet the element itself is not a fixed quantity, but one that may expand or contract according to circumstances.

The criminal question itself has of late years become the subject not only of research and observation, but of experiment. Earnest men who have made the matter their special study tell us that to some extent the criminal himself is the result either of certain inherited vicious instincts, or else that he is the creature of surrounding circumstances of training and association which unconsciously deflect him into the paths of lawlessness. In a primitive state of society those who punish offences against the body politic or the individual do not lose time over the consideration of these abstract influences. They knock the offender on the head and have done with him. The beautiful simplicity of this process, however, has nothing beyond its efficacy to recommend it to a more advanced condition of civilisation. This advanced stage brings with it a sense of social responsibility from which even the offender is not excluded, and if there are crimes their punishment carries with it the further duty of a careful investigation of their causes. It may be open to question how far the theory of the advocates of heredity is founded on actual fact, is or opposed to an older and more exalted doctrine; but the force of surroundings even on the character not predisposed to crime is too apparent and too well established by the most inexpugnable evidence to leave this part of the question a subject for discussion. It seems to be a matter of common agreement, as our contributor points out in his article, that if the influence of the incorrigible element among the criminal classes could be removed, a vast field would at once be opened for the reformation of criminals generally.

This, of course, is practically impossible. There is a suspicion of the vindictive about the practice of some of the American States alluded to by our contributor, which provides for the imprisonment at hard labour for life of thrice-convicted offenders. The sentiment of our people is too humanitarian to create a new law in such terms as this, while it is not sufficiently practically so to recognise that the sentence is just as vindictive which condemns a first offender to the society of incorrigible criminals for a term of years, until he is thoroughly hardened and indoctrinated into their ways. We have before pointed out that the criminal classes of this country are directly recruited from the ranks of young first offenders, whose future lives have been made hopeless for them by the mechanical operation of a penal system which aims at punishment only, and not at reform. We cannot withdraw the incorrigibles from the community, but we can at least refrain from forcing those whose steps have strayed for the first time into ways of crime into their immediate society and under their direct personal influence. To do this is certainly not to combat wisely those surroundings which lead to lives of crime, whether the tendency thereto be hereditary or not. Our contributor points out that the influence of education is to be largely credited for the decrease in crime. It might be said with equal truth that the influence of criminal association in our gaols is responsible for much of the crime that continues to exist. "A man capable of being educated, but dying ignorant," says CARLYLE, "I call a tragedy, though it happen every minute," and in this sense the walls of every gaol in the Empire that is built to punish simply, and not to reclaim, encloses a collection of tragic spectacles of men and youths actually being mis-educated by force of circumstances into crime. The whole subject is a difficult one, of course. It is hedged in by prejudice and official tradition, as well as by a certain stubbornness of public opinion. But to refuse to approach such a vital subject on the ground that the criminal problem is impracticable and insoluble is to imitate the fatalism of the fanatics who condemned vaccination because they regarded smallpox as a visitation of God.

Nothing so novel has occurred in a long time as the school strike now going on in England, Wales, and Scotland. At Aberdeen and Glasgow a few days ago, the school boys struck against corporal punishment and against the imposition of home lessons, and made demand for shorter tasks and for a free school system. Yesterday's and to-day's cables inform us that the movement has extended over Great Britain, and at the great centres rebellious youngsters are parading the streets, and in some instances have offered violence to teachers, and to other children who will not join them. In one instance a master was stoned. The boldness of the thing is enough to rouse the wraiths of all the departed pedagogues of this and past generations. Such a thing would not have been possible twenty years ago. Then, revolt might reach so far as to lock out a master for a day, or with a ceaseless shuffle of feet destroy the order necessary for the prosecution of school work, but this thing out-herods Herod. The éclat attending a successful "grub row" at college is now overshadowed, and "the elementaries" have taken away from the college heroes of the past the glamour of their achievements. Who could conceive that lads, working in the repressive machinery of a public school system, could so grasp the possibility of securing reforms by organised rebellion and public demonstration? The thing would be colossal in its impudence, and the very climax of humour, if it were not so serious in its real meaning. It cannot be dismissed with a laugh; it is not to be frowned down; it is not a haphazard gust of boyish assertiveness. Behind this aggressive championship of a cause, beneath this splendid audacity of youth, there lies the active and nervous spirit of the time.

Had such a thing as this occurred a quarter of a century ago, the consternation in the world would have been as great as was the marvel in Hamlin when the Pied Piper charmed the children away into the mountain. Strikes occurred a generation ago, but they were occasional, not habitual, they were viewed as phenomena; now they are considered as part of the social scheme—the method of acquiring rights in industry—as warfare is the system among nations. Then there were sudden upheavals for reform and in demand of redress, but the watchword of the working world is now "upheaval," and it cannot be wondered at if the spirit percolates down through the social mass, from the men of the present generation to the coming generation. This is the age of protest and demand. Veneration is low on the skull of the modern world, and the language of a full-grown youth of the past is now the language of the nursery. Childhood stands upon its privileges, measures up its elders, seizes on all debatable territory, and is not shy in discounting its heritage. It insists on the literal interpretation of WORDSWORTH's statement, that "the child is father to the man." Could anyone a generation ago have foretold such an event as this? And could it have been foreseen what conclusions would be drawn from it? These are difficult but pertinent questions. We who are close to this event cannot see its full significance. We are in the temper of a time that makes the thing possible, and we have not good perspective. The incident can only be understood when we stop to consider the rapidity with which the movement has spread. It is not premature, not fantastic; the immediate response to the first action is evidence of that. There must have been not only a general basis of grievance, but a diffused spirit of aggressive reform, else this revolt could not have happened. And how far the movement will radiate from the great centres where it now exists, we cannot estimate.

There is much to be said upon the grievances which have urged the "laddies" to rebellion. These are the days of cram and imposition, of examination and inspection. None can doubt that the English, the American, and our own public-school systems are vastly superior to those of fifty or even thirty years ago. But there is limit even to goodness. A man may become angelic and then he loses his use in the world. A church bell may ring beautifully, but if the rope is pulled too hard it turns over, and there is neither grace nor use in it then. In widening the range of work in elementary schools, in increasing the daily studies, in compelling organised and uniform inspection, it is evident the school systems all over the English-speaking world have been made to beget abuses as well as benefit. Wise as examinations and inspections are, with an ever-increasing standard, they force childhood and youth to labour beyond their capacity, or at any rate beyond what is altogether healthy. Teachers are powerless; they are slaves to the system; and it in turn is, to a large extent, the outcome of the age. In every department of life competition is so keen, specialism is so much required, well-equipped men and women are so necessary everywhere, that even upon childhood the strain must be more or less severe, else the general does not keep pace with the special education which is intensifying life. Every invention, every new fact in science, necessitates advance in the common mental acquirement. When, therefore, we condemn evils in our education systems it should not be done wholesale. And the lads at Glasgow and elsewhere are, after all, fighting things that can only be altered in incidence, not radically. But there may be modifications of present things, and certainly there should be fewer impositions and home lessons. Upon corporal punishment there must ever be difference of opinion, but the fact cannot be ignored that sentiment against it is growing very strong, just as the feeling in society is averse to radical punishment of crime. The spirit of the time is in it. We have more to fear from overtaxing the brain of this age than from putting too heavy a burden of "strap" and "birch" upon its back.

The letter of "Layman," published the other day, is one which would naturally come from a section of the community who are honestly careful for the conservation of Christianity, and are afraid of any admissions being made which might unseat old beliefs. But if that communication was to be expected, one which we publish this morning is also natural after its kind. The former correspondent, holding to a belief in miracles, the omnipotence of the Creator, and Divine interference, is jealous for the maintenance of all loyalty to the idea; the latter, recognising the fixedness of law, finds refuge in the ultimate character of the great natural systems. Both ought to find a common ground of agreement, for a belief in the immutability of law does not necessitate a disbelief in the over-arching fixedness of Providence. Modern scientific knowledge can foretell natural phenomena; the ordinary intelligence can foresee the regular course of the elements, and the daily recurrence of certain natural appearances. Every man can prophesy that the sun will rise in the morning and set at night, and can pronounce with surety upon the incoming and outgoing of the tides. There is many a rude seaman of to-day who would have got a reputation for prophecy in times gone, had he lived then and made use of the knowledge that he possesses regarding the winds and storms. As our correspondent to-day suggests, because the Creator rules, and rain may come through His intervention, or be withheld through the same cause, that is no reason why we should not seek to work out systems and possibilities based upon the laws and natural events which we see around us. The old aphorism, that Heaven helps those who first help themselves, holds as good in the question of rain and water conservation as in the work of an army. A soldier who trusted in Providence and let his powder get wet, and then expected supernatural powers to fight for him, might think he was scriptural, but he certainly would be unworthy of assistance. Christianity need not feel afraid of scientific prognostication; it can only be sound when based upon the soundness of laws which in the minds of Christians are Divine. Yet scientific prophecy should not be unheeded because there might appear to be conflict somewhere with orthodoxy. Lines may meet beyond our point of vision; we should not deny that they meet because we do not see.

Melbourne is a strange combination of imperialism and democracy. The latest development is the resolution passed by the Senate of its university suggesting such an alteration in the University Act of 1881 as will enable women-graduates to become members of the Senate and Council, and share in all other academical privileges enjoyed by male graduates. Educational institutions with us are generally conservative, and admission of women to any privileges of the big Universities was not easily secured. Even now they withhold degrees from the fair girl-graduates. In the colonies, however, degrees have been conferred on women, and they reap all the benefits of the collegiate system so far as education and rewards are concerned. To admit women to the Senate Chamber and the Council table is, however, a huge bound, a tremendous step towards that democracy which the United States affects. Even in the acknowledged Universities of the Great Republic women are not admitted to the privileges sought to be given to them by the Radical educationists of Melbourne. The master dramatist wrote, "Some are born great, some achieve greatness, and some have greatness thrust upon them." This move in Melbourne certainly seems "a divine thrusting on." Have the intellectual Amazons clamoured for the seats of the Judges? have they cried aloud for place among "the greybeards at our Council?" and if they have, are they prepared to take the consequences, and assume all the responsibilities of office? Members to the Senate are elected. Shall we see in the Melbourne papers one of these days: "Miss Penthesilea Sappho announces herself as a candidate for the seat in the Senate of the University vacated by the late Mr. USURPER MASCULINE? And when the hurly-burly of the election is over, when the lady is triumphantly elected, as she of course will be, be she "fair and wise and of great grace of manner," where shall she sit in the scholastic Wittenagemot, and what shall be her function? If that long-talked-of war with Russia should come off at last, would she take command of a College Company and fight for Queen and country? or would she, like the Trojan dames, but view the battle from afar, and greet the war-worn Senators on their return? If the lady-graduates must have all the privileges of the University, if they are, as it were, to be given the freedom of the City of Letters, are they prepared to bear all the duties of citizenship? Senators are wise, we know, and they have no doubt thought this thing out well; but does it not appear that giving the maids of 1889 the chance to become fellows, senators, and counillors, they are a little ahead of time? The cause, perhaps, is to be found in the fact that Sir JULIUS VOGEL has given his 1990 book to the University library.

THE English mails dated London, 30th August by the long sea route, and 6th September via Italy, per Orient Company's steamer Liguria, will be due on Monday next in time for delivery to private boxholders, and from delivery windows of the General Post Office at 9 a.m., per city carriers at 11.30 a.m., and per suburban carriers at 2 p.m.

A DEPUTATION, representing the residents of Charlestown, a place near Newcastle, visited several of the Government Departments yesterday, and pointed out local requirements which need attention. The deputation first interviewed the Minister for Lands, and asked for a grant of land for a cemetery, and it then called on the Under-Secretary for Public Works, and drew his attention to the bad state of the public roads in the district. Subsequently the Postmaster-General was asked to erect a post and telegraph office in the township, as the present postal accommodation was said to be quite insufficient.

THE Parliamentary Committee on Public Works will meet again on Tuesday next, and will proceed with the consideration of the proposed railway to connect the North Shore line with Port Jackson, at Milson's Point. The sectional committee which has been appointed to report on this line, will examine the route early next week. Dr. Garran, a member of the sectional committee on the Nyngan to Cobar line, left Sydney last night, on his way to join the committee at Broken Hill. The committee was expected to be at Wilcannia to-day, and after taking evidence at that place, they intend to go on to Broken Hill, where they will also take evidence, returning to Sydney by way of Adelaide and Melbourne. The committee consists of the Hons. Dr. Garran and W. J. Trickett, Messrs. Copeland, O'Sullivan, Tonkin, and Hurley.

OWING to the appointment of Mr. John Dettmann to the position of second officer in command of the Public Schools Cadet Corps, a vacancy occurred in the head mastership of the Superior Public school at Fort-street. From among the applicants for the vacant position, the Minister for Public Instruction has selected Mr. John W. Turner, who at present occupies the position of head master of the Superior Public school at Blackfriars. Mr. Turner entered the service as a pupil teacher in March, 1864, and has successfully graduated as an assistant teacher, and as teacher of important schools in the country. He holds the highest grade of classification, which he obtained by examination. His career has been a very creditable one, he having succeeded in obtaining uniformly favourable reports from the inspectors, and having successfully prepared a large number of pupils for the University public examinations. The position of head master of the Fort-street school carries with it that of master of method in connection with the Training School for male students.

DURING the progress of the meeting Mr. Sydney Burdekin, M.L.A., stated that, as some misapprehension may have arisen with respect to the disposition of this fund, he wished to state most unmistakeably that they were asking the people of the colony to contribute with a generous hand for the sake of the widow of the Hon. John Sutherland, and for the widow only. The trustees would carry out the trust they had undertaken for the benefit of their late friend's widow, and attend to her wants down to the closing day of her life. This announcement appeared to afford considerable satisfaction to the audience.

IT is proposed, with a view to encourage the study of modern languages at the Sydney Grammar School, to establish a fund by subscriptions from merchants, members of the various professions, and others interested in educational matters, the interest on which will be sufficient to provide annual prizes for French and German languages, to be called the "Citizens' Prizes." Should a sufficient sum be raised, a scholarship might be substituted in each case. It is urged that the foundation of prizes, such as those now proposed, would give a real and permanent stimulus to a most important branch of modern education. Mr. A. H. Maxwell is the hon. treasurer, and Mr. Charles H. Hayes hon. secretary.

THE work of repairing the dam at Parramatta is rapidly proceeding. It is proposed to cut a channel in the dam and drain the river, thus allowing the workmen to partially clear the bed, and at the same time find material wherewith to make good the various property-holders' land washed away by the late flood. The bank of the river where the washaway occurred will be built in with a strong concrete wall.

A SOMEWHAT poorly-attended meeting was held in the Town Hall last evening for the purpose of taking steps to raise funds for the support of the widow of the Hon. John Sutherland, who was said to be in need. The Mayor presided. The following resolution, proposed by the Hon. William M'Millan, and seconded by Mr. T. M. Slattery, M.L.A., was unanimously adopted:—"That the long and faithful services rendered by the late Hon. John Sutherland in his position as a Minister of the Crown, as a people's representative, and as a citizen, deserve the grateful and liberal recognition of the people of this colony." Other resolutions were also agreed to, and trustees were appointed to administer the fund now being raised.

A FEW days ago the Rev. J. A. Soper, minister of the Petersham Baptist Church, resigned his charge on the ground of ill-health. On Wednesday evening a meeting of the congregation was held to consider the matter. At that meeting an announcement was made that the rev. gentleman had consented to accept six months' leave of absence, and withdraw his resignation. On the following evening a social gathering was held, and was largely attended. Reference was made to the approaching departure of Mr. Soper, and the hope expressed that he would return to his charge in sound health. Mr. Soper has officiated at Petersham for five years, during which period the church work has much increased.

As will be seen upon reference to an advertisement appearing in another column, the Spring Exhibition and Rose Show of the Horticultural Society of New South Wales is to be held in the Exhibition-building, Prince Alfred Park, on Wednesday and Thursday, 23rd and 24th October. We understand that the liberal schedule of prizes put forward, coupled with the glorious spring we are enjoying, have already induced a large infusion of new blood amongst the exhibitors, and competitors in the classes for ferns and roses will be exceptionally numerous. The leading nurserymen, evidently appreciating the advantage such an exhibition is to them from a business point of view, have made large applications for space, and will doubtless make a very effective display. This will be the first time such shows have been opened at night, and the aid of electricity for lighting purposes will prevent the disastrous consequences of gaslight and heat upon tender plants and flowers. The show will be opened at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of Wednesday, October 23, and finally close at 10 p.m. on Thursday evening.

THE following letter has been received by Mr. J. S. Hawthorne, M.L.A.:—"Sir,—With reference to your numerous personal representations respecting the proposed extension of the tramway from Leichhardt to Five Dock, and to your personal inquiry of yesterday as to what progress is being made to ensure an early commencement of the work, I am directed by the Secretary for Public Works to inform you that no time is being lost in arranging the preliminaries, and directions have been given for the legal notices in connection with the construction of the line to be got ready in order that the department may be in a position to commence operations as soon as the necessary transfers of the land are completed, which are now being prepared by the Crown Solicitor. I have the honour to be, sir, your obedient servant, J. BARLING, Under-Secretary."

A MEETING of the trades hall committee was held last evening in the Trades Hall, Dixon-street, Mr. J. E. West being in the chair. The secretary (Mr. R. Ferrier) wrote tendering his resignation, which was accepted, and it was decided to call a special meeting to consider the appointment of a successor, and elect an auditor. Mr. James Watson was elected secretary pro tem.

WITH regard to the dispute existing between the Painters' Society and Mr. Beaumont, master painter, of Market-street, nothing in the direction of a settlement has yet been arrived at. A deputation, representing the society, yesterday waited upon Mr. Beaumont, with a view to conciliating matters, but the interview terminated without any definite decision being formed. About a week ago, it will be remembered, the society men employed by Mr. Beaumont were called out of his shop in consequence of, as the men assert, his refusal to recognise the standard rate of wages as set down by the rules of the union. Mr. Beaumont informed the deputation that he had sometimes paid more than the regulation rate and sometimes less, according to the capabilities of the men, and he reserved to himself the right to judge of a workman's ability. He, however, agreed to recognise 9s. per day as the standard rate of pay, but he would not bind himself by signing any agreement to that effect. He admitted that he had, during his recent visit to Melbourne, obtained the services of several men, who had now commenced work at his shop in Sydney. The result of the interview will be considered at a special meeting of the society early next week.

IT was reported to the City Coroner yesterday morning that an infant named Lizzie Cohen had died while in the charge of a woman named Ellen Batts, who resides at No. 10, Vernon-street, Woollahra. It will be remembered that an inquest was initiated on Tuesday with regard to the deaths of two other infants who had died while under the care of Mrs. Batts, and that when the jury visited the house they found a third infant apparently upon the verge of death. It was suggested by one of the jurors that the coroner should take some steps with regard to the infant, which, although not dead, appeared to be very bad. The coroner said that to do so was beyond his jurisdiction, but that the police and doctors were in the house. This is the infant now dead, and the unfortunate child is the last of 12 who have been placed under the charge of Mrs. Batts. An inquest will be held this afternoon.

THE Court of Quarter Sessions closed yesterday, when the appeal cases were disposed of. Robert Henley successfully contested the power of a magistrate to sentence him to a month's imprisonment as an alternative punishment for the offence for which he was brought before the Bench, and his conviction was accordingly quashed. Albert Corner was unsuccessful in his appeal against a sentence passed on him by Mr. Lee, S.M., for fraudulently appropriating money, and his conviction was confirmed. The only other case was postponed till next sessions, the witnesses necessary to the trial not being in attendance.

A THEFT of a large sum of money was committed at the entrance to the Theatre Royal last evening, but a smart capture was effected by Detective Roache, and the greater part of the money was recovered. The victim was a visitor from the country, named William Crowley, who, with his two sons, went to the theatre in question at about 7 o'clock. He had a purse in his pocket, and when on the opposite side of the road to the theatre entrance, he drew it out and extracted half a sovereign. He replaced it in his pocket. It then contained six £10-notes, six £1-notes, and one £5-note, representing £71. It is probable that he was noticed, for as soon as he had paid for his tickets and was in the crowd at the entrance to the stalls he felt a dive in his pocket. He immediately found that his purse had been abstracted. The detective police were subsequently notified, and Detective Roache assisted by Detective Cooking, arrested two men named George Harrison and Joseph Lawson, who were sitting in the stalls. The purse was found empty on the ground, near Harrison's feet, and on being searched the sum of £60 represented by the missing notes, was found upon him. Both of the accused were conveyed to the Erskine-street station, and charged with the theft of the money.

IT was reported to the police last night that a young man had been robbed of a diamond pin, valued at £35, at the entrance to the Theatre Royal. On making a search the police found the missing article upon the premises, and returned it to the owner.

ON Thursday night a watch valued at 60 guineas, the property of Mr. Ridoubt, of the Theatre Royal Hotel, was stolen from the pocket of a waistcoat which he had left in one of the rooms on the premises. The police have the matter in hand.

SIR ALFRED STEPHEN, in the Legislative Council, Sydney, has (says the Brisbane Telegraph) moved that it be lawful to continue in a succeeding session of Parliament work begun in a previous session. It is many years since it was determined that judicial proceedings begun in one session of the British Parliament should be continued in the next, as if no interval had taken place, and this applies even to succeeding Parliaments. But up to the present legislators have not resolved in a similar way to continue ordinary business. As in the great trial of "Eyes and Nose," so also as to this proposal—Lawyer Tongue could argue long on both sides. It would be a great advantage as to all business which all parties desire to see advanced to completion, but it would be a great disadvantage as to all business which it is desired to frustrate. At present one great resource of Parliamentarians is to obstruct and delay an obnoxious measure until it is doomed to fall in the proverbial slaughter of the innocents. Should legislatures adopt Sir Alfred's suggestion, one of the best weapons of Parliamentary warfare would become impossible. That would be a serious set-off against the supposed or real benefit of saving labour expended on good and acceptable measures. It would also be a serious outrage against the old form of Parliamentary procedure, supposed to be grounded upon eternal principle. A Parliament assembles to obtain redress of grievances and to grant supplies. That is the old idea. It is much modified by the present state of things; still, there it is. And that being so, it will require an effort to persuade people generally that the evil of the day is not sufficient therefor. But it is worth noting that this suggestion emanates from almost, if not quite the oldest man in Australia, and certainly the oldest living judge.

A NEW system of locomotion is to be tried in Victoria. The Box Hill electric tramway is to be opened on Monday next, when a banquet will be given in connection with the ceremony at Doncaster. The line, which is two and a quarter miles long, commences at the White Horse-road, Box Hill, and ends just below the tower at Doncaster. The heaviest grade on the line is 1 in 16½. The gauge of the track is 4ft. 8½in., and rails of 40lb. weight are used. The electric motive power is supplied on the Thomson-Houstoun Direct Overhead Wire system, which was in work at the Centennial International Exhibition. The power is supplied from an engine-house placed about halfway along the track on Bushy Creek. The engine drives a Thomson-Houstoun dynamo, which can charge the overhead wire with about 50-horsepower. The car is fitted with a Thomson-Houstoun motor of 15-horsepower, and receives electricity from the overhead wire along the track by means of a long arm from the top of the car.

THE Argus states that the high level reached by previous speakers on the Divorce Bill in the Victorian Legislative Assembly was maintained on Wednesday night by Dr. Pearson, who had the exhilirating pleasure of addressing a large gathering of members. He has always been a warm supporter of the measure, and yesterday came to Mr. Shiels' assistance by replying to the Attorney-General's criticism. His main point was in denial of the assertion that a divorced person domiciled in Victoria who re-married would be regarded as an adulterer if he visited England with his second wife. So far from that being the case, he contended that the second marriage would be respected in England, seeing that it was recognised in this colony. Such would not be the fate, however, of a person not a permanent resident here, but who made use of Victoria as a "divorce shop." After Dr. Pearson came Mr. W. T. Carter. Then Mr. Nimmo delivered some massive sentences at Mr. Shiels and his bill. He had no patience with young and thoughtless persons who imagined themselves to be philosophers, while as for the bill, it was "a congeries of unphilosophical and ill-digested propositions." Mr. Nimmo was very much warmer than usual, and Mr. Peacock laughed at his points very much more boisterously than usual. So between them there was no lack of noise. Mr. Taylor and Mr. Armytage were the other speakers, and the second reading of the bill was then agreed to by 28 votes to 3, the latter being Mr. Wrixon, Mr. Nimmo, and Mr. Staughton. Twenty-six members paired, and others who supported the bill, and were yet unable to be present, could find no pairs. Mr. Gillies promised Mr. Shiels to give him an opportunity of proceeding with the bill in Committee on some Government night if no time were available during private members' hours.

A RETURN laid before the South Australian Assembly in reference to the number of estates which were subjected to probate and succession duty from 1884 to 1888 inclusive gave the following figures:—Under £500—1884, 368; 1885, 318; 1886, 372; 1887, 381; 1888, 363; over £500 and under £1000—1884, 104; 1885, 104; 1886, 110; 1887, 98; 1888, 95; over £1000 and under £2000—1884, 61; 1885, 51; 1886, 48; 1887, 64; 1888, 34; over £2000 and under £3000—1884, 24; 1885, 13; 1886, 19; 1887, 20; 1888, 29; over £3000 and under £5000—1884, 13; 1885, 20; 1886, 24; 1887, 20; 1888, 18; over £5000 and under 7500—1884, 12; 1885, 8; 1886, 3; 1887, 15; 1888, 10; over £7500 and under £10,000—1884, 8; 1885, 3; 1886, 4; 1887, 6; 1888, 4; over £10,000 and under £15,000—1884, 5; 1885, 4; 1886, 7; 1887, 4; 1888, 3; over £15,000 and under £20,000—1884, 5; 1885, 2; 1886, 3; 1887, 1; 1888, 3; over £20,000 and under 30,000—1884, 5; 1885, 1; 1886, 4; 1887, nil; 1888, 1; over £30,000 and under £50,000—1884, 2; 1885, nil; 1886, 2; 1887, 3; 1888, nil; over £50,000—1884, 2; 1885, 3; 1886, 4; 1887, 3; 1888, nil.

THE Mineral Water Trade Review says:—"The objectionable practice of placing bottles of aërated waters in shop windows is the frequent cause of accidents, always destructive to property, and sometimes attended with injury to the person. For this the unfortunate mineral-water maker gets the blame, which he passes on to the firm who supplies the bottles, when, as a matter of fact, no blame is attributable to either, but rather to the stupidity of the retailer. What wine merchant would expose his wares to the action of heat and sunshine? Yet it is even more important to keep aërated waters—sometimes charged with a pressure of 100lb. to the square inch—in a cool place. Syphons have frequently been known to burst owing to the fierce action of the sun's rays behind glass, and do damage to the extent of £20. The retailers, in their own interest, should exercise their common sense in this matter; but if they do not, it is the duty of the manufacturers supplying them with aërated beverages to give them a reminder."

MESSRS. COOK AND SON announce in another column that they have arranged for a special excursion train to run to Melbourne on Thursday next.

TO-MORROW afternoon the Art Society's exhibition will be open to the public free.

MESSRS. JAMES MARTIN AND CO., of Sydney, were, in connection with the recent agricultural show, awarded the Government prize for the stump jumping plough, and not, as stated on the 5th instant, Messrs. James Martin and Co., of South Australia.

IT will be seen by advertisement elsewhere that a lecture will be delivered by the Rev. J. W. Inglis to-morrow evening, at the Leichhardt Town Hall, on "Christian Socialism."

IN the Volunteer Fire Brigade Art Union, held in aid of the widows of the Glebe coal-mine disaster, the winning number was 3816.

THE following is the order of musical service at St. Andrew's Cathedral to-morrow:—Morning: Te Deum, and Jubilate, Tours in F; anthem, "I am Alpha and Omega" (Stainer). Afternoon: Magnificat, Tours in F; anthem, "What are these that are arrayed in white robes" (Stainer); Litany (Tallis).

NEWMARKET SECOND OCTOBER MEETING.

THE CESAREWITCH AND CHAMPION STAKES.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, OCT. 10.

The Newmarket Second October Meeting was continued to-day, when the following events were decided:—

THE CESAREWITCH STAKES, a handicap sweepstake of 25 sovs. each, with 500 sovs. added; second horse to receive 200 sovs., and the third 100 sovs. out of the stakes. Cesarewitch course. 2 miles 2 furlongs and 28 yards.

Mr. W. Gooter's b m Primrose Day, by Sir Bevys—Bonny Spec, 4 years 1
Mr. A. Taylor's b or br c Ingram, by Isonomy—Pirate Queen, 4 years 2
Mr. Noel Fenwick's ch f Mercy, by Barcaldine—Clemence, 3 years 3

The opening contest for this handicap dates back to 1839, when Cruiskeen Lawn annexed the prize from 10 competitors. Hitherto the race has been held on the second day of the Second October Meeting, but this year it was deferred till the fourth day of the reunion. The nominations closed in the first week of August with 75 subscribers, the candidates including some of the best racing stock in England, while Australia was represented by the brown horse Ringmaster. Among the most celebrated horses entered for the event are The Baron, Gold Seeker, Dan Dancer, El Dorado, Reve d' Or, Friar's Balsam, Tissaphernes, Martley, Millstream, Vasistas, Veracity, Danbydale, Trayles, Fallow Chat, and Screech Owl. Last year the Cesarewitch was won by Mons. M. P. Aumont's bay mare Tenebreuse, by Mourle or Saxifrage, who carried 8st. 12lb., and defeated Millstream, 6st. 7lb., by three-parts of a length, with Trayles, 7st. 12lb., a bad third, followed by 20 others.

THE CHAMPION STAKES of 20 sovs. each, with 1000 sovs. added if 150 subscribers, less if a less number; three-year-olds to carry 8st. 5lb., four-year-olds and upwards to carry 9st.; mares allowed 3lb.; second horse to receive 10 per cent., and the third 5 per cent., of the whole stake; A.F.—1 mile and 2 furlongs straight.

Prince Soltykoff's ch c Gold, by Sterling—Lucetta, 3 years, 8st. 5lb. 1
Mr. Manton's ch f Antibes, by Isonomy—St. Marguerite, 3 years, 8st. 2lb. 2
Duke of Portland's b c Ayrshire, by Hampton—Atalanta, 4 years, 9st. 3

The subscribers for the Champion Stakes, 1889, numbered 57, and comprised some of the leading performers on the English turf. In addition to the horses that distinguished themselves by securing places may be mentioned the candidates for the Champion Stakes included Friar's Balsam, Minthe, Crowberry, Evergreen, Enthusiast, Satiety, Larrikin, Pioneer, Freemason, Scottish Fusileer, Danbydale, and Acme, besides a number of well-bred youngsters who have yet to earn honourable mention. Sir F. Johnstone's colt, Friar's Balsam, won the race in a canter last year from Minting, who was succeeded by Zanzibar, Mamia, Love-in-Idleness, and Beaburb.

FIGURES DO NOT LIE—IN THE CUSTOM-HOUSE.

The Custom-House returns to September 30, 1889, show an average increase of duty paid on cocoa and chocolate of some £3000 for the year 1889 over that of 1888. Of the entire amount of revenue derived from the duty on cocoa and chocolate per annum, that from FRY'S COCOA amounts to more than ONE-FOURTH, although there are about 30 direct importers of other cocoa brands. The best proof of popularity is the——Custom-House.—[ADVT.]

THE NEW HEBRIDES QUESTION.

FRANCEVILLE AND FRANCE.

[BY CABLE.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, OCT. 10.

M. Eugène Etienne, Under-Secretary of State for Commerce, Industry, and the Colonies, has stated that the petition of certain inhabitants of Franceville, the new French settlement in the New Hebrides, for the extension of French influence in that place, is merely waste paper.

THE SCHOOL STRIKES.

THE MOVEMENT IN LONDON.

THE PARENTS AND NEIGHBOURS INTERFERE.

(BY CABLE.)
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, OCT. 10.

The agitation of school children has spread to London, where the movement has already established itself in several localities. Up to last report a dozen of Board and other schools have been the scene of a recurrence of similar affairs to those already reported in Scotland.

In all these places the boys have ceased attendance at schools and provided themselves with banners, upon which are inscribed their demands, which consist of shorter hours of study, the abolition of the system of home lessons, and the granting of more holidays than those at present allowed.

Occasional violence is reported as taking place, the boys belonging to the "strikers" intimidating, by threats and otherwise, those of their schoolmates who decline to take part in the agitation.

A ridiculous feature occurred in the case of one of the processions arranged by the youthful strikers. A procession was formed consisting of 500 of the aggrieved school-children, but the parents and neighbours of several of the children interfered and drove them home.

VISIT OF THE CZAR TO GERMANY.

BRISBANE, FRIDAY.

In the Legislative Assembly to-day, a motion by Mr. Hunter for placing £20,000 on the Supplementary Estimates for putting down artesian bores at Croydon, Etheridge, and other places in the North, which was discussed at the preliminary stage yesterday, was further considered in committee to-day. It was eventually withdrawn, the Treasurer stating that the Government would instruct the Government Geologist to forthwith select suitable sites for bores, tenders for the sinking of which would be called without delay. The Federal Council Referring Bill was passed through committee. The Diseases in Sheep Bill was also passed through committee. The Council's amendments in the Land Acts Amendment Bill were considered in committee. Some were disagreed with. The House adjourned at 10 minutes past 10.

TASMANIA.

HOBART, FRIDAY.

The Legislative Council was occupied all day with the Licensing Bill. Important alterations have been made, fixing the hours of closing as at present, 10 o'clock, and striking out the clause imposing a license fee of £25 on clubs. The alteration in the hour of closing as proposed by the bill is likely to cause the loss of the measure. A registration of £5 for clubs, as in New Zealand, is likely to be adopted to prevent the establishment of sham clubs.

The Assembly dealt with the Marine Board Bill to make the board elective.

A MELBOURNE LIBEL CASE.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

MELBOURNE, FRIDAY.

The libel action George Gray v. the South Melbourne Citizen, in which damages were claimed at £1000 for the publication of statements imputing sordid and unworthy motives to the plaintiff in connection with his support of Councillor Larkins at the late general election, was concluded in the Banco Court to-day. Mr. Justice A'Beckett found that one statement was certainly libellous, and that the offence had been aggravated by the plea that it was true in substance and fact. He gave a verdict of £50 and the whole costs of the action.

THE ESCAPE OF PRISONERS FROM GEELONG GAOL.

THE CONVICTS REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN SEEN.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

MELBOURNE, FRIDAY.

There was great excitement in Geelong to-day, caused by a rumour that Farrell and Clarke, the escaped convicts, had been captured after a desperate fight. The report was untrue; but on the midday train from Ballarat arriving at Geelong, Bond, the driver, reported to the police that between Meredith and Lethbridge he observed two men about a hundred yards from the railway line. As the train passed they endeavoured to hide, one behind the other, under cover of a dead tree. The driver observed that both wore prison garments. One had a straw hat on, while the other man's head was bare. They had a small swag, and as the train passed they ran towards Meredith. A body of police left Geelong about 3 o'clock this afternoon in pursuit.

The report of Mr. Brett, Inspector-General of Penal Establishments, who held an inquiry regarding the escape of Farrell and Clarke from the Geelong Gaol, has been forwarded to the Chief Secretary. The men were regarded as criminals whose career was practically ended, both being over 60 years of age. Farrell suffers severely from rheumatism, and Clarke's lungs are affected to such an extent that he spits blood habitually. In view of their health they were sent to Geelong, where aged or infirm prisoners are kept.

VICTORIA.

MELBOURNE, FRIDAY.

The ship Oneida, from London, had a rough time during the last three weeks of her voyage. On one occasion a heavy sea broke on board, smashing the wheel and nearly carrying the men at the wheel overboard. It broke the cabin windows and flooded the cabin. Two boats were smashed on the skids, and other damage was done.

A conference of farmers on the subjects of ensilage and dairying was concluded to-day. In responding to a vote of thanks at the close, Mr. Dow said it was the intention of the Government to employ experts in all the various sections of the Agricultural Department.

Edward Woolf, who gave himself into custody last week for murdering a man at Bena, was brought before the City Court to-day and discharged. The police inquired into the man's statements, and found that they were entirely without foundation.

Ugo Bertoli, aged 23, a clerk in the Ports and Harbours Department, was arrested to-day on a charge of embezzling £26. The total deficiency is stated to be about £100.

A medical man named Horace Wright was arrested in Sandhurst to-day on two charges of obtaining money by means of valueless cheques, and also on a charge of assaulting a girl eight years old. Wright was acting as locum tenens for Dr. Atkinson, who has been to Adelaide on his wedding tour.

The Public schools second crews' race was rowed on the Albert Park lake this afternoon, and resulted as follows:—Geelong Grammar School, 1; Melbourne Grammar School, 2; Scotch College, 3; Wesley College, 4.

QUEENSLAND.

BRISBANE, FRIDAY.

Certain charges having been made against the Rev. Mr. Nobbs, they were brought before the Bishop of Brisbane by one of the churchwardens. The Bishop has issued an inhibition order prohibiting Mr. Nobbs from officiating as a clergyman pending a full inquiry into the charges.

The Premier has been rather seriously indisposed during the last few days. He was much better this morning, but is still unable to attend to his official duties.

Mr. Irving, the Government Veterinary Surgeon, has reported to the Colonial Secretary on the recent outbreak of disease amongst horses in the Warwick district, which was stated to have caused a number of deaths. It appears there have been no deaths for 10 days. Mr. Irving could not, therefore, make a correct diagnosis of the disease. Horses of mature age are not affected, the disease being confined to foals just weaned and placed in paddock on lucerne and prairie grass. The symptoms are those of peritonitis. Mr. Irving does not consider the deaths are caused by any contagious disease, but are accounted for by foals being put into rich pasture.

A serious complication has arisen between the Rockhampton branch of the Wharf Labourers' Union and an official connected with the exportation of frozen meat from the Lakes Creek works in regard to the wages question. The operations of loading the s.s. Balmoral Castle have been temporarily suspended, and 11 of the sailors were arrested.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

ADELAIDE, FRIDAY.

It is understood that the adjourned hearing of the summons in reference to the making of a call upon the shareholders of the Commercial Bank of South Australia will come on at the Supreme Court on an early date. It is believed that Messrs. W. H. Wadey, A. E. Sawtell, and James Hall—in accordance with the wishes of a large number of shareholders—are likely to be appointed to represent the shareholders at the hearing. Mr. W. Y. Smith will act in their behalf.

In W. E. Adcock's insolvency case Mr. Justice Boucaut has adjourned the proceedings sine die. Protection was refused, the whole proceedings being redolent with suspicion.

The R.M.S. Liguria arrived from London this afternoon. The mails for the eastern colonies went on by the half-past 6 train.

A new Masonic lodge of a special character has been formed in Adelaide. The leading objects of the lodge are to cultivate a higher standard of Masonic work, and to promote literary efforts and the diffusion of Masonic law.

THE ACCIDENT TO THE TAROBA.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

BRISBANE, FRIDAY.

Further information concerning the British India steamer Taroba states that she struck a rock just after leaving Mackay, between 5 and 6 o'clock on Wednesday evening. The weather was calm and no shock was felt, but only a grating noise, and the ship was kept under way, but it being found that water was coming in, pumping was commenced. About midnight the passengers were called on to assist the crew, as the water, so it was reported, was gaining about 5ft. an hour. The men kept at the deck pumps in shifts, and the steam pumps were kept going. The Taroba reached Keppel Bay about 1 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, and was beached at Sea Hill, but was subsequently removed lower down abreast of the light-keeper's house. The commander of the Taroba wired to the Rockhampton agents of the company asking for pumping gear, and the most powerful tender they had. Both the Dolphin and the Taldora were down in the bay, but the Government steamer Fitzroy left for the Taroba this morning with pumping gear and the representatives of the company aboard. The Taroba is damaged under the engine-room. None of the cargo is damaged, and a telegram from Captain Morris this morning states that the water in the hold was reduced during the night. The portmaster (Captain Heath) states that from the bearings communicated by Coast pilot Binstead, he has been enabled to fix the exact locality of the rock on which the Taroba struck. It is about three-quarters of a mile north-east half north from the centre of Round Top Island, close to where seven and a-quarter fathoms are marked on the chart.

LATER.

The latest news in regard to the Taroba states that at no time was there any water in any of the holds, and only in the engine-room and stokeholes. The cargo is quite undamaged up to the present. There is no apparent damage to the vessel, only the cement being cracked. The vessel will be recemented, and will then proceed on her voyage to Brisbane. The captain anticipates getting away in a couple of days. The vessel is now free from water.

A very successful bazaar in aid of Saint Mark's local Church of England was held the last two days.

The Rifle Club are much disappointed that they are unable to obtain ammunition from the military authorities, although application was made several weeks back. Several members who intended taking part in the association matches are unable to practice, and consequently will be obliged to remain away.

BINGERA, FRIDAY.

Sergeant Johnston leaves here next week for Gunnedah, having been promoted to the post of senior sergeant for that place. Constable Schroder, the Bingera gaoler, has retired on his pension, having served 33 years. The inspector-general, inspector, and sub-inspector have been here the last few days.

BRAIDWOOD, FRIDAY.

The first skating carnival was held in the local rink last night, and was a success, upwards of 300 people being present. All the skaters were in fancy dress.

The weather is very cold and cloudy, with every appearance of rain.

EUGOWRA, FRIDAY.

The weather is splendid. Shearing is in full swing. Numbers of heavily-laden waggons are passing with wool daily.

A brisk inquiry for land has sprung up during the past 15 months. Seventeen new conditional purchases with conditional lease have been taken up within eight miles of Eugowra. One hundred thousand sheep will be shorn within the same radius this season. If railway communication be extended here, the amount of land taken up and put under cultivation would be largely increased. The amount of fine agricultural land available would be considerably increased if many of the reserves of no use except to at present shut out settlement were thrown open to selection.

GOODOOGA, FRIDAY.

The weather is beautifully fine since the rain. It is now getting hot again. The grass is growing splendidly.

Shearing is progressing. The Wolseley machines are doing good work at Weelmoringle and Dumble, several men getting over 100 in wethers.

The Bokhara and Culgoa are in high flood.

GRAFTON, FRIDAY.

At a public meeting held at Maclean this week an organisation was formed termed the Lower Clarence Progress Association. Fifteen persons were elected as a board of management.

The attendance at the flower show on both days numbered 2056, and £82 was taken as admission. The total expenditure is estimated at £75.

Sir T. G. Esmonde addressed a meeting of 250 in the Theatre Royal to-night in aid of the evicted Irish tenants' fund. Alderman Beatson presided, and there were on the platform Messrs E. M. Ryan, J. H. Munro, J. O. Keefe, J. Mellon, and G. Foot. The meeting was very orderly and enthusiastic, and over £75 was subscribed to the fund. A number of down river people attended by steamer.

MURRURUNDI, FRIDAY.

A fettler named John Wright was received into the Murrurundi Hospital this afternoon with a smashed kneecap, caused by a passing train at Quipolly striking the trolly wheels which were standing too close to the line.

One hundred and twenty thousand sheep will be cut out at Warrah station. They finish shearing on Tuesday next. The Australian shearing machines are a thorough success here.

The weather is fine.

TUMUT, FRIDAY.

Mr. John Deasy, M.P., arrived yesterday, and was met and escorted into town, where he received an address of welcome at Madigan's Oriental Hotel. In the evening he addressed about 300 persons at the Oddfellows' Hall, and was accorded a warm reception. Mr. William Bourke was chairman. The subscriptions amounted to £110.

WAGGA, FRIDAY.

The crops never looked so well for years past as they do this season. There are very few instances of rust occurring in places where seed was sown in April. The reapers and binders will be at work at the end of this month. A few crops are already in the ear, and are almost ready to be threshed. Should the present fine weather continue the yield will be unparalleled.

On Tuesday nine young rabbits were caught in one burrow at Kildary, a few miles from here.

Mr. Angus Mackay, of the Technical Board of Education, delivered a lecture in the Oddfellows' Hall, on Thursday, on "The Science of Agriculture," under the auspices of the Wagga Agricultural and Horticultural Union. Mr. James Gormly, M.L.A., presided. The lecturer described the making of silos. In referring to the predicted drought, he said he had been asked what he thought about it. He did not think he was competent to judge as to what was going to happen three years hence. It would do no harm, however, to cut stuff for ensilage. A vote of thanks to Mr. Mackay was carried by acclamation. In returning thanks Mr. Mackay said he hoped the union would prosper. He was exceedingly anxious that any work carried out by the Agricultural Department should be of a thoroughly practical nature. A vote of thanks to Mr. Gormly for presiding was carried amidst cheering.

ELECTRIC LIGHTING AT GOULBURN.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

GOULBURN, FRIDAY.

At the council meeting last evening the electric lighting committee presented their report. They recommended that the council should, without delay, invite tenders for the installation of the electric light in the city. They suggested that the system should be the incandescent system entirely, the plant to be capable of supplying 1000 lights, including 140 street lamps of 25-candle power each. They further recommended that the council should lay on the light to business and private houses and halls, &c., by its own engineer as occasion might require. It was also proposed that the council purchase the plant right out, also that the members of the committee be authorised to prepare plans and specifications, and empowered to look out for a suitable site, and ascertain the cost thereof, for submission to the council. The report was adopted. It was stated that a rough estimate of the cost of the plant, and fixing and getting everything into work would be about £7090, and that the annual expenses, including interest and 2½ per cent. for depreciation, would be £1390. At present the lighting of 102 lamps by gas cost £947. If 400 or 500 people used the light the cost of lighting the streets would be reduced to about £700.

THE KIAMA AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIATION.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

KIAMA, FRIDAY.

The monthly meeting of the Kiama Agricultural Association was held in the council-chamber to-night, at which some important communications were considered. One of these was from the Shoalhaven Agricultural Society, asking whether the Kiama Society intends taking any action towards creating a fund for the extermination of flying foxes. Some members of the committee were of opinion that a portion of the money collected under the provisions of the Pastures and Stock Protection Act might very properly be applied towards the destruction of these pests, especially as there are few if any noxious animals in the Kiama sheep district. The letter was regarded as one of national importance, and a resolution was passed to bring the matter before the Government, with a view to legislation thereon. Mr. John James, on behalf of the sub-committee appointed to report on the adaptability of Baby separators for butter tests, brought up a draft report, which will be considered at a special meeting of the association next week. The report contemplates considerable changes in the system of testing cows, and they appear to be changes in the direction of progress.

THE NEWCASTLE ELECTION.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

NEWCASTLE, FRIDAY.

This evening Mr. W. Grahame addressed some 300 of the electors from the balcony of the Criterion Hotel, in Hunter-street. Alderman Laing presided. Heavy rain fell at intervals. Mr. Grahame was well received. He was followed by Messrs. Wall, J. P. Abbott, Fletcher, and Alexander Brown, members of the Legislative Assembly, all of whom asked those present to vote for Mr. Grahame and protection. The chairman called for a show of hands, which was declared in favour of Mr. Grahame. The meeting terminated with three cheers for protection.

Notwithstanding the inclement weather, a large number of the electors assembled at Wickham and Carrington to-night to hear Mr. J. Curley, the free-trade candidate, express his views. Mr. Curley was well received, and unanimous votes of confidence were accorded to him.

THE PICTON LAND BOARD.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

PICTON, FRIDAY.

The Land Board, consisting of Mr. T. W. Harriott (chairman), and Messrs. Franklin and Eager, members, concluded a two days' sitting yesterday. One case for inquiry was postponed. Two claims for contribution for fencing were allowed. In the applications for conditional purchases seven were sent for survey, four were confirmed, and six were disallowed. In conditional leases, Charles Dunn, rent fixed at 3d.; and Lewis Wearne, 3½d. Five applications to substitute other improvements in lieu of fencing were allowed. Five cases for exemption and extension of fencing were granted, as the board found the conditions were fulfilled. Five declarations of compliance with the conditions were found to be satisfactory.

THE WAGGA LAND BOARD.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

WAGGA, FRIDAY.

At the Land Board on Thursday, inquiry was held under the provisions of section 20 of the Crown Lands Act, 1884, as to the fulfilment of conditions of residence and fencing. The following cases were dealt with:—Robert Downie Boyd, 546 acres, Wallerooble, upheld; John Fairlie Cunningham, 320 acres, Ardellan, no appearance, forfeited; William Edmondson, 924¾ acres, Northcote, no appearance, postponed until receipt of the report of the conditional purchase inspector; John Cobden, 138¾ acres, Bumula, no appearance, granted extension of time to 11th December to complete fencing; Michael Mulloy, 120 acres, Belmore, no appearance, forfeited. To-day the board heard the following applications:—Michael Joseph Phelan, 42 acres, Bulalgee, granted extension of time to 1st March, 1890, to complete fencing; Thomas Nugent, 506 acres, Kilgoula, no appearance, forfeited; Patrick Phillip O'Connor, 258 acres, Ivor, no appearance, forfeited; Franz Hanckel, 71¼ acres, Edgehill, upheld; Edward Hendren, 518¼ acres, Umbango, no appearance, forfeited; Lawrence Martin, originally Thomas Cuneen, deceased, 82 acres, Arajoel, no appearance, forfeited; August Ludwig Dentschey, 640 acres, Langi, Kal Kal, confirmed conditional purchase; and also conditional lease, 1920 acres, same parish, fixed the annual rent at 4d. an acre. The board concluded its sitting.

THE ESCAPE OF A PRISONER FROM WINDSOR GAOL.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

WINDSOR, FRIDAY.

At the Police Court this morning Alfred Murley, on remand, was charged with escaping from Windsor gaol on the 7th September, 1886. The evidence of the then gaoler, Arthur Berckleman, was taken. He said it came under his notice that one of the window bars had been cut. The circumstances under which the prisoner escaped were so strange that it was always believed that he must have had some help from outside, and great interest was manifested to-day to learn how the escape was managed. The prisoner made a statement in which he declared that he was assisted in his escape by one of the warders of the gaol. The prisoner was committed for trial.

MASONIC INSTALLATION AT ULMARRA.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

GRAFTON, FRIDAY.

A new Masonic Lodge was opened at Ulmarra last night. The dedication ceremony was performed by Bro. Toomey, Deputy Grand Lodge Secretary. The assemblage of Masons was the largest yet held on the Clarence, including 40 members from the Palmerston and Prince Leopold Lodges, Grafton, and 15 from the Livingstonia Lodge, Maclean. The first officers installed for the Lodge Ulmarra were:—John Scott, W.M.; Nicholas Stick, S.W.; Thomas Glissan, J.W.; Ewan Cameron, treasurer; Arthur Flanders, secretary; J. R. Campbell, I.G.; Joseph Jurd, S.D.; James M'Allum, J.D.; Moses Trotter, tyler. At a banquet held afterwards in the Gaiety Theatre the usual toasts were honoured, and speeches were delivered, during which the progress of Masonry in the district was referred to, this being the fourth lodge opened on the Clarence.

OPENING OF THE GOULBURN HOSPITAL.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

GOULBURN, FRIDAY.

The new hospital was opened this afternoon by Mr. Gannon, the Mayor, who is also president of the institution. The children from the three Public schools of the city, the Patrician Brothers' school, Convent, and day school assembled at Belmore-square, in all to the number of about 1000, and marched in procession to the building. The attendance of the general public was not very large. The president, on the arrival of the school children, gave an address, sketching the history of the hospital work in Goulburn. He stated that during the past five years 815 patients had been treated in the hospital. The average income had been about £400. Up to the 30th September this year the income had been £531. Under the will of Mrs. Steer the hospital had benefited to the extent of £1400, and under that of the Hon. J. Chisholm to the extent of £500. For the first £100 of these bequests the Government had agreed to pay pound for pound, and on the balance 5 per cent. per annum in perpetuity, so that the hospital would now have £80 per year income it had not previously enjoyed. The expenditure for this year would amount to about £1200. He made an appeal for aid, as the support given to the hospital was not what might be expected. At the close of his speech he declared the building open. The children sang "God Save the Queen," and short addresses were given by the Anglican and Roman Catholic bishops, and the the Rev. A. M. Tait (Presbyterian), who concluded by offering prayer. After this cheers were given for the Queen and the President. The building was thrown open to the public, and in the evening the president gave a dinner at the Royal Hotel.

The complete plans of the hospital provide for the administrative portion and a pavilion on either side, but the contract only covers the administrative portion and the eastern pavilion. The buildings are of brick, with slate roofs. Ornamentation has not been studied, but the grouping of the different blocks has been used to gain effect. The latest improvements in hospital construction have been adopted. Special attention has been paid to ventilation, and wood has been dispensed with as far as possible in the wards. The male ward has 14 beds, and the female ward 10 beds. The amount of the contract was £7000, and the contractors were Messrs. Goode and Son. His Excellency the Governor laid the foundation stone about two years ago. The building is situated in a large reserve at the west of the town, opposite the show grounds. Mr. E. C. Manfred, of Goulburn, was the architect.

THE EIGHT-HOURS BANQUET IN NEWCASTLE.

EIGHT HOURS FOR SHOPMEN.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

NEWCASTLE, FRIDAY.

A banquet in honour of the eight-hours movement took place at the Alhambra Hall, near Wickham, last night. The chair was taken by Mr. J. L. Fegan, President of the Eight-hour Committee. Amongst the guests there were Messrs. James Fletcher, A. Brown, J. Creer, T. Walker, J. Garrard, and R. A. Ritchie, Ms.L.A. Apologies were read from Messrs. Melville and Schey, Ms.L.A. After the usual loyal toasts, Mr. J. Middleby, miners' delegate, proposed the toast of "The Parliament of New South Wales," which was responded to by Messrs. James Fletcher, J. Creer, and A. Brown.

Mr. J. Thompson, president of the Hunter River Miners' Association, proposed "The Day we Celebrate," which toast was responded to by Mr. James Curley, Messrs. T. Walker and J. Garrard, Ms.L.A., the Mayor of Newcastle (Alderman H. Buchanan), Messrs. M'Glinchy, W. H. Cremor, and J. Barry.

Mr. A. Drummond, secretary of the Wallsend miners, proposed "The Visitors," which was responded to by Mr. J. M'Gowan, president of the Sydney Eight-hours Demonstration Committee, and Mr. R. Goode, secretary; also by Mr. Bannister, of the Sydney Bricklayers' Society; Mr. Donnelly, Sydney Amalgamated Engineers; and Mr. Minto, president of the Seamen's Union, Sydney. The last-named gentleman pointed out how desirable it was that an effort should be made to get for the shopmen the boon of eight hours.

Mr. W. Millar proposed "Our Employers," and in doing so he spoke eulogistically of the efforts of Mr. R. A. Ritchie to establish the eight-hours principle in New South Wales.

Mr. R. A. Ritchie, M.L.A. for Central Cumberland, responded. He said he was pleased to be present, as he was the president of the first Eight-hours Demonstration Committee ever formed in Newcastle. Mr. Ritchie then went on to explain the benefits in the long run of eight hours a day. Alderman J. D. Ritchie (Waratah) also responded.

The remaining toasts were:—"The Donors of Trophies and Money Prizes," "The Ladies," "The Press," "The Chairman," and "The Host and Hostess."

The whole affair was very successful.

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS.—Sterling honesty of purpose; without it life is a sham. A new invention is brought before the public and commands success. A score of abominable imitations are immediately introduced by the unscrupulous, who in copying the original closely enough to deceive the public, and yet not so exactly as to infringe upon legal rights, exercise an ingenuity that, employed in an original channel, could not fail to secure reputation and profit.—Adams. ENO'S "FRUIT SALT" is the simplest and best remedy yet introduced. It is a pleasant beverage, which supplies the want of ripe fruit so essential to the animal economy, and can be taken with perfect safety at any time. Caution.—Examine each bottle, and see that the capsule is marked Eno's "Fruit Salt." Without it you have been imposed on by a worthless imitation. Sold by all chemists. Prepared only at Eno's "Fruit Salt" Works, Pomeroy-street, New Cross-road, London, England.—[ADVT.]

AMUSEMENTS.

THEATRE ROYAL.

The fourteen weeks of the comic opera season here came to a successful termination last night, when "Pepita" was performed before the largest audience seen in this theatre for months. The final representation doubtless would have attracted a great gathering, but not so enthusiastic a one as that of last evening. Three parts of the ground floor were occupied by reserved stalls, and every corner of the house was filled. Laughter and applause were the order of the evening, each member receiving a special greeting on making his or her entrance, particular plaudits being showered upon Miss Nellie Stewart, whose benefit it was, a fact which accounted for the immense and demonstrative audience. Miss Stewart is a favourite everywhere, and it is a happy circumstance that her native city is not behindhand in recognising and encouraging her merits. These merits are uncommon, and worthy of the highest response on the part of the public. It is rare to find anyone possessing Miss Stewart's sweetness and range of voice, together with her admirable acting ability. During the three months' season just concluded she has sung and acted such various parts as Elsie in "The Yeomen of the Guard," Pepita, Mabel in "The Pirates of Penzance," Yum-Yum in "The Mikado" and 'Dorothy.' She has done exceedingly well in all these characters, more especially in Elsie, Dorothy, and Pepita, which she played with exceptional brilliancy, singing each night with unvaried purity and no lack of power, and acting with earnestness, vivacity, and intelligence. Her engagement, now concluded with Messrs. Williamson, Garner, and Musgrove, has been of long standing, and its expiration is a loss to Australia. It was but natural that applause should be showered on Miss Stewart last night, and she was the recipient of a number of beautiful bouquets, which were handed to her at the end of the various acts. After the fall of the curtain on the second act, Miss Stewart was called for a speech, a request which hard work and nervousness prevented her from complying with; but Mr. Leumane, with Miss Stewart standing beside him, spoke in her stead, and, if anything could have compensated the audience for the loss of Miss Stewart's own voice on this interesting occasion, it would have been Mr. Leumane's eloquent, graceful, and evidently heartfelt address. On behalf of Miss Stewart he thanked the audience for their attendance and applause, and assured them that Miss Stewart deeply felt their constant kindness to her. It was a regret to her to leave Australia, but it was a deeper regret to the play-going public of this country that she had to say even "au revoir," for Miss Stewart would return to her own country at no very distant date. In the meantime, as an Englishman and as one who had visited nearly every city in America, he knew that Miss Stewart might rely upon making a success both in the United States and Great Britain. He also alluded to the loss that the company felt in Miss Stewart's retirement from among them. The speech was well-chosen and excellently delivered. The evening ended amid cheers, regrets, and good wishes. Miss Stewart may be assured that she will not be forgotten during her absence from Australia, and she takes with her the heartiest wishes of every theatregoer in this country for her prosperity abroad and a safe return to her native land.

All the other principal members of the opera company—Mr. Elton, Mr. Leumane, Mr. Howard Vernon, Mr. Walker Marnock, and Miss Fannie Liddiard—were warmly welcomed last night. The company, numbering eighty-three in all, left for Brisbane immediately after the performance by the Bulimba, which cleared the wharf at a quarter to 1 o'clock this morning. The theatre will be occupied to-night by Miss Jennie Lee, who, as Jo, will be supported by Mr. J. P. Burnett and a strong company headed by Mr. J. H. Clynds, an able and experienced actor.

HER MAJESTY'S.

The long and prosperous run of "Julius Cæsar" is ending with good houses, as it certainly deserves, and there is sure to be a large attendance to-night, when this splendid spectacle and Mr. Rignold's magnificent impersonation of Marc Antony will be seen for the last time. For Monday is fixed the revival of "Henry V.," with Mr. Rignold in his fine and well-known rendering of the title rôle.

CRITERION.

"Sophia" is also drawing well, as it certainly should, seeing that it is a capital play founded on a great classic bristling with human nature, full of excellent comedy and polished dialogue, and constructed with much effect. It could not be more beautifully mounted than it is by Mr. Dion Boucicault, junr., who has caught the spirit of the play and, thanks to the scenic efforts of Mr. Spong, has succeeded in giving the correct colouring to the play. The piece is thoroughly well acted by the Criterion company and it should continue to attract many people during the coming—the last—week of the revival. "The Pickpocket," in which the popular comedian, Mr. G. W. Ansen, will re-appear in Sydney, is set down for Saturday.

NEW OPERA HOUSE.

Hiscocks' London Pavilion Company have been drawing very large houses during the week, and, according to the applause of the audience, they are likely to continue to do so. The first part is of a superior description. The curtain rises to 50 performers of ladies and gentlemen. The strong chorus of voices is received with great enthusiasm. The second part includes Jolly John Nash, Mortan and Saddler, the two Mikes, the Blair Sisters, and Horace Bent, and the double quartette, together with numerous other performers. The Opera House should have a long and prosperous run. A change of programme is announced for this evening.

THE FINAL SANTLEY CONCERT.

The last of the series of Santley concerts attracted a large audience last evening to the Y. M. C. A. Hall. Mr. Santley was if possible, even more warmly welcomed than usual, and his efforts were received with increased enthusiasm. It hardly need be said that his fine singing of Purcell's grand scena and aria, "Let the dreadful engines of Eternal Will," and of Gounod's "Nazareth," evoked applause, and that invariable encores resulted. After his magnificent performance of Sullivan's fine song "Ever," the vociferous encore brought forth Tosti's "For ever and for ever," and this in turn was so keenly appreciated that mere bows were insufficient to stop the applause, and, with wonderful good humour, Mr. Santley sang a third song, namely, "To Anthea." There can be no question that the eminent baritone has been appreciated to the full in Sydney, and that his performances have given keen delight to the most intelligent of our public. The most notable features of the rest of the concert were Mrs. Palmer's singing of Sullivan's "Orpheus with his lute," and Pinsuti's "Sleep on, dear love," and Madame Christian's performance of Sullivan's "The lost chord." All three were encored; but while Mrs. Palmer responded by singing two other pieces, Madame Christian contented herself with bowing her acknowledgment. Mr. Beaumont was in good voice, and well rendered the great aria from Oberon, "O! 'tis a glorious sight," besides taking part in two duets and singing "Come into the Garden, Maud." Herr Benno Scherek played carefully Listz's fine though rather laboured paraphrase from "Rigoletto." Mr. Frank Bradley opened the concert with a capital performance of Guilmant's "Concert Fugue," in D, and gained an encore for his tasteful rendering of Turpin's "Carillons de Dunkerque."

REPETITION OF "ELIJAH."

The Philharmonic Society announces that it has been decided to give a repetition performance of "Elijah" on Thursday evening next in the Exhibition Building. It is intended that the performance shall be in all respects a duplicate of the former, so that persons who were unable to attend the first performance will have an opportunity now of hearing it under the original conditions. The plan of seats may be seen at Paling's, where places may be reserved. It will be seen by reference to the programme of arrangements, that careful provision has been made to prevent the recurrence of the confusion and discomfort that was experienced on the first occasion the oratorio was given, and it will be well if those wishing to hear the performance on Thursday next will note and follow the advice given by the management. It will be specially satisfactory to know that the plan for the whole of the reserved seats will be open at the same time,—viz., Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

MR. SNAZELLE'S ENTERTAINMENT.

The charmingly refined musical and dramatic entertainment, organised by Mr. G. H. Snazelle, is becoming very popular, as it ought. Mr. Snazelle is a singer of culture and the possessor of a powerful voice, and he has the faculty for humorous recital. The dioramic views here exhibited are alone worth a visit, and the whole entertainment combined is as delightful as need be.

THE ORCHESTRAL CONCERTS.

The first of the orchestral concerts to be given under Signor Hazon's direction takes place this afternoon at the Darlinghurst Hall. His Excellency the Governor has cordially bestowed his patronage, and it is much to be hoped that the people of Sydney who so numerously attended the orchestral concerts given early in the year will give prompt and adequate support to this new venture. Great care has been exercised in the selection of the instrumentalists, and the orchestra contains none but the very best performers procurable. A full rehearsal was held yesterday, and, judging by the efficiency then shown, this afternoon's concert ought to prove of unusual excellence. Signor Hazon had his forces well in hand, and showed himself untiring in his efforts to ensure due effect being given to even the minutest details. The orchestra will contain 57 instrumentalists; namely, 10 first and 10 second violins, 6 violas, 4 'cellos, and 4 basses; 1 piccolo, 2 flutes, 2 oboes, 2 clarionets, 2 bassoons, 4 horns, 3 cornets, 3 trombones, and 1 bass tuba, besides tympani, big drum, and harp. Mr Rivers Allpress has been secured as leader of the violins, with Mr. Wentzel as chief of the seconds, and among the list of performers are many well-known names, such as Messrs. Rice, Schmellitscheck, Pechotsch, Siebert, Daneger, Pagani, H. Rice, Straus, Summerhayes, Quinn, White, Gresty, Crook, Lemmone, Pagnote, and Foreman. The concert will be given at "popular prices," 3s being the highest charge, while for the promenade the admission is only one shilling. Seats may be reserved at Paling's.

THE BABY SHOW.

We are informed that already 600 entries have been received from parents of intended competitors, one family of triplets being included. As will be seen by an advertisement appearing in this issue, there will, in addition to the £300 to be presented by the promoters of the show, be a number of prizes given by local firms, which will, according to adjudged merit, be distributed among the unsuccessful competitors for the money prizes.

Major Henry C. Dane is announced to give his famous oration "The Great Naval Battles of the American War," on Wednesday next, in the Skating Rink Hall at Summer Hill, by invitation of several leading residents of that suburb. This oration is well known as a most brilliant and powerful one. Major Dane took an active part in the scenes he so dramatically describes, having fought in 30 battles of the four years' Civil War by the side of Generals Grant, Sheridan, Garfield, Canby, and Banks, and Admiral Farragut.

An entertainment was given in the Congregational Schoolroom, Burwood, last night, in connection with the local Band of Hope, when the choir, assisted by friends, performed the Temperance Service of Song, entitled, "Dan Dabberton's Dream." Amongst the soloists were Misses Brousdon, Dyer, and Wilson, and Messrs. Toogood, Sherring, Hartwell, and Barnard. Mr. W. S. Brown was the conductor, and Miss Nuss the accompanist. A violin solo was contributed by Mr. Brown, and a recitation by Miss Cupit. Several other vocal and instrumental items were also introduced.

Last evening the Western Suburbs Floral Fête was continued in the Skating Hall Summer Hill, when a concert was given by Mr. Hallewell and his pupils, assisted by Miss Shipway and Mr. H. A. Jacques. The attendance, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, was large. The display of cut flowers is small, while shrubs and the like abound in plenty. In consequence of the sparse exhibits of flowers, which can only be accounted for by the fact that the whole affair is of purely local promotion, very few awards were made. Mr. Polglase sung Blumenthal's solo "Across the far blue hills, Marie"; Mr. Hallewell gave "Bedouin Love Song" and "Three merry men"; Mr. T. Gilpin sang "The King's Minstrel" by Pinsuti. Misses Shipway, Wood, and Birch also contributed several songs. Mr. H. A. Jacques officiated as accompanist.

A reunion took place on Wednesday evening, the 9th instant, in the Glebe Point Town Hall, the occasion being a "surprise social" given to Miss Donovan. The decorations were not numerous, but those that hung gracefully from the walls gave the room quite a cheerful appearance. At the interval Miss Marsh and Miss Macdonald, of Glebe Point, took occasion, on behalf of the pupils, to thank Miss Donovan for her care and attention to her class, and to personally thank her for the care she had taken with their musical studies, and begged her acceptance of a very handsome hand-painted satin fan as a mark of their appreciation.

The annual rink ball, plain and fancy dress, was held in the Protestant Hall, Wellington, on Thursday, 3rd instant. About 300 were people present. Praise is due to the committee for their efforts. The hall was artistically decorated with ferns, flags, mottos, Chinese lanterns, &c.

The cycloramic representation of the Battle of Gettysburg, which is on view in the Rotunda, near the Redfern railway station, still attracts throngs of visitors. Descriptive lectures are given at intervals, and these, combined with the music of the establishment's band, add much to the pleasure of the sight-seers.

The standard of the entertainment provided at the Alhambra Music Hall is well maintained, and consequently, as has been the record of the past, the building is always filled with an appreciative audience. Miss Ada Maven and the American quartette are the present attractions. At the Haymarket Music Hall, where good business is also being done, a capital programme is presented. The items are well varied, the music is good, and the humour of the minstrels well suits the popular taste.

Mr. Snazelle and his novel entertainment of "Music, Mirth, Song, and Story," continue an attraction at the School of Arts. During the week the audiences have been large, and the performance has been most favourably received. The style of the entertainment is certainly unique, and in addition it has the quality of merit.

A smoke social in connection with the Southern British Football Association was held in the Cambridge Club Hotel, Oxford-street, last evening. Mr. Wallace, the president of the association, occupied the chair, and there was a large gathering present. Songs were contributed by footballers and friends, and a pleasant evening was spent. The Pyrmont Rangers were presented with the Gardiner Challenge Cup and medals which they had won, and the Second Caledonians received the medals competed for by the second teams.

MEETINGS.

SUTHERLAND MEMORIAL FUND MEETING.

A meeting was held in the Town Hall last evening for the purpose of taking steps to raise funds for the support of the widow of the Hon. John Sutherland. The Mayor (Alderman John Harris) presided. The attendance was rather small. Among those present were Hon. W. M'Millan, Hon. Sydney Smith, Messrs. Sydney Burdekin, J. F. Burns, T. M. Slattery, W. F. Schey, J. Shepherd, T. Jones, and Chas. Goodchap, Ms.L.A.; John E. Kelly, Quong Tart, H. B. Howe, R. Berry, George Anderson, D. C. M'Lachlan, and A. J. Kelly (president of the Trades and Labour Council).

The MAYOR, in opening the proceedings, expressed regret that the attendance was so small. He hoped to have seen the room crowded at the call for a meeting to take steps for paying some compensation, as it were, for the services of one of the most honest politicians we ever had in the colony. (Hear, hear.) Mr. Sutherland was at no time of his life well off; he was just comfortable. Through speculating some eight or nine years ago he lost heavily, and he had never recovered his position. He had the name of "Honest John" in his life, and he died "Honest John." (Hear, hear.) He hoped all who knew the man would rally round his widow and rescue her perhaps from a position of want. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. SYDNEY BURDEKIN announced that the amount already raised by subscription was £512 2s. 6d. This sum would need to be supplemented in order to accomplish the object which the friends had in view. He concluded by reading apologies for non-attendance from several well-known public men.

Mr. M'MILLAN proposed the first resolution,—"That the long and faithful services rendered by the late Hon. John Sutherland in his position as a Minister of the Crown, as a people's representative, and as a citizen, deserve the grateful and liberal recognition of the people of this colony." (Hear, hear.) He felt that every politician owed a debt of gratitude to the memory of the late Mr. Sutherland, for in the midst of the rumours of corruption and what might be called the seamy side of our political life, as far as they knew, John Sutherland passed through the many years of his political career without a stain upon his honour and integrity. (Applause.) He hoped that although the meeting was small, the impetus given to the movement that evening would spread throughout the whole community, and that a magnificent sum, commensurate with their esteemed friend's worth, would be raised. The least they could do, knowing that Mr. Sutherland had left his widow well-nigh penniless, was to make her position in life comfortable. (Hear, hear.) Whatever was done must be done quickly. The subscriptions that should be raised in this matter should be subscriptions of small amounts. If he was anything, Mr. Sutherland was the friend of the working-man. (Hear, hear.) He was a friend of the people, and one who represented the broad democracy of our Australian life. He had worked up through every stage of the social and political ladder, and although he died to a certain extent a poor man, he showed that there was no avenue of preferment, no avenue of greatness, shut to the honest and energetic men in his colony. In conclusion the speaker urged those present to support the movement.

Mr. T. M. SLATTERY, in seconding the motion, alluded at length to the good services rendered by Mr. Sutherland to the people of the colony.

The resolution was carried unanimously.

Mr. J. F. BURNS moved the second resolution,—"That the foregoing resolution be carried into effect by a suitable provision being made for his widow." After stating that the late Mr. Sutherland had for some two years prior to his death been sadly troubled by financial difficulties, he said that a number of the deceased gentleman's friends had held back from this movement because they were not quite sure that the funds subscribed would be devoted to the use of his widow. If the statement went forth from this meeting that there would be no difficulty in connection with Mr. Sutherland's private affairs, there would be no difficulty in raising a fund worthy of the man. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. T. JONES seconded the motion, which was adopted.

Mr. W. F. SCHEY proposed the next resolution,—"That to give effect to the preceding resolution, the Hon. Sydney Smith, Mr. Sydney Burdekin, and Mr. D. M'Lachlan, be appointed as trustees to administer the funds collected, with full power to use their own discretion under all circumstances."

Mr. SYDNEY BURDEKIN here informed the meeting that they were asking the people of the colony to contribute with a generous hand for the sake of the widow of Mr. Sutherland, and for her only. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. George Anderson having seconded the motion it was agreed to.

The President of the Trades and Labour Council, Mr. A. J. KELLY, moved,—"That a committee be appointed from this meeting to assist the existing one in supplementing the fund, the said committee to consist of the following gentlemen:—Captain Murray, Messrs. D. Davies, John Brown, A. J. Kelly, J. R. Talbot, G. Robinson, J. Doherty, E. Berry, T. Midleton, H. B. Howe, J. Barling, and John E. Kelly."

This was seconded by Mr. SMITH, of the Trades and Labour Council, supported by Mr. D. L. M'LACHLAN, and carried. The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Mayor for presiding.

BOARD OF TECHNICAL EDUCATION.

A meeting of the Board of Technical Education was held on Wednesday afternoon, at the offices, 301, Pitt-street. The following members were present:—Mr. Norman Selfe, M.I.C.E. (acting president), Mr. James Barnet, Mr. W. H. Edmunds, Mr. Alexander Rethel, Mr. J. N. Oxley, and the secretary (Mr. Edward Dowling). Amongst the correspondence submitted was a letter from the Under-Secretary of Public Instruction, intimating, in reply to a resolution passed at the last meeting of board respecting intended new arrangements for the conduct of technical education, as follows:—"Mr. Carruthers desires me to state for the information of the board that the Cabinet has on his recommendation approved of a scheme of technical education containing, among others, the following proposals: That a complete scheme of technical education to include the preliminary work of ordinary Primary schools, and the subsequent work of evening continuation schools and colleges, and of a fully organised technical college, shall be carried on under the management of a specially qualified chief organiser, directly responsible to the Minister for Public Instruction. Such officer will occupy a position in regard to technical instruction similar to that occupied by the chief inspector with regard to ordinary school instruction. It is further proposed to erect new buildings for a central technical school and a technological museum, and for these purposes a sum of £50,000 has been placed on the Loan Estimates now being submitted to Parliament. Mr. Carruthers hopes that he will be able to secure the services of some of the members of the present Board of Technical Education as an advisory board in bringing the new scheme into operation, and he desires me to state that he wishes to consult the convenience of the board as much as possible in the matter. I am therefore to ask for an expression of the board's views as to whether the 1st of November proximo will be a suitable and convenient date from which the new arrangements may, so far as is practicable, be brought into effect." It was resolved by the members present that a special meeting of the board be called to further consider the communication received from the Minister of Public Instruction. Reports were received from the resident science and art masters in the Northern, Southern, and Western districts as to progress of the classes placed under their immediate supervision. Applications for the formation of a lithographic class and for extensions to the operations of the house painting and decorating class and scientific dress-cutting class were referred for consideration to the Minister for Public Instruction. The secretary reported that a deputation from the Federated Building Trades Council visited several of the classes in the Sussex-street Technical Institute on Wednesday, 2nd October, and it was agreed that the members be invited to inspect the other trade classes which meet on Tuesday, or Friday in the Kent-street workshops and at the School of Arts. The appointment of local committees to supervise the forthcoming annual examinations of the classes of Technical College and branch schools in December next was deferred until lists of gentlemen acting in that capacity last year had been revised. Mr. S. T. Carter was selected from six applicants for appointment to the position of teacher of the day modelling class at the Technical College. Returns were received of lessons and lectures delivered since last meeting in the Sydney Technical College and branch suburban and country schools. Other business of a departmental character was transacted and the meeting terminated.

THE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

A meeting of the council of the above was held in the society's rooms, Castlereagh-street, yesterday—Mr. F. Harvey in the chair. There was a very large attendance of members. Mr. W. J. Lyne, M.L.A., was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Mr. W. Lamb. The fixture of the date of the next show caused a good deal of discussion, but there seemed to be a consensus of opinion in favour of the end of March or the early part of April. It was alleged that at that time of the year a better exhibition of farm products and agricultural produce generally could be made than at any other period. The secretary was directed to institute inquiries from heads of kindred societies as to what support the council would be likely to receive in such an undertaking, the action of the council to be determined by the result. A letter was read from Mr. V. Missen, formerly a member of the society, who, though now resident in New Zealand, still takes an interest in its welfare, requesting to know how he could best introduce ostrich farming to public attention. The farming of these birds, he alleged, had become in the sister colony a large and profitable industry, and he considered that if the matter was properly placed before the public, many would be inclined to go into the business. The matter was held over for consideration. It was resolved that the annual meeting should be held in the early part of December, and an audited statement of the financial position of the society placed before the public. A number of matters arising out of the late show were disposed of, and the meeting adjourned.

HOSPITAL BAZAAR AND VILLAGE FAIR.

The final committee meeting of the Hospital Bazaar and Village Fair was held yesterday afternoon in the council-room of the Town Hall. Mrs. Belisario presided. A letter was read from Lady Martin, the president, stating that on account of ill-health she would not be able to be present at the meeting. She thanked them for the consideration they had shown towards her. Mr. Allen, M.L.A., one of the treasurers, read a statement of the position of affairs. He said that the credit balance to date, after defraying all expenses, amounted approximately to £1840 15s. 6d. The receipts amounted to £2560, including £680 8s. 9d. from the art union, £605 13s. door money, and Her Majesty's Theatre £76 17s. 6d. A vote of thanks to the musical committee and to Mr. Harper, of the Liedertafel, for their valuable assistance, was carried by acclamation. It was decided that one-half of the net proceeds be given to the Sydney Infirmary, that the Prince Alfred Hospital, St. Vincent's Hospital, and Children's Hospital should each receive one-eighth of the proceeds, and that the remaining one-eighth be equally divided between the Cottage Hospitals at Balmain and North Shore. Votes of thanks were accorded to Messrs. Kirkland and Co., who had charge of the electric light at the Exhibition; to Mrs. Allen, Miss Julia Belisario, Mrs. Rosenthal, Mrs. Belisario, Mr. Alfred Allen, M.L.A., Mr Carrick (the Mayor's orderly), and to Mr. F. Condy, of Oxford-street, for his liberality in the refreshment-room. The meeting then closed.

The Castle Hill Agricultural and Horticultural Association at their last meeting (Mr. J. Nobbs, M.L.A., presiding), appointed a sub-committee to draw up a schedule of prizes for their next show. It was reported that a number of special prizes had been offered for competition.

At a meeting of the delegates of the various friendly societies in Parramatta, held on Thursday evening, it was decided that the Hospital Sunday Church-parade, postponed from last Sunday, in consequence of the inclement state of the weather, be held on Sunday afternoon, the 20th instant.

The monthly meeting of the Charity Organisation Society was held on Wednesday last, Mr. F. C. Griffiths presiding. There were present Mr. C. B. Fairfax, Rev. H. L. Jackson, and the secretary (Mr. J. Sidney). A letter was received from Mr. A. H. Maxwell, expressing regret at his inability to attend. The cases registered during September showed a decrease of 85 upon the previous month, but an increase of 135 over the corresponding period of last year. During the month, 260 persons applied for assistance. Upon investigations being made, 28 were found unworthy, or had given false addresses. Of the total number 128 were married, 58 were widows, and 12 deserted women. Upon the above, 346 children depended. Two single women and 60 single men also received relief.

CIVIL SERVICE SUPERANNUATION ACT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I should like, with your permission, to make a further short reference to Part 5 of the above Act, which provides for the granting of allowances and gratuities. Clause 46 contains an enactment to the effect that when the services of any officer are dispensed with in consequence of the abolition of his office, and no other office can be found for him, he shall be entitled to retire upon the superannuation allowance therein mentioned; and by clause 49, the curious provision is enacted, that in the case of any officer, not entitled to superannuation, whose services may be dispensed with, "through no fault of his own," a gratuity equal to one month's pay for each year of service may be given him. On the strength of these two clauses, a look at the last Bluebook will show that numbers of young men, comparatively speaking, have been placed upon the fund, either as annuitants or gratuitants, and the advent of the Railway Commissioners has also resulted in quite a number of officials under their control being similarly dealt with. One can quite well understand the position of an officer whose office has been abolished; but that of one whose services have been dispensed with, through no fault of his own, is not so easily comprehended. If it means that the Departments have been so much overmanned that all this weeding and pruning is now rendered necessary, then all I can say is that the Act is being perverted to purposes altogether foreign to the true meaning and intent of a Superannuation Act, and there will be much reason to fear that your prediction of the collapse of the fund will be verified. We have had ample experience of this, as you point out, under previous Acts, and there is no reason to doubt that the like tactics, under this Act, must infallibly end in similar results. When the Superannuation refunds were being passed on the Estimates the other day, the Treasurer remarked, upon being charged with unduly favouring certain highly-paid officers, that these were the only cases which had been brought under his notice; but I have no doubt there would have been no want of applications of the same kind if the less fortunate of the retiring officers had thought there was any chance of their claims being favourably entertained.

I am, &c.,
JUSTITIA.

SHIPPING REPORTS, &c.

The barque Coldinghame is to be towed from the Circular Quay to the stream to-day.

The ship Illawarra was towed to a discharging berth at the Central Wharf yesterday.

The Skelmorlie was berthed at Dalton's Wharf yesterday.

The s.s. Gambier, Captain R. R. Brown, left Brisbane at 5.15 p.m. on the 8th instant, and arrived in Sydney at 4 a.m. on the 11th instant. Experienced light variable winds and the weather throughout.

The s.s. Electra, Captain H. Wood, crossed the Manning River bar at 7.30 a.m. on the 10th instant, and arrived in Sydney at 4 a.m. on the 11th instant. Experienced light northerly winds and fine weather during the passage. Cargo: 1348 bags maize, 13 bags bark, 101 pigs, 45 hides, 17 cases eggs, 5 coops poultry, 21 kegs butter, 1 cask tallow, 1 cases fish, 1 calf and sundries.

The steamer Fernmount crossed Port Macquarie bar at 9 a.m. on the 10th instant, and entered Sydney Heads 1.30 p.m. on the 11th instant. Experienced fine weather to Newcastle, north and north-west winds, with smooth sea; from Newcastle till arrival, south-east with rain and rough sea. Cargo: 1128 bags maize, 41 hides, 198 pigs, 2 coops poultry, 18 cases eggs, 4000 pieces timber, 21 packages sundries.

A ship railway, on the Eads principle, is being constructed across Chignecto Neck, the isthmus, 17 miles wide, separating the Bay of Fundy from the headwaters of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and connecting Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. Ships up to 1000 tons burthen, instead of sailing round the stormy coast of Nova Scotia, a distance of 700 miles, will be raised by hydraulic lifts, and then hauled across the isthmus by powerful locomotives at the rate, it is stated, of 10 miles an hour.

The Victoria Channel between Port Chalmers and the city of Dunedin continues to be a source of trouble to the Otago Harbour Board. At the last meeting some discussion took place as to the alleged shoaling up of Victoria Channel, Captain Anderson having written to the Chamber of Commerce complaining that the Nelson, drawing 19ft., had to be lightered before she could reach Dunedin. The harbourmaster pointed out that the reason was that the tides were very poor, being only 4ft. 5in. instead of about 6ft. 6in. It was pointed out that the Lochaber, drawing 19ft., had come up recently, while the Mararoa had gone down without touching drawing 20ft.

The steamer Te Kapo arrived at Wellington from Sydney on Wednesday evening last, and leaves that port for Sydney on 19th instant.

The R.M.S. Parramatta, hence to London via ports, left Albany at 11 a.m. yesterday.

The May Newton passed the port yesterday. She wished to be reported all well. The schooner was heading south, believed to be bound for Melbourne.

The three-masted schooner Pendle Hill arrived yesterday from Napier. She left on the 18th ultimo, rounded the Three Kings on the 24th ultimo. Variable winds, inclined to the westward, were then experienced, and lasted to Friday, the 4th instant, when the tail end of a hurricane was experienced. The blow was from W.N.W., and for 12 hours it blew with terrific force. The schooner behaved very well all through, notwithstanding several sails were carried away. After the gale moderated, S.W. winds and fine weather were had to port.

MAIL STEAMERS.

The Orient Company's R.M.S. Liguria arrived at the Semaphore, S. A., at 4.40 p.m. yesterday. The Sydney portion of her mails will be forwarded so as to enable them to be delivered on Monday next.

MORE DAMAGED SHIPS.—LOSS OF LIFE.

Between the parallels of 38 and 44 S., and the meridians of the Cape of Good Hope and Cape Leeuwin, more terrific weather, it is said, prevailed last month than is met with in years even in these generally tempestuous seas. As was pointed out the other day in these columns under the heading of "Gales in the Southern Ocean," several first-class ships bound to Australia and the colonies, have been very severely handled. About the middle of last month appears to have been the worst time. The barque Letterewe, Liverpool to Adelaide, reports that on reaching the meridian of Kerguelen's Land very hard gales became the order of procedure, and continued up to the time of arrival. After reaching the line of the Crozets the wind suddenly backed round to north-west, and on September 14, 44 S. 62 E. the gale was attended by high sea and frequent snow squalls, lasting till the 16th, when it was necessary to shorten canvas by furling the mainsail, and in taking in the upper maintopsail the sheet carried away. It then blew a complete hurricane of wind, the vessel labouring so heavily as to completely fill the decks with water. On the 21st there was no cessation in the boisterous weather, and at 1 p.m. a more than usually heavy sea broke across the poop, sweeping away an able seaman named James Aird, and as the vessel was running before the gale nothing could be done to rescue the man. At 6 o'clock there was a sign of the gale taking off, so the ship was brought to the wind on the port, and the efficacy of the oil on the troubled waters was properly exemplified by a judicious application of colza. On September 22, during a terrific squall a heavy sea smashed in the cuddy skylight, and a lot of water found entrance to the cabin, destroying a quantity of stores. The bad weather continued until sighting Cape Borda, and although well on the land it was a very heavy gale which prevailed, the seas breaking over all, washing the boat out of the skids, and breaking some of the standard compass gear, with other damage. Iron ships one after another have similarly reported these gales with more or less of damage, some were deep and others comparatively light. Here, however, comes a report from a wooden ship flying light with a New York cargo, and this is her experience. The Zebina Goudey, from New York to Melbourne, on September 9, in latitude 39 36min. S. and longitude 26 43min E., a heavy gale set in from N.E. shifted round to S.W., and raised a high cross sea. The worst of the gale lasted for 48 hours. The winds continued southwesterly and strong, and there was a high following sea until September 1–. On crossing the meridian of 50 E., the barque had to bear the brunt of another strong gale. The wind on this occasion was from N.W. and the gale was in full swing for 52 hours. The barque ran dead before it, under the lower-maintopsail and reefed foresail, and part of the time under the topsail alone. There was a fearful sea all round, which broke clean over the barque, and filled the decks from end to end. Cabins and deck-houses were inundated, and anything loose or movable was washed adrift. The last and worst of these hurricane visitations was on crossing the meridian of 88 40 E., in lat. 41 42 S., on September 23. The wind came up from W.S.W., and for 50 hours it blew fiercely. Spare spars were washed from their lashings, and ringbolts were torn out of the decks. Tarpaulins were started off the hatchways, and clothing, perishable stores, &c., in the cabin were damaged more or less from the salt water saturation they received. As was stated was the case of the Kylemore and the Skelmorlie and other late arrivals at this port, the wonder is that greater loss of life has not taken place. These vessels were repeatedly filled from rail to rail when their crews were on deck but little more than their heads only being visible above the half-buried ship. Their escape is little short of the miraculous.

THE KAISER WILHELM II.

In Messrs. Fred. K. Betz and Co.'s office is exhibited a plan of the Kaiser Wilhelm II., a fast steamer, said to have attained a speed of 17 knots on the Atlantic on her trial trip. This vessel is 450ft. in length, 51ft. beam, and 32ft. depth of hold. She is to be employed in the Bremen-Australian trade, and is expected to maintain in the Southern Pacific the reputation the North German Lloyd Company possesses in the North Atlantic. The vessel should be here in the middle of next month or thereabouts, and, as a great deal is expected in these days of high speed, her time to Adelaide will be watched in shipping circles with some interest. Of the planning of the passenger accommodation it may be said, looking at the plan, the ship is fitted up pretty much after the latest designs. A tremendous saloon promenade deck, for first and second saloon passengers, is a feature. It extends from a little abaft the foremast some 300ft. aft, unbroken by anything whatever in the way of houses, excepting two ladies' music rooms and boudoirs and smoking rooms, one for each class. Underneath this deck—and this is a feature well worthy of notice—is the dining accommodation. The deck may be called the upper deck. There are alleyways on either side fore and aft, and the usual officers' quarters port and starboard. But right forward, or rather just before the mainmast, is the first class dining saloon—the pick of the ship for ventilation and light. Of the furnishing of the apartment a personal look at it is the best; but the reports that are to hand are very complimentary. The second saloon is aft, and occupies the same space in beam and length as the first. On the main deck the whole of the berths are fitted up. The middle section is devoted to the first saloon staterooms. There are 42 spacious rooms on the port and starboard sides, fitted up of course in the most comfortable manner. The second berthing staterooms are aft and the steerage forward. Particular attention has been given in the construction and design of the passenger accommodation to the subject of intense heat in the Red Sea and the tropics. The installation of the electric light on board is said to be of a most perfect kind, extending to every part of the ship, fore and aft and above and below, and as the Kaiser Wilhelm II. comes here with the reputation of the latest achievement in marine architecture under the auspices of one of the largest shipping companies in Europe, her arrival at this port will occasion special interest.

THE R.M.S. ROSETTA.

WHITE ANTS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—This morning I discovered, extraordinary to relate, a rather large-sized home of the destructive white ant within the city limits. The nest of this insect is on the topmost branch of a dead tree situated opposite the wool stores in Macquarie-street north, at the corner leading on to the road that runs along the top of the Tarpeian Way, Circular Quay. Insignificant as this single nest may appear at first sight, yet the buildings within a radius of 1000 yards are menaced by allowing it to remain there any longer. I took the trouble to thoroughly examine the trunk of the tree, and found the white ants fairly swarming here and there under the curiously formed subways that are made and used by these intelligent and industrious, though destructive, insects. In a state of nature the white ant is scarcely ever seen unless the subways or nest be broken into. They do their work of destruction silently and unseen. To detect the presence of white ants is by no means an easy matter except to those acquainted with the habits of the ant in question. Last year I was fairly puzzled to account for a quantity of white ants that I observed in Bridge-street, as I could not believe that they had flown from the North Shore. I can now understand where they came from, and it must have been a swarm from this very nest. The corporation will leave a duty undone if this tree and its inhabitants are not at once destroyed. By the way, would this not be a grand opportunity for the trial of white ant specifics? The tree in question is an unsightly object, and before long it will have become so riddled by the white ant that the wind will bring it down, and on this account alone it is a danger to life and limb of passers-by.

I am, &c.,
JAMES S. BRAY.

MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL.

FRIDAY EVENING.

In the Stock and Share market to-day very little business was done in stocks other than mining, the week's transactions having been exceptionally few in number. Quotations were substantially unchanged on the day. The following sales were reported at 1 o'clock:—Joint Stock Bank, new, 17¼; Clarence, Richmond, and Macleay Steam, 16s. 9d.; Permanent Trustee, 2s. 9d. Closing quotations were:—

GOVERNMENT STOCK.

N.S.W. Funded Stock ... ... — ... —

We understand that it is contemplated by the Mercantile Bank of Sydney to increase its paid-up capital to £425,000 by a new issue of shares. The present capital of the bank is £225,000, and therefore the new issue will amount to £200,000.

In our advertising columns appears the prospectus of Brown Brothers and Company, Limited, City Horse and Carriage Bazaar, which is being formed with a capital of £50,000 in 50,000 shares of £1 each, with power to increase, first issue of 25,000 shares, 2s. 6d. per share, to be paid on application, 2s. 6d. on allotment, balance in calls not exceeding 2s. per share at intervals of not less than two months. The company will continue and extend the business of Messrs. Brown Brothers. A large number of the shares have already been subscribed.

The monetary position in England is rather easier on the week. Our cablegram shows that the Bank of England reserve has increased by £254,000 to £10,514,000. The proportion of reserves to liabilities stands at 38¾ per cent. against 33½ per cent. last week. The effect of the easier banking position is seen in a rise in Consols from 96⅞ to 97¼. Most of the Australian securities have also risen in value. New South Wales 3½'s 1924 having gone up 10s., and 3½'s 1918 are 5s. dearer. Copper is unaltered on the week, Chili bars being £43. Australian tin has gone up 35s., being quoted at £91. There has been a very marked advance in pig-iron.

In the Import markets a moderate business has been transacted. Country houses have purchased more freely, and there have been buyers in the market from Queensland. Although most lines of merchandise are ample for requirements, stocks generally are not so heavy as they have been, and prices of many lines give better results than have often been obtainable in this market. There was again a fairly good demand for flour, the market being firm at quotations. South Australian and Victorian roller, £12 10s. to £13; stone, £11 15s.; New South Wales roller, £11 15s. to £12 10s.; New Zealand roller, £10 5s. to £11; stone, £9 5s. to £9 15s. Adelaide wheat sold at 5s. 3d.; best New Zealand, 4s. to 4s. 1d. There is only a moderate inquiry for tea. The price of new season's of all grades is well maintained; but some old season's tea has been sold at low figures. Coffee is in steady request at 12¼d. to 12½d. for No. 1 Ceylon Plantation. Barry's chicory, 2¼d.; Epps' cocoa, 1s. 5½d.; Taylor's, 1s. 3½d.; a quantity of Fry's placed at from 1s. 4d.; business done in the latter to arrive. A fairly good trade in condensed milk; Gold Medal at 7s.; Dairymaid, English, 6s. 7½d., and Swiss at 6s. 9d. In dried fruits there is a moderate trade, with sales of currants to 4¼d. up to 4¾d. paid for best fruit. Elemes are worth up to 5¼d., sultanas 5d. to 5½d. Apples 6½d., evaporated 7½d. Candied peel is scarce, and more freely inquired for, with sales of lemon at 7½d. and of orange at 8½d. Bonded stocks of dried fruits have been reduced by 110 tons during the week, quantities having been exported. Stocks of English jams are rather low. Crosse and Blackwell's, 7s.; Morton's, 6s. 3d.; marmalade, Moir's, 5s. 9d. Fine table rice is still dearer, £18 now being asked; the lower grades are procurable from £13 to £13 10s. Sago and tapioca are worth 3½d., though less is accepted for forward delivery. White pepper, 1s. 1d.; black, 8d. Sugar is moving off steadily at last week's rates; China white at £26 10s., other whites from £26; hard grainy yellows, £24 to £24 5s.; soft yellows, £22 to £23; dark sugar, £18. The bonded stock to-day is given as 3696 tons, scarcely a month's supply; 476 tons having been issued during the week, and 727 tons been transferred to treacle account. The quantity delivered from our northern rivers during the week amounts to 4179 bags and 950 mats. The Courier, reporting on the Brisbane market, says:—

"Sugar is worth from £23 to £24 for first whites. The agents for Millaquin and Yengarie quote the latter figure for small lots, but trade parcels are done at £23. Second whites are worth about £21. Yellows and ration sorts are not to be had. Some of the mills which stopped crushing a few weeks ago will start again at an early date, but the work is not likely to be carried beyond the end of December. The Bundaberg yield, it is supposed, will be considerably under the estimate of 16,000 tons. It is said the return will not cover more than 7000 tons."

Our London cablegram shows a further fall of 6d. in the price of German beet, which is now quoted at 12s., Java cane sugar being 15s. Rock salt 80s. Stearine candles are selling at from 5¼d. to 5½d., according to brand.

There is some slight improvement in the demand for preserved fish. Sardines are quoted at 6s. to 6s. 6d. in halves, and 3s. 6d. to 3s. 9d. quarters. Tinned salmon, 8s. 3d. to 8s. 6d., bulk, 5d. to 5¼d.; kippered herrings, 7s. 6d. to 8s. 3d.; red, 32s., and fresh, 5s. 3d. to 5s. 6d. Salad oils are also in rather better request. Whybrow's, 5s. 3d. and 9s., in quarters and half-pints respectively. Pickles, Cross and Blackwell's, 10s. 6d.; Morton's, 6s. 9d.; Whybrow's, 6s. 10½d.; Morton's castor oil, 4s. in quarters, and 7s. in half-pints. A moderate inquiry for mustards at late rates; Keen's, in 7lb. packets, at 6½d. A quantity of Harvey and Neville's starch, in 1lb. boxes, at 29s. per cwt. Oxford blue sold at 6½d. to 6¾d., according to quantity. Brewers' goods still in limited request, and prices unaltered. In liquids the feature of the day was a speculative demand for geneva, consequent on advice of an advance in the English market of 8d. per case. Over 1000 cases was bought up at 11s. 9d., and one parcel to arrive at a concession on that figure, and holders now ask from 12s. Cable news of a further advance of 2d. per gallon in Lowndes's rum has also been received, and the market here remains very firm: Red Star, for export, was sold at 8s. In other liquids there is no change to notice; the day's trade being of a consumptive character only.

The advance in the price of metals appears to have curtailed business in most lines; galvanised iron may be quoted at £21 10s. to £22. Sheet lead, £17 10s. Fencing wire in fairly good request, though no large transactions are mentioned. Bonded stocks are reported as 2085 tons, a reduction of 53 tons only for the week. Muntz metal is scarcely procurable at 7¼d. to 7½d., the lower price being paid to arrive. For Vivian's a slight concession accepted. Stocks of castor oil have become very light, and the price in the East being firmer, values here have strengthened; from 3s. 9d. is quoted. China oil has also advanced, owing to the rise in cost, and 4s. is asked. Leading brands of raw and boiled oil, half and half, are in demand at 3s. Kerosene has an upward tendency, with the gradual diminution of bonded stocks, which are now 53,178 cases, as against 75,000 cases in July last, the shipments advised being comparatively light; from 9¾d. for low test, and from 12d. for high, are current rates. In drugs we note the sale of a quantity of 70 per per cent. caustic soda at £10 10s.; cream of tartar, 1s. 1d.; tartaric acid in kegs, 1s. 6d.; carbonate of soda, £7 10s. to £8. There is rather more inquiry for cornsacks; 5s. 10½d. is the current rate. Woolpacks dull of sale from 1s. 10d. In lumber there is not much doing, and the market has undergone no alteration during the week. Redwood is quoted at 19s. to 20s.; oregon, 13s., the weakening of the Melbourne market having had no perceptible influence on quotations; half-inch Baltic, 11s. Messrs. Fraser and Co., at auction, report having sold the following lots of Tennant's tobacco: 10 cases 4oz. blocks, 4's, 1s. 2d.; 10 cases 12oz. pounds, 1s. 2½d. to 1s. 5d.; 10 cases 8oz. 3-ply twist, 1s. 2d.; 4 cases 12-inch bars, 3's, no label, 1s. 0½d.; 5 cases 3-ply 12in. twist, 3's, 1s. 2d.

At the auction wool sales to-day competition was more active than at earlier sales, and nearly all the fleece submitted was sold publicly and privately as well be seen from the following reports which have been supplied:—

Messrs. J. H. Geddes and Co. report that the completion of several large clips, now in course of reception, being delayed, we decided to offer a comparatively small catalogue, comprising principally north and north-western wools, at our opening sale of the season to-day, and meeting with keen competition succeeded in disposing of every bale at prices in sympathy with the English values now ruling, showing a distinct quotable advance of from 10 per cent. to 12½ per cent. on last season's results at our opening sale. The condition, brightness, and general appearance of the wools were excellent, and although slightly depreciated by a slight tenderness in some instances, were much higher class than usual, although no superior parcels were submitted. The effect of care in arrangement and classing was distinctly perceptible in the Wonbobbie and W F B over Killarney wools, which, constituting the two principal brands in our catalogue, realised up to 9½d., as against 7d and 7½d last year in the colonial market respectively, the advance being as much associated with care and attention as the enhanced value and lighter condition, the former sample, with its fine haired staple, commanding keen competition, while the latter, with an increase in shaftiness, owing to being shorn with the Wolseley machine, was forwarded direct to the manufacturing districts. The catalogue comprised 544 bales, of which the principal lots sold were:—Wonbobbie, 64 bales combing and 68 bales clothing at 9½d. 28 broken fleece at 8½d. 7 bales rams at 8½d; WFBuchanan over Killarney, 41 AAAA at 9½d. 14 bales AAA and 13 AA at 9½d, 18 first crossbred and 15 second crossbred at 9½d; RW over Tullyelmer, 19 good quality combing at 9½d, and 5 bales pieces at 7½d; JD, 19 from Wagga at 9½d; WBP, 24 combing from Narramine at 9d and 7 crossbred at 9d; EEG over Namoi, 13 clothing at 9d; Inch, 6 crossbred at 8d; C over diamond over Moree, 16 clothing at 8½d; G under half-circle, 18 ewes at 8½d; V over V, 13 at 8½d; WI over M, 18 good quality combing at 9½d; AH over Moleen, 15 at 9d; M. Bros. over Goonamein, 12 ewes at 7½d; JC over Wongo, 6 at 7½d; SWR, 6 at 8d; AB, 15 at 8½d; Wallal, 7 at 6½d; besides 50 bales oddments, making 544 bales in all.

John Bridge and Co. report bringing forward a catalogue of 800 bales, representing wool grown in the North-western and Western parts of the colony. The condition of the clips submitted to-day showed a vast improvement compared with last year. Prices showed on well-grown wools 1½d to 2d per lb. advance on last year's quotations, while on lower sorts the advance was estimated at ¾d to 1d. The attendance of buyers was the largest yet seen together this season, and the figures realised were in almost every instance an improvement on our first sale. We were enabled to clear the entire catalogue at auction and privately. Our sales include the Coffin Creek and Moon Springs' clips of 504 and 300 bales, respectively, at 9½d. JW over M at 10d; JM over Eurelia, 18 at 9½d; GWD, 16 from Gundagai, at 9¼d; Crowe Brothers, 10 from Forbes, at 9¾d; X in square, 10 at 8¾d; Mullen, 54 at 9½d, 10 seconds at 9¼d, 14 pieces firsts at 7¾d, 24 2nds 4¾d, H over West Holme, 15 at 9¼d; AG in block over Calala, 23 at 9d; PIAN, 89 at 9¼d, 16 bellies at 4¾d; WON, 26 bales from Warramine at 9¾d; MW, 10 bales, Gundagai, 9¼d; JW over Spring Villes, 29 from Narrabri at 9¼d; J. Jurd over Moree, 14 at 9d; W. Bover Durt, 16 at 9d; SP over Frogmore Park, from Gunnedah, 41 at 9¼d.

Any weakening of the wool market in London indicated by yesterday's cablegrams is not confirmed by the following message, which has been handed to us by Goldsbrough, Mort, and Co., Limited, dated October 10:—"Sales continue, with attendance as previously reported, and market shows a hardening tendency."

The New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency Company, Limited, report having, at Melbourne yesterday, offered 4470 bales wool, and sold 4387. The market was very firm, with animated competition:—Greasy, 1s. 1½d.; crossbred, 11d.; lambs, 11½d.; scoured, 1s. 9d.

The Australian Mortgage and Agency Company report by telegraph from Melbourne as follows:—

We offered to-day our first catalogue this season, comprising 1542 bales, 1487 bales were sold. Buyers were more than usually numerous. There was eager competition and high prices fully up to the opening sales of last week, and fully 1d better than last year. Greasy sold to 11½d for Boganmildi; best Glenmore 10½d, crossbred 10d; Troffs 10½d; JRA Wallalloo 10½d; Malega Park 10¼d; MK Wamboota 10½d, crossbred 11d. Scoured sold at high prices, Stawell Woolscouring Company 20½d, crossbred 20½d; Mount Wood 19½d, Fatham 19½d; Bogamildi 19¾d.

The following was the Customs revenue received to-day:—

Spirits, £2253 8s 6d; wine (still), £193; wine (sparkling), £28; ale, porter, and beer (in wood), £7 10; ale, porter, and beer (in bottles), £314 8s; tobacco and snuff, £132 12s; cigars, £291 13s 6d; cigarettes, £35 12s 6d; tea, £195 15s; coffee, 16s; coffee (raw), £68 9s 3d; sugar (refined), £22 13s 4d; sugar (unrefined), £646 5s; opium, £3; rice, 8s 2d; dried fruits, £204 4s 8d; sarsaparilla (over 25 per cent.), £2 6s 5d. COMMERCIAL TELEGRAMS.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENTS.)

MELBOURNE, FRIDAY.

Business was of good extent to-day, and higher prices ruled generally. In investment stocks Goldsbrough, Mort, and Company, M'Cracken's Brewery, and Great Morwell Coal were taken at advanced rates. Silverton Tramway, Melbourne Tramway and Omnibus, Colonial Investment, and City of Melbourne and Federal Banks placed at late quotations. Mutual Store sold lower. Federal Bank, 65s; Tramways and Omnibus, 69s., 69s. 3d.

Wheat is firm at 5s. 2d. Oats show a declining tendency, and are quoted at 3s. 6½d. to 3s. 7d. 150 tons Taikoo cane, A. A. sugar ex Kent, placed at £26. There was a good all round inquiry for teas at late rates. A large business was done in medium Panyong buds. Salmon was rather pressed for sale. A good business was done in sardines, halves and quarters. Castor oil has been bought in Adelaide for Melbourne. Bar iron advanced 10s. Several parcels of R. W. P. rum changed hands at 3s. 3d.

BRISBANE, FRIDAY.

General business is rather dull. Flour is unchanged, leading brands being quoted at £14. The market is overstocked with bran and pollard; its present quotations are £5 17s. 6d. Potatoes are very scarce; the quotation is now £8 5s., and holders are looking for a further advance. Sugar is moving off fairly well, but sales of first whites have been made at a reduction on late quotations. Second whites are scarce. It is anticipated that during the present season 14,500 tons will be exported to London and the southern markets for refining purposes.

AUCKLAND, FRIDAY.

In the Christchurch market prime wheat is quoted at 3s. to 3s. 5d., medium 2s. 10d., chick 2s. 3d.; oats, milling 2s. 6d., bright short feed 2s. 4d.; barley, prime milling 3s. 6d., medium 2s. 9d. to 3s., feed 2s.; blue Prussian peas 3s. 6d. to 3s. 9d.

THE WOOL TRADE.

Until the last day or two the London cablegrams have indicated a firm market, but now we learn that the sales are proceeding with a certain degree of irregularity. One cablegram attributes this to the poorer selections of wool being brought forward. These, it appears, are not purchased so freely, and as it is said they form the bulk of the remaining catalogues to be offered at this series, an irregular market is looked for to its close.

By mail advices have reached us up to 30th August. Messrs. Helmuth, Schwartz, and Co., writing two days previously, remark:—"Trade in this country is, on the whole, satisfactory. Good merino tops are firm, but coarse crossbreds in sympathy with competing sorts of English wool are somewhat weaker. The reports from the Continent are quieter, probably owing to the holiday season, but the consumption of wool remains large whilst stocks are moderate everywhere, and it therefore appears probable that last sales closing rates will be maintained during the next series. The Antwerp sales of River Plate wool opened yesterday with a catalogue comprising 1921 bales, of which 1391 bales were sold. There was a large attendance of buyers and good competition, and prices for good combing wools showed an advance of ⅛d. per lb. on May, while medium fleeces and lambs were unchanged and inferior sorts neglected. On the whole prices were, if anything, slightly lower than by private contract before the sales, but it must be remembered that the value of River Plate wools was, in comparison with other sorts, an artificially high one. We quote a good average B enos Ayres combing wool of 35 per cent. yield at 7¼d. to 7½d., and an average of 30 per cent. 6¼d. per lb."

In the Yorkshire district the market is thus alluded to by the correspondents of the Wool and Textile Fabrics in their issue of August 30:—

"Bradford.—The wool market here is devoid of animation, and home-grown descriptions are very slow of sale, but values are well maintained. Small lots of colonial are in request at full quotations. Merino wools are not so firm on the week, and prices rule slightly in favour of buyers. Crossbreds are in fair demand at late rates. The finer sorts of English wools are somewhat scarce, having been recently taken freely on American account, and prices rule firm. Yarns are inactive, although a fair export trade is being carried on in some of the soft classes. Leeds.—Trade here continues active, and orders for woollen goods are being placed more freely than of late. Prices remain very firm, and it is expected that a general advance will take place on the issue of the next price list. There is also an improved demand for the latest designs in fancy goods, makers of which are busy, and in many cases are working overtime to complete some heavy contracts before the end of the month. Shippers are busy, and repeat orders are coming in freely from all parts. In yarns an improvement has taken place all round at prices slightly higher on the week. The same may be said of tows and hemps."

In the local market some good-sized catalogues were submitted by the auctioneers. With one exception, however, they were under the new conditions, which impose ¼d. per lb. delivery charge upon the purchaser. As a consequence, all the foreign and nearly all the local buyers absented themselves from the saleroom. It is with regret we have to state that as yet there are no signs of the disagreement being arranged, the disputants on neither side evincing any disposition to recede from the positions they have taken up. The offerings consisted of 5742 bales, and the reported sales, privately and by auction, reach 3611 bales. The bulk of the purchases have been for resale in London. With such a fair quantity of new wool as has been open for inspection during the week, it is gratifying to be able to confirm the good opinions in respect of its character and condition we expressed some three or four weeks ago. As a rule the clip is undoubtedly brighter and more attractive in appearance than any grown for a good many seasons past. Burrs and seeds are less plentiful, and from the Western and North-western districts there is not so much sand in the fleeces. The condition is, however, hardly so dry as last season, the natural grease being more abundant owing to an ample supply of feed during the late months. The first clips to reach town showed, almost without exception, a weakness in the staple, but more recent arrivals do not exhibit this defect in such a marked degree. The quality of the wools in general is quite up to the average. On comparing the prices of the parcels sold with last season's opening rates, an advance of about 1½d. on greasy wool has to be recorded. Scoured were in only moderate supply. The prices realised for this description showed the rise to be about 2½d. per lb. Owing to the dispute, several catalogues have had to be held over.

Receipts.—Wool has come to hand very freely the last week, arrivals being 22,909 bales, as against 17,647 bales the previous week, and 22,870 bales for the corresponding week last year.

PRODUCE MARKET.—FRIDAY.

This morning a moderate supply of forage, consisting of 30 trucks, together with good consignments of wood, were submitted at the Darling Harbour Railway Terminus. The auctions were fairly attended by the trade. As regards forage purchases were on a more extensive scale than at previous sales, but the late ruling rates were unaltered. For wood the demand has considerably slackened. At the wharfs the principal contributors were from the various Northern rivers, Southern ports, and Adelaide. Trade was restricted to lines for the day's requirements. Good Intercolonial chaff was inquired for. Stocks of potatoes are still firmly held. Onions maintain high figures. Eggs were in stronger demand.

At the Darling Harbour sales the following prices were obtained:—

Wood.—Good supplies. Competition lacked animation. Billet, 8s to 10s 6d per ton; bundle, 9s to 12s 6d; foot, 8s 3d to 12s 3d; baker's, 8s 6d to 11s.

Hay.—Twenty-one trucks to hand. Good oaten, in bundles, commanded steady attention, 3s 2d to 5s 8d per cwt.; other sorts were difficult of sale, 3s 2d to 4s 1d. Bales, also slack, 4s; lucerne of this season make, from Richmond, 5s; bales from Mudgee, 3s 10d; Branxton, 3s 2d. Wheaten, new, in bundles, 4s 1d to 4s 2d; old, 5s 2d; oaten and wheaten, in bundles, 4s 4d to 5s.

Straw.—Limited consignments, amounting to three trucks. One superior lot of oaten, in bundles, realised 3s 11d per cwt.; wheaten, 2s 7d to 2s 9d.

Chaff.—Six trucks received. Oaten, in bags, 3s 1d to 5s 2d per cwt; straw, 3s; wheaten, 5s 3d to 6s 3d; lucerne, 4s 1d; mixed, 5s.

At the wharfs the following were the wholesale quotations:—

Wheat.—Quiet, at 5s 6d to 4s 1d per bushel for New Zealand kinds; South Australian, 5s to 5s 2d; Californian, nominal, 4s 5d to 4s 6d.

Flour.—The current rates are—Victorian roller, £12 10s to £13 per ton; New South Wales roller, £11 15s to £12 10s; New Zealand roller, £10 5s to £11; stone, £9 5s to £9 15s; South Australian roller, £12 10s to £13; stone, £11 10s to £11 15s.

Maize.—3865 bags were yesterday and this morning added to stocks from the various Northern rivers. Best sound parcels, 3s 2d to 3s 3d per bushel, the latter figures being for Southern district lots.

Oats.—No change reported under this head. Seed, 3s 3d per bushel; feed, 2s 8d to 3s 1d.

Bran.—Remains quiet, 8d per bushel.

Pollard.—Hardly any inquiry; 7½d per bushel.

Hay.—The wharfs are moderately supplied and the demand continues to be confined to good dry green qualities. Prime descriptions, £3 10s to £4 per ton; other kinds, £2 5s to £3 5s.

Chaff.—Stocks replenished from the neighbouring colonies last night. Good New Zealand oaten, £5 10s to £5 15s per ton; Tasmanian, £4 10s to £6; Adelaide, £5 to £6 5s; Victorian, £5 to £6; straw, £3 to £4.

Onions.—High figures are still quoted—namely, £33 to £35 per ton.

Potatoes.—Steady at £6 15s to £7 per ton for New Zealand varieties; Circular Head, £7 5s to £7 10s.

Butter.—Prices of Illawarra dairy kinds range from 7d to 8d per lb.; factory made, 9d.

Cheese.—The demand was again weak. Best colonial, 5d to 6d per lb.; second quality, 3d to 4d; New Zealand, 6d to 6½d.

Bacon.—Unchanged at 5½d to 6½ per lb. for machine-cured Southern; hand-cured, 6d to 7d; roll, 7d to 7½d; hams, 7d to 10d.

Lard.—Finely rendered, in bladders, rather difficult of sale, 4½d to 5d per lb.; bulk, 3d.

Eggs.—In better demand for Northern rivers, lines at 9½d per dozen; Southern districts' lots, 10d.

Poultry.—A strong inquiry for all varieties was again experienced. Fowls, 3s 6d to 5s per pair; ducks, 4s to 6s; geese, 6s to 8s; turkeys, 7s to 14s.

Meat.—Mr. H. Macnamara, of the Metropolitan Meat Market, reports having sold:—Bodies beef at 1½d to 2d per lb.; fore quarters, 1d to 1½d; hind quarters, 2¼d to 2½d; mutton, 1½d to 1¾d; lambs (in carcase), 4s to 9s; pork, 3½d to 5d. The Riverstone Meat Company report sales of 85 bodies of beef at 1½d to 2d; fore quarters realised 1½d; hind quarters, 2¼d to 2½d; 500 bodies mutton, 1½d to 1¾d; lambs, 7s to 9s.

Fruit.—At the George-street Markets yesterday a fairly good supply of seasonable fruits was forward from our various country districts, Tasmania, and Queensland. From the latter place large quantities of bananas are arriving. A moderate consignment of Fijian varieties was also on hand. Business was rather quiet. Quotations as follows: American apples, 10s to 12s per case; Tasmanian, 6s to 12s; Queensland pineapples, 6s to 8s per dozen, or 15s to 18s per case; bananas (including Fijian and Queensland sorts), 2s to 3s 6d per bunch; oranges, 6s to 10s; mandarins, 10s to 15s; lemons, 10s to 12s; loquats, 5s to 7s; passion fruit, 20s to 25s; strawberries, 8d to 1s per quart; cocoanuts, 2s per dozen, or 6s to 8s per bag.

GRAIN SALES.

Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited, at their auction sale yesterday brought forward a large catalogue, consisting of oats, maize, wheat, bran, and pollard to a good attendance of buyers, who competed freely for the various lines. The business transacted by auction and privately comprised 2070 sacks. Tuscan wheat, 3s 11d to 4s; pearl and Hunter white, 3s 7d to 3s 9d; chickfeed, 3s 5d; heavy feed oats, 2s 11d to 3s; medium, 2s 9d to 2s 10d; inferior, to 2s 8d; prime maize, 3s 3d; bran and pollard, to 8d. Messrs. John Bridge and Co. also report having held an auction sale, which was well attended. There was a fair demand for all cereals, excepting wheat, which was dull of sale. 3183 packages were sold. Pollard, 7½d to 7¾d; bran, 8d; oats, 2s 8½d to 2s 11d; hay chaff, 3s 7d to 5s 6d; straw chaff, 2s 10d to 2s 11d; turnips, 2s 6d; maize, 2s 8½d to 3s 4d.

PROPERTY SALES.

Richardson and Wrench, Limited, report having sold by auction and private contract during the week the following properties:—Terrace of 5 shops, King-street, Newtown, for the sum of £5500; block of land, Goulburn-street, city, with premises thereon, for the sum of £2030; Residence, No. 49, Renwick-street, Leichhardt, and cottage No. 47, adjoining, for the sum of £475; dwelling, No. 118, Palmer-street, Woolloomooloo, for the sum of £801; allotment of recent subdivision, St. Leonards, North Shore, for the sum of £165; two allotments, Springwood, Blue Mountains, for the sum of £100 per lot.

Messrs. Mills, Pile, and Wilson report having sold by public auction and private contract during the week the following properties:—On the ground, on Saturday last, in conjunction with Messrs. Messrs. Clarke and M'Intyre report having made the following sales of property, by public auction and private contract:—Land, Bankstown, 20 acres, part of Campbell's Grant, Liberty Plains, at £8 per acre; land at St. Leonards, lot 4, sec. 2, West-street, Holtermann's Estate, £7 per foot; land, Willoughby Estate, North Sydney, lots 4, 7, 8, 9, 27, and 28, sec. 4, for £210 the block; land at North Willoughby, 8 acres, fronting the Mowbray and Oakville roads, at £250 per acre; cottage and land, part of the Milson's Estate, North Shore, having 25ft. frontage to Arthur-street and Little Alfred-street, £375; land, Alfred-street, St. Leonards, part of Salmon's subdivision, opposite the Reserve, £8 per foot; total sales, £3605.

Messrs. Piercy Ethell and Co. report having sold, during the week, a Gothic cottage, known as L'shentigne, Boulevard, Petersham, price £900; also, a semi-detached cottage, known as Dublin Cottage, Angel-road, Burwood, for £305.

STOCK, STATION, AND PRODUCE REPORTS.

Tallow.—Messrs. F. L. Barker, J. Bridge and Co., Hill Clark, and Co., Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited, Goldsbrough, Mort, and Co., Limited, Brunker and Wolfe, Winchcombe, Carson, and Co., and J. H. Geddes and Co. report holding sales. 524 packages were offered, and 267 sold publicly. A better demand was manifested than at previous auctions, and last week's rates were maintained. Best beef, £19 10s to £20 per ton; medium, £18 to £19; best mixed, £19 15s to £20 5s; medium, £17 5s to £18 5s; oddments, £15 to £16 10s; mutton, £20 to £21 5s.

Hides.—The total offering at yesterday's auctions was 5616, of which 4778 were sold. There was no material change. Local tanners' operations were restricted to good conditional lots free from offal; other descriptions were negotiated on shipping account. Quotations: Extra heavy and in prime condition, 3½d to 3¾d per lb., superior lots higher; ordinary, 2½d to 2¾d; medium, 2½d to 2¾d; light, 2½d to 2¼d; dry, to 3½d; faulty, 1d to 2d; horsehides, 5s to 7s; yearlings, to 6s 9d; calf-kins, 1s 3d to 3s.

Hair.—Fairly firm at 10½d to 15d per lb. for horsehair; cow washed, 10d to 12½d; stumps from 4d.

Horns and Bones.—Large and well-cared-for lots of horns command steady attention from 27s to 34s per 100; medium, 13s to 23s; small, 4s to 8s; tops, 1s to 2s; best shank bones quoted £5 to £6 per ton; other sorts, £3 15s to £4 15s; common, £3 10s; hoof, 1s 6d to 2s per cwt.

Wattle Bark.—Messrs. F. L. Barker, J. H. Geddes and Co., Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited, and Goldsbrough, Mort, and Co., Limited, report having held sales. Best qualities were in most demand. Medium and inferior kinds were in full supply, and the inquiry was very limited. Prime chopped, £7 10s to £8 15s per ton; medium, £5 to £6 10s; inferior, £2 to £4 10s.

Tobacco Leaf.—Messrs. Winchcombe, Carson, and Co. report holding an auction sale yesterday when a large line from Gundagai was submitted. Prime sorts realised 3½d per lb., seconds 2½d.

Store Stock.—The market for store cattle is easier, owing to the decline in the value of fat stock. Bullocks three to five years old, delivered on the Upper Hunter, are worth 80s to 85s. For store wethers there is a brisk demand, and quotations range from 5s for young to 6s for 8-tooth wethers.

INVESTMENT AND MINING STOCK SALES.

The following list of sales of investment and mining stocks is published at the request of the brokers who supply them:—

Mr. Frank Blackley, 5, Spring-street (daily).

Block 10, 95s; Junctions, 76s; Webb's, 26s; Sunny Corners, 54s 3d; Lewis Ponds, contributing, 8s 5d. Investors' guide gratis.

MINING INTELLIGENCE.

There was a very active market yesterday for mining stocks, particularly for silver. All the Broken Hill properties were in strong demand, and prices firmed beyond late quotations. Sunny Corners experienced another advance, selling up to 55s., but they eased a little towards the close. Castle Rags and Castle Kings had an easing tendency, and a large number of transactions were recorded in both properties. Webbs also exhibited a lowering in price. Toms Lewis Ponds had a heavy increase, and finally quitted at 10s. 6d. after a very large amount of business had been done in them. Among gold scrip late figures were well maintained. Coal shares were transferred at late rates.

The following transactions were recorded yesterday by the Sydney Stock Exchange:—Morning: Burwood Coal, 22s. 5d.; West Wallsend, 9s. 9d.; Broken Hill Block 10, 96s., 94s.; Central, £7 5s., £7 4s. 6d., £7 3s. 6d., £7 3s.; new issue, £7; Junction, 76s. 6d., 76s., 76s. 3d., 75s. 9d.; New North, 43s., 43s. 6d.; South, 86s.; Castle King, 60s.; Castle Rag, £6, £5 2s. 6d.; Extended, contributing, 15s., 14s.; Eveleen, 1s. 9d., 1s. 8d.; New Lewis Ponds, contributing, 3s. 6d.; Tom's Lewis Ponds, 8s. 6d., 8s., 8s. 3d., 8s. 9d., 9s., 9s. 6d., 9s. 9d., 10s., 10s. 6d., 11s., 11s. 6d., 11s. 3d., 11s. 1d.; contributing, 7s.; Round Hill, £10, £10 5s., £10 10s., £10 1s., £10 2s. 6d., £10 3s.; Sunny Corner, 52s., 51s. 9d., 52s. 3d., 52s. 6d., 52s. 9d., 53s., 53s., 53s. 3d., 53s. 6d., 54s., 53s. 6d., 54s. 6d., 55s., 53s. 9d., 54s. 3d.; Webb's, 28s. 6d., 27s. 6d. 25s.; Consols, contributing, 7d.; Major's Creek Gold, 6s. Afternoon: British Broken Hill Silver, 77s. 6d.; Junction, 77s., 76s. 9d.; New North, 43s. 9d.; Castle Rag, £5 7s. 6d., £5 6s., £5 4s., £5 2s. 6d.; Extended, contributing, 12s.; Cordillera Hill, 1s. 11d.; New Lewis Ponds contributing, 3s. 6d.; Tom's Lewis Ponds, 10s. 3d., 10s., contributing, 6s., 5s. 9d.; Pinnacle Tribute, 15s.; Round Hill, £10 1s., £10 2s. 6d.; Sunny Corner, 53s 6d.; Webbs, 23s. 6d., 24s.; White Leads, 3s. 6d.; Castle King, 50s.; Baker's Creek North contributing, gold, 6s. 9d.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENTS.)

MELBOURNE, FRIDAY.

In gold stocks, Sloane and Scotchman were inquired for at a good improvement. Shares are scarce. North Woah Hawp sold higher. Russell's Reef sold higher, but eased to the opening prices. Silver shares had good inquiry, and higher prices were paid for Broken Hill Proprietary, Block 10, Junction, New North, Victoria Cross, Round Hill, Pinnacle Tribute, Peelwood, Cordillera, and Broken Hill underlay. South Broken and Block 5 quitted lower.

Sales: Broken Hill, £59, £59 5s.; Block 10, 93s., 95s.; Block 14, £11 2s.; Junction, 77s., 78s.; South, paid, 88s., 87s.; British, 77s. 6d., 78s. 6d.; Central, paid, £7 2s. 6d., £7 5s.; Cosgrove, 1s. 7½d.; Cordillera, 2s. 6d.; New North Broken, 42s. 9d., 43s. 6d.; Pinnacle Tribute, 16s., 18s.; Round Hill, £9 14s., £10 6s., £10; Victoria Cross, 10s. 3d., 10s. 9d.; White Lead, 3s. 1½d.; Baker's Creek, 52s.; Chesney, paid, 6s.

BALLARAT, FRIDAY.

The Star of the East Company crushed for the fortnight 1020 tons, yielding 861oz. gold.

ALBURY, FRIDAY.

A systematic attempt is being made to develope the reef at Fell Timber Creek, near Wodonga. Work was started to-day under the auspices of the Wodonga Shire Council, which has obtained a grant from the prospecting vote. Some good stone was obtained in this neighbourhood 12 years ago, but the claims were abandoned because the cost of working was too heavy.

BROKEN HILL, FRIDAY.

There is nothing particularly fresh to report on the Junction mine. The stopes at the 300ft. level continue to open up well, and a large staff of men are employed breaking down ore, both carbonate and sulphide. A number of vughs have been disclosed, and there is certainly a large quantity of ore in sight. The main shaft is 380ft. deep. Ore is being sent to Dry Creek Smelting Works. At the North Mine a commencement has been made to continue the sinking of the main shaft below the 300ft. level. In the south drive the 3 0ft. level is now extended 260ft., and a vein of partly oxidised material has been showing on the east, but the lode has again become rather harder. The winze in the west crosscut at the 200ft. level south is again being sunk, but still in intrusive rock. Forty tons of first-class carbonate ore were sent away last week. The recent excitement caused by the Round Hill boom has now died away, and things are generally flat.

DEEPWATER, FRIDAY.

Things at Castle Rag continue improving, and fresh discoveries are reported as being made almost daily. A surveyor is on the ground laying out the township. There are numerous applications for leases.

Castle King is developing first rate. Castle Rag continues to improve. Castle Rag Extended struck blue carbonate last night, giving good indications of the proximity of the lode.

There are crowds of visitors to the field, who express the highest opinion of the prospects generally.

HILL END, FRIDAY.

Vere's reefing party found over 25oz. of gold yesterday.

MANAGERS' REPORTS.

Victory Gold-mining Company, Limited, October 11 (by telegraph).—"Cleaned up roughly yesterday; result, 660oz. 17dwt. 12gr. gold; estimated crushing, 200 tons."

Broken Hill South Block 5 Mine, October 5.—No. 1 shaft has been sunk 6ft., the ground continuing as usual. No. 2 Shaft: Here the men are engaged timbering, and there is no change since previous report. The engine erection is nearing completion. The wheels for the popper-heads have arrived at the mine.

Lily Silver-mining Company.—Shaft sunk a further depth of 5ft. for week; formation same lode improving; ore at surface despatched to Adelaide.

New Terrible Dick Silver-mining Company, October 3.—The machinery has been thoroughly overhauled. October 11 by wire: Started pumping the mine out, and the machinery is working satisfactorily.

United Bluey Reef Syndicate, Stewartsbrook.—The manager writing, under date 5th October, reports that during past week the north tunnel in Stranger claim has been extended 14ft.; total distance, 165ft. The reef in face averaging 2ft. in width, and showing gold in every breaking down. Battery: Have copperplate table placed in position.

Bonang Gold-mining Company, October 5.—Have extended eastern and western faces of crosscourse level 16ft. for the week. Saw fair gold in western end this week. Lode taken about 5ft. wide. Northern stopes in poorer stone. At No. 2 level the lode averages about 2ft. of medium quality. Drove No. 1 level south 9ft. for the week. No change to report in this face. Sunk new shaft 25ft.; are preparing, and nearly finished, brace; passed through a stratum of large basaltic boulders, many of very large size, 12ft. in thickness. Have sunk winze at No. 3 level 6ft. for week; water rather heavy. This winze is now down 42ft., lode about 4ft. 6in. wide, showing splendid gold. Have raised 158 tons stone, sent 150 tons to battery, 58 tons to heap. Obtained for week 200oz. amalgam from plates, and 215oz. amalgam from inside of one mill when putting new ring in. Total amalgam for week, 415oz. Total amalgam on hand, 527oz. Sawmill working, and new battery progressing.

Broken Hill South Silver mine, October 5.—No. 1 shaft, 200ft. level: Here 12ft. have been driven north, the drive being in ironstone and manganese, carrying traces of lead, but not in payable quantities. The winze connecting with the 270ft. level has been cut down 26ft., of which 15ft. have also been timbered. No. 1 trial shaft, 170ft. level: Here the south drive has been driven 5ft., the lode being hard and mineralised, but not payable. At the 230ft. level south 4ft. have been driven, completing the 100ft. contract. Here the lode is heavily charged with galena, bearing from 4oz. to 5oz. of silver to the ton. The north end has been driven 18ft., the ground being good for driving, containing iron and traces of carbonates. In consequence of the ground being soft, it will require timbering. In No. 3 winze a little fairly good ore is being stoped, and when about 20 tons are dressed it will be sent to Dry Creek works. Block No. 6, No. 3 shaft: The crosscut has been driven east 1ft. 6in., being in hard galena of a class that will some day come in for concentrating. All other work proceeding as usual.

Cullen Bullen Coal and Coke Company, Limited, October 5.—Deliveries amounted to 1030 tons.

Eveleen Silver-mining Company, Limited, October 10 (by wire).—Twenty-eight tons of ore raised from main lode, and 18 tons from No. 1 east lode. Total yield for week, 46 tons.

Mother Shipton Gold mining Company, Limited, Temora.—Have sunk underlay shaft 4ft. Reef is from 6 to 8 in. thick. Have broken down 2 tons in shaft and 8 tons in stopes. Are now on new mass of stone, 8 to 14 in. thick in footwall, and carrying gold well.

The Corang Sluicing Company, Limited, October 7.—Made fair progress with work, the wash being at present about 8ft. Prospects in the face are fully as good as any taken since commencement of operations, and from present appearances expect still better further back. Have a good supply of water, race and flumes being in good order.

The Royal Standard Gold-mining Company, No Liability, October 5.—No. 4 drive has been continued to a total of 107½ft., and we have broken through to the old workings on top of the winze north of No. 1 drive. No. 1 shaft is 12ft. deep, and logged up and windlass erected. No. 3 drive has been driven 42ft. in the last four weeks, making a total of 147ft.

The Ethel May Gold-mining Company, No Liability, October 5.—All hands have been engaged getting down quartz to the road by means of a temporary wire tramway, and it is now being carted to the battery.

The Mount Sheba Gold-sluicing Company, Limited, October 7.—Everything at the mine going on satisfactorily. Sluicing operations carried on five days last week. Heavy rains set in on Saturday night and it rained all day on Sunday. Good gold prospects can be obtained at almost any part of the face.

New England Gold-mining Company, Limited, September 28.—No. 3 south level: This has been extended a further distance of 12ft.; shall be into winze in another 14ft. Stope looking very well, and lode continues very regular. No. 2 south level: Have now a good lode 2ft. to 3ft. wide. The shoot is quite 80ft. in length. No. 3 north level: Have discontinued stoping here as are now at the end of the shoot. By wire, 7th instant:—Obtained 16oz. free gold, and 28 tons pyrites assaying 3oz. gold per ton. Total gold obtained for week, 100oz.

LECTURES.

PROFITABLE USES FOR SURPLUS FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

A lecture on the above subject was delivered last night, in the Temperance Hall, by Mr. Courtney Smith, under the auspices of the Board of Technical Education. There was a fair attendance, the chair being occupied by Mr. A. Hutchison, M.L.A. for Canterbury. Before proceeding with the lecture, Mr. Smith stated he had received a letter from Lord Carrington expressing his regret at not being able to attend. The lecturer said there was every reason why a knowledge of what to do with surplus fruit was important, as it prevented the enormous waste which is always present in the fruit industry in several parts of the world. In New South Wales there is a decided lack of enterprise and energy in the matter of fruit preservation, and he hoped it would not last long. He then quoted some figures showing the Customs duties with regard to fruit in this colony being about 60 per cent. in our favour. The preservation of fruits and vegetables by artificial evaporation was a most important industry, and although it has been taken up in the other colonies, it had not yet been tried here. For a long time past the process has been by sun-drying, but a better and more effectual way has been found out. To properly dry fruit in the sun, a very dry climate is necessary; and this is not to be obtained in Australia. The artificial drying of fruit and vegetables was found by the French, whose army was supplied with such food in the Crimean War; but to the Americans belongs the credit of the introduction of the scientific pneumatic drying of fruit and vegetables, the process being entirely different from the canning or bottling system. The artificial evaporating systems in use are various. Some are used in large factories, others for domestic purposes, and others for transportation from place to place. The principle is to drive the moisture off the fruit with as little labour as possible, and to leave it in a fit condition for food. The evaporators in use are the vertical, the horizontal, and the inclined flue. Steam should not be used, as it cooks and soddens the fruit, and makes it unfit for use. The lecturer then described the various machines used in which the fruit was put in at the point of the greatest heat and taken out at that of the least. They were the Alden, the Climax, the American, the Vermont farm pneumatic evaporator, and the Stutsman. Diagrams were shown of the first three, while there was a small Stutsman machine on the platform, the various parts of which were described by Mr. Smith. Apples are the principal evaporated fruits, but they do not yield as good a profit as the more delicate fruits, yet where they are very plentiful evaporators are very profitable. In the work American slicers and peelers are used for cutting and peeling the fruit. He thought that the fig and tomato industries would prove profitable if commenced, as also would the orange and lemon peel industry. In the latter industry we had to import great numbers of oranges and lemons for preserving, from the Mediterranean, which he thought should not be. By the American Evaporator, good but slightly damaged corn and wheat may be successfully dried for about 6d. per bushel. The lecturer then gave the points of fruit-drying, which were the maturing of the fruit on the tree, grading as to size, evaporating thoroughly but not too much. Fruit that is bruised will turn black when dried, and fine dried fruit cannot be made from small, green fruit. In bleaching sulphur should not be burned with the fruit. In getting fruit ready for the market good boxes should be got and fancy paper used to set the fruit off. The duty of 2d. per lb. on fruit gives us about ⅛d. per lb. profit. The lecturer then gave the profits which are to be made from drying the various fruits, and the cost of doing the work required. It was an opportunity to young men in this colony now in this branch of trade, and the lecturer trusted that very soon the industry would be spread all over the colony. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Mr. Smith at the close.

CASUALTIES.

A PECULIAR FATALITY.

Shortly after 8 o'clock yesterday morning a boy named John August M'Donnell, aged 15 years, died at the residence of his father, Mr. J. T. M'Donnell, of H. M. Customs, Johnston-street, Balmain. According to the boy's depositions, made before Mr. E. N. Burns, J.P., C.P.S., Balmain, yesterday, he was on a mud-punt in Kerosene Bay on Tuesday, when he was pushed, and fell over the side into the mud. He was picked up and placed on a launch and taken to his home, where he was attended by Drs. Carruthers, Kelly, and Lyden, but succumbed to his injuries yesterday. The deceased was in the employ of Messrs. Perdriau and West, engineers, of Balmain. An inquest will be held to-day.

A WONDERFUL REMEDY.

MARSHALL'S "TONIC NERVINE"

is now universally acknowledged to be a wonderful Remedy for Nervous and General Debility, Nervous Prostration, Torpidity of the Liver, Indigestion, Palpitation of the Heart, Nervous Headache, Diabetes, Lassitude, Impaired Nutrition, Neuralgia, Hypochondria, Loss of Energy, and Appetite, Female Complaints, Dizziness, Noises in the Head and Ears, Loss of Vital Power, Alcoholic Craving, Premature Decline, Impoverished Blood, Impaired Sight and Memory, Consumption in its early stages, Effects of Youthful Indiscretions, Mania, and all diseased conditions of the system proceeding from Deficiency of Nerve Force. A few doses speedily afford relief, whilst a course effects a permanent cure. Innumerable instances emphatically testify to the truth of this statement. Thousands of testimonials invite the afflicted to test it for themselves.

EACH DROP IS WORTH A DROP OF GOLD.

There is no remedy like Marshall's Tonic Nervine for Female Complaints. Every female should have a bottle ready at hand, because for irregularities, &c., it surpasses all others. As the nervous system is the main spring of human vigour and healthful regularity so where this complicated organism is deranged Marshall's Tonic Nervine acts with a precision and curative effect like the day spring dispersing the shades of night. The whole organic system which depends upon the nerves for its streams of electric force is recuperated and renewed with this Great Vitaliser. The muscles rebound with the energy of youth, appetite and healthful condition follow. The skin becomes bright and clear, and the winter of disease is made summer by the glorious sun of health. Thousands of restored patients everywhere gladly support the forcible truth of these assertions, and one trial will render certainty doubly sure.

MARSHALL'S TONIC NERVINE

is sold by all Chemists and Storekeepers, and is Prepared only by

MARSHALL BROTHERS,

MÖLLER'S COD LIVER OIL.
For thirty years the Public have shown their just appreciation by an ever increasing demand.

MÖLLER'S COD LIVER OIL.
R. B. ANDERSEN, Esq., U. S. Consul General, reports—"I consulted Mr. F. P. Möller, whose father, Peter Möller, was the first to produce Steam Refined Cod Liver Oil, about thirty years ago."

MÖLLER'S COD LIVER OIL.
The CONSUL GENERAL in his "Report," pp. 79 and 81, January, 1888, to the U. S. Government, says—"I took pains to ascertain the process by which it is prepared, and for this purpose I visited the celebrated factory at Stamsund, established by Peter Möller."
"His own success he claimed was chiefly due to a careful selection of the livers, and scrupulous cleanliness at every stage and point of treatment."

MÖLLER'S COD LIVER OIL.
Another visitor was M. PAUL DU CHAILLU, the distinguished traveller. He writes in The Land of the Midnight Sun," I was surprised to see the number of diseased and lean livers; the men were very particular in selecting the choicest kinds. I noticed that extreme care was taken in all stages of the preparation of the oil."

MÖLLER'S COD LIVER OIL.
Drs. HARDWICKE, ABBOTTS, BARTLETT, TRIPE, SAYRE, MARION SIMS, MURDOCK, EYSTER, DRYSDALE, and others too numerous to mention, have given their highest testimony in its favour.

MÖLLER'S COD LIVER OIL.
Mothers have found its value. One of them—a perfect stranger—wrote the other day from Manchester:—"Mrs. F. has used Mr. F. M.'s oil for her children for several years, and finds it the best she can procure and more palatable than most oils."

MÖLLER'S COD LIVER OIL
At Eighteen Exhibitions has been awarded a SCORE of PRIZES.

MÖLLER'S COD LIVER OIL

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated publicly in court that Dr. J. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne, that the whole story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, and he regretted to say it had been sworn to.—Times, July 13, 1864.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.—The Right Hon. Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians and J. T. Davenport that he had received information to the effect that the only remedy of any service in cholera was Chlorodyne.—See Lancet, December 31, 1864.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne "is prescribed by scores of orthodox practitioners. Of course it would not be thus singularly popular did it not 'supply a want and fill a place.'"—Medical Times, January 13, 1886.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is the best and most certain remedy in coughs, colds, asthma, consumption, neuralgia, rheumatism, &c.

KILL THE INSECTS AND THEIR EGGS with Clayton and Co.'s Great American Insect Exterminator. It paralyses the first touch and then kills. If blown into their haunts (crevices), or where their eggs are laid, death is instantaneous for Beetles, Ants, Silver Fish, or any other insect. It is perfectly harmless to birds or animals, and may be placed under the wing of a pet canary, and rubbed on dogs, cats, or monkeys, killing the parasites that infest them. If burnt in a room or in a camp, it kills flies and mosquitoes. If placed on window-sills you can see the large "blow fly," as well as the common fly, give up the ghost. If placed under the edges of carpets, silver fish and all other insect vermin die. It is used in the mattresses and bedsteads of all the hotels and steamboats of the United States and this colony. Sold everywhere in tins, 1s and 1s 3d, and in large boxes 1s 6d. In large cannons to blow into crevices, 1s 6d each. Wholesale and retail, WASHINGTON H. SOUL and CO., 158, 160, 162, and 268, Pitt-street. Can be sent by steamboat or railway if not to be obtained at your druggist or storekeeper.

Auction Sales.

MIDDLE HARBOUR.

To Syndicates, Speculators, Public Caterers, &c.

FOR POSITIVE SALE in consequence of the owners retiring from business.

That well-known MARINE RECREATION ESTATE, CLONTARF, situated on the waters of MIDDLE HARBOUR, and extending to a Road on the heights, leading to MANLY BEACH PIER, from which it is distant about 2 MILES.

The Land contains an area of 60 ACRES by grant, but by late survey is found to contain nearly 70 ACRES within its boundaries. It has immense WATER FRONTAGE, ABOUT THREE-QUARTERS of a MILE at high-water mark, and is nearly equally divided into level lawn-like land fronting the WATERS OF MIDDLE HARBOUR, the other portion rising into high land, admirably adapted for VILLA SITES, to command charming extensive views.

The Road to Manly is well made to the north-east corner of the estate, and access from the water side to the highest point is easily reached by a well-worn track.

The Improvements are of an extensive character, and consist of

The CLONTARF HOTEL, built of weatherboards on stone blocks, shingle and iron roof, containing 2 bars, 4 rooms, 4 attic rooms, detached dining-room, servants' room, and kitchen.

NEW DANCING PAVILION, 130 x 40, built of W. B., on stone blocks, iron roof. The floor is an excellent one, and building in good order.

NEW LUNCHEON PAVILION, 50 x 20, with well-arranged kitchen, and fruit shop attached.

COTTAGE, of weatherboards, containing 4 rooms.

TWO WELL-BUILT JETTIES to deep water.

Also Old Dancing and Luncheon Pavilions and Other Conveniences.

We may mention that the owners have already booked engagements far into the season, and the amounts received annually from picnic parties using the grounds form a large source of income.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH, Limited, have received instructions from Messrs. W. and T. MOORE, the owners, to sell by PUBLIC AUCTION, at their ROOMS, PITT-STREET, on FRIDAY, 18th October, at 11 o'clock.

The above waterside property is so well known that description is almost unnecessary. (412)

PADDINGTON and WOOLLAHRA FREEHOLDS.

FOR POSITIVE SALE.

LOT 1. PADDINGTON.—Well-finished brick HOUSE, No. 138, HARGRAVES-STREET, Underwood Estate. It is of brick, slate roof, verandah and balcony front and rear, and contains hall, 5 rooms, kitchen with 2 stoves and sink, bathroom, pantries, and washshed. The land has 15ft. 2½in. frontage, with a depth of 105ft., extending to lane.

A handy dwelling to tram and omnibusses. It commands harbour view. Garden plot.

LOT 2. WOOLLAHRA.—Freehold. Block Nos. 101 and 102, Sec. E., Grafton Estate, having 49½ft. to Grafton-st., depth 115ft. along a lane, with lane at rear. It is fenced, and has stables, shed, &c., thereon.

One of the best sites in this popular locality. It is at the rear of new Wesleyan Church.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH, Limited, will sell by auction, at the Rooms, on FRIDAY, 18th October, at 11 o'clock,

The above suburban freeholds. (477)

CITY FREEHOLD PROPERTIES.

LOT 1. ANN-STREET, SURRY HILLS.—Small HOUSE, No. 52, of brick, cemented and painted front, on stone foundation, and containing 2 rooms and kitchen; rent 12s per week; land 15ft. x 48ft.

A capital home for a working man, being handy to railway-station, trams, steamers' wharfs, &c.

LOT 2. WOOLLOOMOOLOO.—Shop and Dwelling, No. 112, Riley-street, nearly opposite Francis-street. It is of brick on stone foundation, and containing shop, 4 rooms, kitchen, and cellar; shed in yard suitable for stabling; rent 30s per week.

A central position, surrounded by a large population.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH, Limited, will sell by auction, at the Rooms, on FRIDAY, 18th October, at 11 o'clock,

The above city freeholds. (478)

DESIRABLE RESIDENCE. SUMMER HILL.

An elevated, retired, pleasant situation, fronting the ESPLANADE, on VICTORIA-SQUARE and NAPIER-STREET, near Prospect-road, and in the neighbourhood of the high-class properties of Messrs. Cadsold, Seaward, Richardson, and others.

"ARUNDEL" was the comfortable home of the late Sir ALEXANDER STUART, and is substantially built of brick (cemented), on stone foundations, slate roof. It has verandahs and balconies front and rear, and contains hall, double drawing-room, dining-room, seven bedrooms (in all), three pantries, kitchen, servants' dining-room, laundry, man's room, fuel bins. Detached are stabling premises of wood, comprising carriage-room, buggy-room, 2 stalls, with loft over.

The land is a corner block, in area 2 ROODS 20 PERCHES, situated as above, and the grounds are very attractively laid out into walks, garden plots, shrubbery, tennis-lawn, &c.

The instructions from the Trustees of the Will of the late Sir A. Stuart are to sell, and the Auctioneers invite inspection of Arundel, as occupying a very good site in a favourite railway suburb (about equi-distant from either Summer Hill or Ashfield stations), and possessing fairly large accommodation. The fittings in main rooms are superior.

TORRENS' TITLE. TERMS LIBERAL.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH, Limited, will sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, 18th OCTOBER, at 11 o'clock,

The above residence, near Ashfield. (468)

ABSOLUTE SALE.
BY ORDER OF THE MORTGAGEE.

PETERSHAM, on the north of the line and close to station.

OSBORNE HOUSE, RAILWAY and BRIGHTON STREETS, those substantial and commodious corner PREMISES, originally intended for an HOTEL, built of brick (cemented) on stone foundation, with balconies, and containing 16 apartments with cellar in basement, detached stabling.

The Land has 100ft. frontage to Railway-street, and 65ft. to Brighton-street, depth on other line 107ft., width at rear 65½ft.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH, Limited, have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the ROOMS, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, 18th OCTOBER, at 11 o'clock,

The above faithfully built and well-finished corner premises in a valuable business position in Petersham.

TORRENS' TITLE.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH, Limited, have received instructions from the Mortgagee to sell by auction, on FRIDAY, 18th October, at 11 o'clock,

The above Glebe freehold, of which fuller particulars will appear. (499)

LOT 1.—GRAND CITY INVESTMENT.

By order of the Trustees in the Estate of late Captain FRANCIS.

KING and CASTLEREAGH STREETS, projected
RAILWAY TERMINAL STATION, near to
HEAD of KING-STREET, where already is the great output from and gathering to the VARIOUS TRAM SERVICES.

The LAW COURTS are close by.

An active ROUTE to PARLIAMENT, DOMAIN, COWPER WHARF, WOOLLOOMOOLOO, and HYDE PARK, passes this good corner.

HODGE'S COMMERCIAL HOTEL, and three small Shops adjoining in King-street.

Only under circumstances of decease of owner is the opportunity offered to acquire a CORNER LOCATED LIKE THIS, a veritable key position, with present large value and untold possibilities in a few years hence.

Comment upon this property would be deemed superfluous; the auctioneers therefore rely upon a simple consideration by buyers to ensure for it attention at their hands; thus the market value will be reached, for under the trusts of the will it has to be disposed of.

The LAND has 76½ft. frontage to KING-STREET, 49½ft. to CASTLEREAGH-STREET, wider line at the rear.

THE HOTEL has good accommodation.

This is one of the best and busiest corners in the city of Sydney and recommended to the notice of CAPITALISTS, SPECULATORS, HOTELKEEPERS and OTHERS.

LOT 2.—FOLKSTONE.
LAVENDER BAY, NORTH SHORE,
A GEM SPOT.

EXCEPTIONALLY CHOICE RESIDENCE, QUITE SUBURBAN, and as convenient as a city house,

Of SUPERIOR build and highly finished, under plans and supervision of Mr. Albert Bond, architect, who has produced a most faithfully-erected and well-arranged home property, deservedly the pride of its late owner, and a satisfaction to visitors to the place.

FOLKSTONE

is on a commanding height, set back from the road, the boundary there being enclosed with a good stone wall with iron railing; neat gates introduce to the walk (amidst grassed terraces, shrubbery, lawn, and carpet beds) leading to the house, which is reached by a handsome flight of return stone steps and tiled verandah. The accommodation is:—

On GROUND FLOOR—Wide halls, drawing, dining, breakfast, and library rooms, two pantries, patent w. c., kitchen, and scullery.

On FIRST FLOOR—Hall, unique balcony, five rooms, dressing-room, bathroom, linen-room, photographic operating-room, and attached room.

The partial basement in rock is used as a wine cellar, and two other divisions could serve as excellent storeroom and dairy.

At rear are four rooms, two attics, also laundry, bushhouse, fowlhouses.

The stabling is good, comprising two loose-boxes, man's room, two stalls, carriage-room.

The whole place, from first to last, is a joy; everything is the best; polished cedar internally is a picture; the marble mantels, fenders, and hearths are uncommon in quality and size, and the finish of the complete property so remarkably attractive that there appears no room to take exception at any point.

The VIEW, simply told, is a PANORAMA, embracing a large part of the harbour, city, and suburbs in various directions.

Ever-changing scenery, both by day and night, is presented to the eye of the viewer from FOLKSTONE, rendering it a captivating HIGH-CLASS RESIDENCE, a couple of minutes only from the Lavender Bay steam ferry, or one of the stopping places of the tram.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH, Limited, have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the ROOMS, PITT-STREET, Sydney, on FRIDAY, 18th OCTOBER,

The above-described valuable properties.

INSPECTION specially desired by cards, now obtainable at the Rooms.

Messrs. LAURENCE and RICH, Castlereagh-street, are Solicitors to the Estate. (307)

In the ESTATE Late Mr. J. A. PENSON.

RILEY-STREET, SURRY HILLS, opposite the Reservoir, and near Oxford-street.

RESIDENCE, No. 249, RILEY-STREET, between Campbell and Gipps streets, with brick WORKSHOP of TWO FLOORS fronting LANE at rear.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH, Limited, will sell by auction, at the Rooms, on FRIDAY, 18th October, at 11 o'clock,

That Allotment having 20ft. frontage to west side of RILEY-STREET, with a depth of 100ft., extending to Little Riley-street. On it is erected No. 249, Riley-street, a weatherboard DWELLING, verandah in front, and containing 3 rooms, 2 attic rooms, brick kitchen and bedroom, detached Brick WORKSHOP of 2 large floors.

, A capital property for a builder, or anyone requiring a residence with a large workshop.

and 37 acres of land, more or less, occupying unquestionably one of the very best sites around the city.

It must be seen to be fully realised.

The property has had but a few owners over a term of years, and was long known as the residence of the late Hon. Wm. Forster, M.L.A., more recently and lately that of John Bennett, Esq.

The house is substantial, built of stone, is of large accommodation, and most comfortable as a residence. The ornamental trees are striking in their height, &c., years maturing their growth. The orchard of picked varieties of fruits holds a first place in estimation, and could be made a source of profit in the working of same.

PRELIMINARY NOTICE.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH, Limited, will sell by public auction, instructed by the Mortgagees, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, 25th October, at 11 o'clock.

CITY FREEHOLDS.

FOR IMPERATIVE SALE.

By Order of the Trustees of the Will of the Late Hon. HENRY MOORE, M.L.C., to close the TRUST ACCOUNT.

The following Valuable Property, in Two Lots, viz.—

MOORE'S WHARF and STORES, MILLER'S POINT.

STORES and LAND fronting CRESCENT-ROAD, MILLER'S POINT.

Titles unquestionable. Reference may be made to Messrs. HOLDWORTH and EVANS, of Pitt-street, Solicitors to the Estate.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH, Limited, have received instructions from the Trustees of the Estate abovementioned to sell by public auction, at their Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, 15th NOVEMBER, at 11 o'clock,

The above important freehold properties, of which the following are bare outlines of their particulars:—

LOT 1.—MOORE'S WHARF, MILLER'S POINT.

This well-known extensive waterside property is approached by a wide road of easy gradient known as Moore's-road from ARGYLE-STREET, MILLER'S POINT, and contains an area of land within its boundaries of about 1 acre 1 rood 15 perches, as well as an additional area 2 roods 30 perches by wharf frontage and jetties, making the total area of the property 2 acres 0 perches 5 roods, or 88,483 square feet.

The water frontage may be classed as undermentioned, viz.:—

Substantial wharf platform 180ft. long.

Two Jetties of the following dimensions, viz.:—

No. 1 has berth accommodation of 352ft. 6in. long on its eastern side, and 182ft. on its western side.

No. 2 has 183ft. 6in. long on its eastern side, and 156ft. on its western side.

These frontages give berth room for three large vessels to be loaded or discharged at the same time, while there is also ample space for lighters or smaller vessels, to lie alongside them.

The jetties are of the most substantial description, their width varying from 40 to 25 feet. They are comparatively new, having been erected only a few years. Forming the south boundary of the property is a range of FOUR STRONGLY-BUILT STONE STORES of three floors each, having an estimated carrying capacity of 5500 tons. The stores can be worked either together or singly from the front, and also from Crescent-road running at the back of them. They are divided one from the other by fire-proof doors, this giving an advantage for insurance rates.

Adjoining this range of stores are the offices containing two apartments, while on the eastern side of the property is another range of stores and wooden sheds.

On the wharf there is a long range of wooden buildings, containing manager and storekeeper's residence, sheds for merchandise, &c., the rest of the property is open space.

As a whole property it is compact and easy to work, its access is unsurpassed by any of the neighbouring wharfs, or by any others lining Darling Harbour, and its access and get away for shipping is all that can be desired.

The depth of water alongside is equal to floating the largest merchant steamer trading to Port Jackson.

This property, so far as wharfage rates are concerned, is in agreement with the Wharf Association, which may be retained or discontinued at the option of the purchaser at the sale. Full particulars concerning this agreement may be obtained from the Auctioneers.

LOT 2.—BLOCK of LAND, fronting CRESCENT-ROAD, immediately at the back of MOORE'S WHARF and STORES. It has a frontage of about 235ft., by a depth of about 35ft. On it are some old-fashioned two-story stone stores, &c. The rest of the land, about 116ft. frontage, is vacant.

PLANS on view at the Rooms.

TERMS:—One-third cash, balance may remain secured upon the property for a term of 3 years at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum, interest payable quarterly. (411)

FOR SALE BY AUCTION
at the
ROYAL HOTEL, BATHURST.

BUNNAMAGOO ESTATE, District of Bathurst.

HILL, CLARK and CO. (in conjunction with F. Oakes and Co.) have received instructions from the proprietors to offer for SALE on MONDAY, 18th NOVEMBER, 1889, at the ROYAL HOTEL, BATHURST, at 3 o'clock,

THE ABOVE MAGNIFICENT PROPERTY, which is without exception, equal to any in the Bathurst district.

BUNNAMAGOO is situated on the Campbells River, about 25 miles from Bathurst. It is watered by that river, the Gilmandyke Creek, Judd's Creek, and other creeks, all of which run through the whole of the estate.

THE PROPERTY consists of 5617 acres of freehold land and 653 acres of conditionally purchased land, and is divided into sheep proof paddocks of suitable area, all permanently watered.

THE IMPROVEMENTS consist of a first-class homestead, outhouses, stables and overseer's cottage, a woolshed, almost new, capable of accommodating 12 shearers, shearers' huts, and drafting yards, &c. There are also large sheds (with water laid on) for feeding shed stock, storing hay, &c.

A LARGE PROPORTION OF THE ESTATE is suitable for farming purposes. There is also a large and valuable plant of farming implements, &c.

THE ESTATE is highly improved, and is in first-class working order.

THE STOCK are all highly bred and can be either taken or not, as the purchaser desires.

THE PLANT AND STORES to be taken at a valuation.

For further particulars apply to HILL, CLARK and CO., Sydney, or F. OAKES and CO., Bathurst.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 17.

HARTWOOD ESTATE, near Deniliquin.

DALGETY and COMPANY, Limited (in conjunction with Ettershank, Eaglestone, and Mann), have received instructions from the Executors of the late Richard Blackwood to SELL by PUBLIC AUCTION, at their Rooms, Bourke-street West, Melbourne, on THURSDAY, 17th October, 1889,

The well-known freehold Estate known as HARTWOOD, situated about 35 miles from Deniliquin, and 22 miles from Jerilderie, and comprising an area of about 105,000 ACRES FREEHOLD LAND and 16,000 ACRES CROWN LANDS.

The property consists of rich grazing and agricultural land, and is securely and substantially fenced and subdivided into paddocks, with every convenience for working the estate economically and to the best advantage.

The stock consists of—
80,000 sheep
67 horses, and
51 cattle.

The sheep were for many years under the personal supervision of the late Mr. Richard Blackwood, and under his judicious management attained a high standard for frame and value of fleece. The clip has always realised full prices in the London market, and the fat sheep have invariably sold at top quotations in Melbourne, while rams from the stud flock and cast ewes have annually been purchased by known good judges.

The horses are of a most useful description, and include a blood stallion.

The cattle, a milking herd only, are well bred.

HARTWOOD is perfectly sound SHEEP COUNTRY, very fattening, and a large proportion is RICH AGRICULTURAL SOIL, suitable for the growing of wheat or other crops.

The estate is ABUNDANTLY WATERED in all seasons by the Yanko and Billabong Creeks, and by numerous tanks and dams.

The other improvements are very complete, and include commodious homestead, woolshed for 36 shearers, and all necessary huts, drafting yards at various places on the run, boundary riders' huts, &c.

Having been carefully and judiciously managed, and every attention having been paid to the breeding of the sheep, the RETURNS FROM THIS PROPERTY HAVE ALWAYS BEEN LARGE, and an opportunity is now afforded to capitalists of acquiring a fine property in FULL WORKING ORDER, and producing IMMEDIATE AND LARGE RETURNS.

INVESTORS are CONFIDENTLY RECOMMENDED TO INSPECT.

For further particulars and orders to inspect, Apply to DALGETY and COMPANY, Limited; or, ETTERSHANK, EAGLESTONE, and MANN, Melbourne.

PRELIMINARY NOTICE.

VALUABLE CATTLE STATION in NORTHERN QUEENSLAND, with 10,000 MIXED CATTLE.

PITT, SON, and BADGERY, Limited, have received instructions from Messrs. THOMAS HUNGERFORD and SONS to sell by auction, at the Exchange, Sydney, in OCTOBER NEXT, 1000 miles of their well-known Dunbar station, with 10,000 head of well-bred shorthorn mixed cattle, situated on the Mitchell River, county of Cork, Northern Queensland.

The Mitchell River country is well and permanently watered, and admirably suited for cattle. The proximity of this station to the Croydon; Table Top, Etheridge, and Charters Towers Goldfields is of great advantage, the fat cattle being always saleable at good prices. The prospective value of this run is assured, for Northern Queensland gives unmistakable promise of being the great gold-producing country of Australia, and there can be no question of the ultimate worth of stations so well situated as Dunbar.

The rainfall is so reliable that the proprietors estimate the run will carry, one year with another, from 25,000 to 30,000 head of cattle.

FIRST-CLASS AGRICULTURAL AND GRAZING PROPERTIES.

9,577 acres C. P. Land, more or less
5,910 acres C. L. Land, more or less
40,008 acres Crown Land, leasehold area, more or less together with about 20,817 Sheep
251 Cattle
37 Horses.

GRIFFITHS and WEAVER have received instructions from the Mortgagee to sell the above valuable Properties by auction, at the Exchange, Sydney, on THURSDAY, 21st NOVEMBER, 1889, at half-past 2 o'clock.

The whole is substantially fenced, and subdivided into 21 sheep and cattle paddocks, and over 27,000 acres have been ringbarked.

At Bogo Bogolong (the head station) the improvements consist of dwelling-house, kitchen, store, men's hut, blacksmith's shop, stables, buggy house, machinery-room, milking and stock yards, two underground tanks, hayshed, horse paddocks, and 80 acres cleared and under crop.

At Wheogo, dwelling-house, kitchen, store, men's hut, stable, hayshed, woolshed for 20 shearers, huts, sweating shed, yards, overseer's cottage, tank, horse yard, &c., &c.

The runs are thoroughly well watered by the Barbingal Creek, which contains large waterholes almost never failing; also by two wells, 30 tanks and dams, and 4 never failing springs; nearly all of these are conveniently situated on purchased land.

The average rainfall for the years 1886-88 was excellent, viz., 26¼ inches.

For further particulars apply to GRIFFITHS and WEAVER, Norwich-chambers, Hunter-street, Sydney.

MAGNIFICENT FATTENING STATION.

TAREELARI.

Close to Moree, Liverpool Plains District, adjoining the well-known Bogamildi and Mungi Bundi Stations,

Containing about
3582 acres Freehold Land
7215 ditto C. P. Ditto
36,000 ditto Crown Ditto.
Together with about
15,146 SHEEP
75 HORSES
30 CATTLE.

GRIFFITHS and WEAVER have received instructions from the Mortgagee to sell the above magnificent Station by auction, at the Exchange, Sydney, on THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1889, at half-past 2 o'clock.

The land on Tareelari is all first-class quality, and the whole of the timbered country (nearly 16,000 acres) has been rung. The run is well improved, fenced, and subdivided into 16 paddocks. There is a good Dwelling-house situated on the Gwydir River, with good fruit and vegetable garden, with all necessary outbuildings attached, also new woolshed for 16 shearers, huts, cattle and sheep yards, &c., &c.

It is certainly about the best-watered run in the district, as it has a frontage to the Gwydir for the entire length of the southern portion, to the Wallon Creek on the north, and the Marshall's Ponds Creek through the centre, besides several tanks and wells, making a scarcity of water impossible in any season, besides which good water can be struck anywhere on the run at reasonable depths.

For further particulars, &c., apply to GRIFFITHS and WEAVER, Norwich-chambers, Hunter-street, Sydney.

The Overmantels for the Drawing-room are extremely chaste in design and of superior finish in beautifully carved frames, with hand-painted cove and balustrade tops, side shelves, bevelled plates, &c., &c.

There is also a very choice collection of ETAGERES, of Chippendale design, in American Walnut, with bevelled plates, &c., with a handsome assortment of BEVELLED WALL MIRRORS, in plush frames, fitted with Fairy Lamps and Flowerholders.

THE DINING-ROOM SUITES

are manufactured of handsomely carved frames of solid well-seasoned woods in American WALNUT and English OAK, covered with the best Leather and upholstered with HORSEHAIR.

Prominent among these stand MAGNIFICENT BARONIAL DINING-ROOM SUITES in SOLID WALNUT, and ENGLISH OAK, consisting of TWELVE CHAIRS, COUCH, and TWO CARVING CHAIRS, splendidly upholstered, with MASSIVE SIDEBOARDS, EXTENDING DINING TABLES, DINNER WAGGONS, and OVERMANTELS to MATCH.

The Sideboards are richly carved with Tall, Bevelled Mirrored Backs, Side Shelves, and Columns, Shaped Fronts, with Enclosed Cupboards, Carved Panelled Doors, 7, 6, and 5 feet in length; and there are also EN SUITE EXTENSION DINING-TABLES, with spare leaves, patent screws, 10ft. by 4ft. 6in., and 8ft. by 4ft.; THREE-TIER DINNER WAGGONS, with Mirrored Backs and Drawers, and MAGNIFICENT OVERMANTELS, specially carved to match.

The SPLENDID SECRETAIRE BOOKCASES will amply repay the purchaser for his outlay, as they are manufactured from solid AMERICAN WALNUT and ENGLISH OAK, and have plateglass doors, enclosed cupboards, recessed centres, &c., &c.

HORSESHOE SHAPED HAT and COAT BRACKETS, with Bevelled Mirrored Backs; also ORNAMENTAL WALL BRACKETS, BOOKSHELVES, &c.

THE BEDROOM SUITES

embrace all sizes required either in the MANSION or the COTTAGE, and attention is particularly invited to the superior workmanship and skill displayed in their manufacture and finish

They are manufactured from the choicest selection of HUNGARIAN ASH and AMERICAN WALNUT, and include ELEGANT WARDROBES, with splendidly Carved Panels, Bevelled Mirrored Doors, fitted with Trays, Drawers, and Hangers.

PAIRS OF PEDESTAL TOILETS, with Marble Tops and Tiled-back Washstands, Bevelled Swing Mirrors, with Drawers, Recesses, Jewel-boxes, &c., &c.

CARVED PEDESTAL CUPBOARDS, CANE-SEATED CHAIRS in Carved Frames, and Towel Rails, with Carved and Twist Pillars.

The OTHER BEDROOM FURNITURE is of splendid execution, and embraces MAGNIFICENT PAIRS of TOILETS in BIRCH, ASH, WALNUT, and MAHOGANY, in various shapes, viz., ELLIPTIC, HALF CIRCULAR, SQUARE, EARLY ENGLISH, CHEVAL, DUCHESSE, PEDESTAL, &c., &c.; COMMODES, Fluted Panel and O G, in assorted woods; PATENT ADJUSTABLE SHAVING STAND, with Bevelled Glasses; CRETONNE BEDROOM CHAIRS, MEDICINE CUPBOARDS, &c., &c.
